Income Betterment Hit by Prices, Taxes

Washington, July 17 (AP)—The average American family made more in 1951 than it did the year before—but it was worse off because rising prices and climbing taxes more than wiped out the gain in income.

The Federal Reserve Board said yesterday its survey of consumer finances showed that average total income of "spending units"—mostly families—rose from $3,520 in 1950 to $3,840 in 1951, a rise of about nine per cent.

But, consumer prices also went up nine per cent, wiping out the income gain. And increased taxes tipped the scales against the average family, cutting buying power below the previous year.

Unionist Says They Will Not Be Satisfied With Promise, Performance Is Desired

Fight Is Shaping

Tiff Between Northern, Southern Democrats in Prospect

Chicago, July 17 (AP) — Union labor and Negro leaders called today on Democratic platform drafters for assurances that civil rights pledges will be carried out, once they are written.

Advocates of a civil rights plank "at least as strong" as that in the 1948 Democratic platform complained to newsmen that the party had not made good on its promises of four years ago.

James B. Carey, secretary-treasurer of the CIO, said "we're not going to be satisfied with a promise like we got from the 1948 convention—we want performance."

A renewal of the red-hot scrap between northern and southern Democrats on the civil rights issue is shaping up.

But it is too early to tell whether feeling will mount as high as it did at the Philadelphia convention in 1948 when many southern delegates walked out of the convention, later forming the States Rights party.

Compromise Is Hoped

The Dixie contingent this year is hopeful of achieving a compromise—something short of the Federal Fair Employment Practices Commission (FEPC) with enforcement powers recommended in the '48 platform.

Besides the FEPC, the northern group wants party pledges for federal laws outlawing lynching, banning state poll taxes and racial segregation.

Walter White, head of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People; Roy L. Reuther, political action coordinator for the CIO's Auto Workers Union, and Stanley Gewirtz, executive committee chairman of the Americans for Democratic Action, carried the ball for the civil rights proponents before the 21-member Democratic platform drafting group today.

Reuther's prepared statement stressed the demand that the party platform contain a pledge to change U. S. Senate rules so that filibusters against civil rights or other legislation could be shut off by a simple majority vote. Two

President Insists on His Policy

Kefauver Speaks

Tennessee Senator Says His Party Must Keep on Being Liberal

Chicago, July 17 (AP)—President Truman's fighting declaration against any convention "betrayal" of his political creed paced a new trend among Democratic presidential aspirants today.

Without any apparent advance knowledge of Truman's blunt demand for endorsement of his "Fair Deal" program, at least two candidates moved to put themselves in a position—if they get nominated—to lead a fight against what they called "Republican reaction."

Sen. Richard B. Russell of Georgia, plagued by his designation as the anti-Truman candidate of the south, bid for northern labor and "Fair Deal" support with a denunciation of the Taft-Hartley law he helped enact.

Sen. Estes Kefauver of Tennessee, self-tabbed peoples' choice for the nomination, called for a fight on what he labeled "Republican isolationism and reaction."

Their declarations seemed to indicate a developing pattern of thinking among the presidential hopefuls that the Republicans' choice of Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower will force the Democrats to pick a nominee who can call himself a progressive.

Parallels Statement

In words that paralleled Truman's official message to the convention delegates, Kefauver told a news conference yesterday:

"The Democratic party must continue to be the liberal, progressive party of the nation. We cannot retreat on either foreign policy or in the domestic field."

Kefauver leads in The Associated Press delegate tabulation with 256 votes to 120½ for Russel, based on pledges of support and known first ballot preferences. Mutual Security Director Averell Harriman, an all-out supporer of Truman policies, is running third with 112 votes. It takes 616 to win.

Truman said in his message, to be printed in the official convention program handed to every one of the 1,576 delegates, that no other political party has "done so much, so well, for so many people." He declared:

No Turning Back

"There must be no turning back or faltering on the great course our party has pioneered. There must be no betrayal of the New Deal and Fair Deal."

Matching the call of Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, the GOP presidential nominee for a "shining promise" crusade by the Republicans, Truman sounded the bugle notes of a "burning faith" crusade by the Democrats.

"There will be voices calling us to turn aside from the path to victory," the President said. "We cannot afford to be regulated by the weary or the fainthearted.

"Our answer must be that we will not compromise with the forces of defeatism, or reaction, or fear—that we will not retreat from the great humanitarian principles that have made our country what it is today."

Barkley Echoes Demand

Vice President Alben W. Barkley, whose 74 years may not stop him from becoming a formidable candidate for the presidential nomination, echoed the President's demand that the party stand on its record in office.

Reciting what he said were gains made by farmers, labor, business and the aged and unemployed, Barkley said the Democratic party has "earned the confidence of the American people."

Truman's message, apparently written well before he went to Walter Reed Hospital in Washington for a check-up after his tussle with a virus infection, exploded a new bomb under efforts of National Chairman Frank McKinney and others to compromise a civil rights plank in the party platform.

And it threatened further complications in the contest over the seating of rival delegations from

Two Hundred See 300th Anniversary Showing of Art

Total of 51 Paintings Viewed — Karolik, Vose Address Gathering

Incredible though it may seem in this city of strong cultural and historic influence, the preview of the Tercentennial Art Show which attracted more than 200 persons last night at the George Washington School, is the first major and important exhibition held here, according to those responsible for selecting and hanging this significant, diversified and nostalgic exhibit of paintings by American artists, with emphasis on the Hudson River School.

The show will remain open to the public daily from 11 a. m. to 9 p. m. through August 17.

Included in the exhibition are—34 paintings from the Maxim Karolik collection, 17 from the Robert C. Vose Galleries, Boston; 11 loaned by the Albany Institute of History and Art as well as others on loan from the Metropolitan Museum of Art; Raleigh, N. C., Museum of Art, Mrs. Nelson Conant, Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Lowell, Mrs. James P. Borland, Mrs. William Hasbrouck, Edward Fenton and Fred J. Johnston.

Preservation and Trends

In reviewing the known and unknown American artists whose work is represented in the exhibit, Maxim Karolik and Robert C. Vose, guest speakers, presented their views relative to the value of preserving the American art heritage and the noticeable art trends exemplified in the exhibit.

50 Year Period

"In the art of painting, the period of 50 years, from 1815 to 1865, was considered by the experts to be an unimportant barren period," Karolik said. It is because he and Mrs. Karolik disagreed with the experts that the magnificent and interesting collection has been preserved for future generations. The extensive collection has been open to the public for 15 years and "has proved, even to the skeptics who have admitted it in public, what this collection means," the speaker commented.

Karolik, a noted authority and collector, has undertaken a mission to awaken America's consiousness to her cultural heritage in art and music. He has accumulated a collection of 144 pieces of early American furniture which he has

It's Official: Skyrocket Speed Is 1,283 MPH

Pilot Says Real Kick Comes When Craft Runs Out of Power

Los Angeles, July 17 (AP)—The hottest plane in the free world, the D-558-2 skyrocket, holds a new speed record of 1,238 miles an hour, says the navy.

And the hottest test pilot, Landy Bill Bridgeman, says zooming at that speed is "no different than flying 750 miles per hour."

The real kick comes, Bridgeman said in an exclusive interview last night, when the rocket-propelled hummingbird runs out of power at a record altitude of 79,494 feet and swoops down 15 miles for a deadstick landing on the desert.

Both the speed and altitude were confirmed here by Secretary of the Navy Dan A. Kimball. Bridgeman flew the Douglas-built rocket ship to unprecedented heights last August 7 and set the speed record August 15 in tests at Edwards Air Force Base, Calif.

The navy previously had admitted only that the research plane had "climbed at 1,000 miles an hour."

Six Rocket Flights

In all, Bridgeman made six rocket flights last summer after the skyrocket was launched at 35,000 feet from a B-29 mother ship.

Each time, the 35-year-old Douglas test pilot said, the needle-nosed 40-foot ship rammed smoothly through the sonic barrier—which is reached at about 660 miles an hour at 35,000 feet and above. In pressurized suit and cockpit, Bridgeman says he was "not especially conscious of speed."

"You notice the high speed only when you make a mistake," the ex-navy bomber pilot said. "Then she really jumps and gets hard to control. Generally, though, there's too much blue sky and so many things to do that the speed isn't noticeable."

In Level Flight

The record speed was made in level flight after the skyrocket had reached the apex of her climb. It was measured by instruments in the plane and radar ground readings carefully checked by the Navy Bureau of Aeronautics.

The moment that sends "your guts into your shoes," Bridgeman declares, comes when the last of the four rockets used by the plane loses its thrust.

"Then you have to bend 'er over fast, level off and start gliding for home."

Not Slow Glide

It isn't exactly a slow glide, either, Bridgeman lands without power at 160 miles per hour. (The average jet plane lands at 110 M.P.H.) The entire flight, from the moment of release from the bottom of the B-29 to the landing, takes only 11 to 16 minutes.

"The sonic barrier isn't a problem any longer," the ace tester said. Theoretically, man might some day fly 10,000 miles an hour if he can lick the aerodynamic barrier, heat is the problem now, and the question is can we go higher and faster without having

Man, 30, Is Held In Girl's Slaying

Says He Killed Blonde Because Thesis Was Rejected

New York, July 17 (AP)—A 30-year-old Boston air force veteran, Bayard Peakes, confessed orally today, Boston police said, to the Columbia University campus killing of a blonde he never had seen before.

Peakes is being brought here for intensive questioning in the death of pretty Miss Eileen Fahey, 18, last Monday.

Boston police said Peakes, who had been given a mental discharge from the air force told them he just "wanted to kill someone" because of an academic failure.

Miss Fahey, a bookkeeper, was shot to death at her desk in the American Physical Society office on the campus as she read the first of three letters she had received earlier that day from Pfc. Ronald Leo of the First Marine Division in Korea.

Leo, granted a 30-day leave, is flying here to attend Miss Fahey's funeral Saturday.

Bought Pistol in June

Boston Police Captain Francis Wilson said Peakes told of purchasing a .22 calibre pistol in June "with the intent of shooting someone" in the American Physical Society because that organization had turned down his thesis on the theory of life.

Peakes, a Boston packinghouse worker, was arrested early today in Boston. He is the son of a retired Dover-Foxcroft, Me., lumber dealer.

Miss Fahey "just happened to be the first person I met in the office," Peakes was quoted by police as saying.

After hours of questioning, Peakes waived extradition for return to New York.

Police found a pistol and the remains of two boxes of ammunition in the room of the lanky, six-foot Peakes. They said he told them he bought the pistol in Bangor, Me., last June as he brooded over failure of the society to answer his letters on his theories of electronics.

His Only Contact

Investigators said Peakes only actual contact with electronics was when he was enrolled briefly in a physics course at Northeastern University, Boston, in 1946. They said he left by request because of eccentricities.

"Last month," Capt. Wilson, quoted Peakes as saying, "I heard they were going to drop the electronics course at Columbia. So, I decided I was going to New York to kill somebody who was a member of the American Physical Society, preferably a man.

"I went up to Bangor and bought the gun (a Stern-Luger long-range, high velocity weapon) and 100 cartidges. I gave them my right name and address at the Olympic Sporting Goods store where I bought the gun, and came back to Boston.

"Last Sunday morning, I wrapped the gun in some red paper, put it into a paper box with eight cartridges in the gun, and then put the box in a brown valise. I wrapped 19 extra cartridges in a

Quarrel Brings Death in Bronx

Man Also Injures Wife After Killing His Stepdaughter

New York, July 17 (AP)—A 39-year-old war veteran killed his married stepdaughter and critically wounded his wife today after a heated quarrel.

Police said the veteran, Vincent Pugh, shot his stepdaughter, Mrs. Jane Curley Whalen, 22, as she lay asleep in her mother's apartment at 551 Cauldwell avenue, the Bronx. Then, said police, he turned a souvenir German rifle on his wife, Elinor, 38, when she sat up in bed in an adjoining room.

The veteran's son, Vincent, Jr., ran screaming from the apartment and aroused neighbors who called police.

Patrolman Jeremiah O'Connor saw Pugh running from the building and recounted the following:

"I did it! I did it!" shrieked Pugh.

"Did what?" demanded O'Connor.

"I just shot my wife and daughter!"

O'Connor seized him and returned to the apartment where Mrs. Whalen lay dead and Mrs. Pugh lay critically wounded with a bullet from the 8 millimeter rifle through an arm and imbedded in her breast.

Police Give Background

Police laid down this background to the shooting:

Pugh recently was released from a hospital where he'd been treated for tuberculosis. Mrs. Whalen had become estranged from her husband and returned home to live with her mother and stepfather. Pugh blamed his stepdaughter for increasing friction between himself and his wife.

Last night the Pughs visited several bars in an attempt to reconcile their differences. They re-

Senator Reiterates Evaluation of Move Against Taft

In an informal talk, which contained off the record statements, before the Rotary Club on Wednesday, State Senate Majority Leader Arthur H. Wicks declared that his sole purpose in attending as a delegate to the recent national convention of the Republican Party and voting as he did for General Eisenhower was to give to the Republican Party the strongest candidate and one who will be successful at the poles in November.

In reference to the New York delegation, the senator declared that Governor Dewey did not crack the whip over the members comprising that delegation, because it was not necessary for him to crack the whip.

The true story of the loss of the nomination by the Taft forces to the Eisenhower forces, lay in the maneuvering that occurred on the first day of the convention. In addition to this and other factors it is unquestionably true that some of the Taft forces and supporters were so over-zealous in their efforts to swing delegates to their candidate that they alienated many who might otherwise have supported Senator Taft.

Talk to Electorate

Other statements in the interesting and enlightening talk before the record attendance of Rotarians were reiterated in the following radio address delivered by the senator Wednesday evening:

Fellow Citizens:

As a delegate and a representative of the Republican party of this congressional district at the recent Republican national convention, I am pleased to have this opportunity to give you a brief insight into the magnitude and

Reds Shift Dean From Pyongyang To New POW Camp

Location Not Revealed; Three Pens Abolished by Foes; Others Transferred

Munsan, Korea, July 17 (AP)—The Communists today said they have moved their prize captive, U. S. Maj. Gen. William F. Dean, from a prisoner of war camp at the bomb-shattered capital of Pyongyang to another camp in North Korea but did not give his new location.

The disclosure came in an exchange of letters by liaison officers of the United Nations command and Communist truce teams at Panmunjom.

The Red letter told of a large scale prisoner transfer, involving Dean, former commander of the U. S. 24th Infantry Division, and numerous Korean captives.

The allied communication demanded an accounting of 1,881 missing UN soldiers believed in Communist stockades. The UN command said it has been making the request since December with "totally unsatisfactory" results.

Captured in 1950

The allies at the same time answered a similar request from the Communists for an accounting of 1,014 allied-held prisoners with information on all but four of the captives.

Dean is a medal of honor winner from Berkeley, Calif. He was captured in August, 1950.

The Reds announced his transfer in notifying the UN that they had abolished three prisoner of war camps and set up six new ones. Four of the new ones are at or near Pyongyang, target of a destructive allied air raid last week.

The disclosure came during the fourth day of a Communist-called recess in secret armistice negotiations at Panmunhom over the deadlocked issue of prisoner exchange. The five-man truce delegations are scheduled to reconvene at 11 a. m. tomorrow (9 p. m. Thursday, EST).

Neither side has proposed to end the secrecy agreement which has blacked out news of the proceedings of 10 sessions since July 4.

Others Hold Koreans

North Korean Gen. Nam Il wrote that among three camps abolished was number six, eight miles north of Pyongyang. There, the Reds annouced earlier, they held Dean and a prisoner they identified as Pfc Eon Mitchell, a former member of the Second Infantry Division. He was presumed to be an orderly for Dean.

The other two camps eliminated presumably held Koreans.

In addition to the four new camps in the Pyongyang area, the Communists said they set up a camp at Ipsok, five miles southeast of Sinanju, and one at Pusang, 30 miles east of Sinuiju.

Nam gave no reason for the move nor did he state the number of prisoners or their nationalities in the new camps.

The Reds also turned over maps on which the locations of the new camps were marked.

This Is Eisenhower

By SAUL PETT

Young Dwight D. Eisenhower waited a long time for advancement after his graduation from West Point in 1915.

He served five years before becoming a permanent major. And then he waited 16 years for his next promotion.

Although he had drifted into the army accidentally, Ike was restless to get ahead. He worked hard. He was eternally impatient to lead "troops." But for most of the long years before 1941, through most of the dreary tours at various army posts, he taught or received instruction or did paper work.

No Combat Command

For the first 27 years, he never had a single combat command. Never even led a platoon or squad into battle. And then suddenly, in 1942, he was given command of an entire theatre.

In the 23 months after 1940, Eisenhower climbed, or was pulled, up over the heads of scores of others, from a lieutenant colonel to full general. The army had rarely seen anything like it. But before that, there was the long, dreary beginning.

After the academy, Ike was first assigned to the 19th Infantry at Fort Sam Houston, Texas. Professionally, the tour was insignificant. Personally, it was highly important. It was here, at a party, that he met Mamie (not a nickname) Geneva Dowd, pretty daughter of a prosperous retired grain and cattle merchant. The Dowds, who lived in Denver, happened to be visiting Texas at the time.

Married in 1916

Dwight and Mamie were married in Denver on July 1, 1916. One year later they had a son, Dwight Dowd, who was nicknamed Icky. The boy died of scarlet fever three years later. It was the worst personal tragedy the soldier ever had. For many months after, he said later, he was "on the ragged edge of a breakdown."

A second son was born at Fort Logan, Colorado, in 1923. Today John Sheldon Dowd Eisenhower is a major stationed at the Fort Knox (Ky) armored school. He is married and the father of three young children. The oldest is four and the image and apple of Grandpa Ike's eye.

During the first World War, Eisenhower tried but failed to get overseas. He had to be content with a variety of less exciting state-side assignments, the most significant being his organization and command of a tank battalion. He achieved a reputation as a tank expert but who was looking for tank experts in 1919?

At Top of Class

Dewey Declares GOP Ticket Is Biggest Hit; Predicts Win

New York, July 17 (AP)—Gov. Thomas E. Dewey says the Republican presidential ticket is "the biggest hit of any ticket I ever saw."

Dewey, a leading backer of Dwight D. Eisenhower in his fight for the presidential nomination, also praised his running mate, Senator Richard M. Nixon of California, on a television program last night.

Dewey said that when Nixon was nominated for vice president at the Chicago convention "youngsters came up to me with stars in their eyes."

"I never saw such enthusiasm," the governor declared.

Dewey answered questions on the "Convention Roundup" program on the DuMont TV network.

He said he believes a new administration would have a chance to reduce taxes substantially in its first few years in power.

Expressing confidence that any rift in the GOP will be healed, Dewey said "we have to have a united party now and a united country afterward."

The two-time GOP presidential loser said he expects his party will do more door-knocking and

Los Angeles, July 17 (AP)—The hottest plane in the free world, the D-558-2 skyrocket, holds a new speed record of 1,238 miles an hour, says the navy.

And the hottest test pilot, Landy Bill Bridgeman, says zooming at that speed is "no different than flying 750 miles per hour."

The real kick comes, Bridgeman said in an exclusive interview last night, when the rocket-propelled hummingbird runs out of power at a record altitude of 79,494 feet and swoops down 15 miles for a deadstick landing on the desert.

Both the speed and altitude were confirmed here by Secretary of the Navy Dan A. Kimball. Bridgeman flew the Douglas-built rocket ship to unprecedented heights last August 7 and set the speed record August 15 in tests at Edwards Air Force Base, Calif.

The navy previously had admitted only that the research plane had "climbed at 1,000 miles an hour."

Six Rocket Flights

In all, Bridgeman made six rocket flights last summer after the skyrocket was launched at 35,000 feet from a B-29 mother ship.

Each time, the 35-year-old Douglas test pilot said, the needle-nosed 40-foot ship rammed smoothly through the sonic barrier—which is reached at about 660 miles an hour at 35,000 feet and above. In pressurized suit and cockpit, Bridgeman says he was "not especially conscious of speed."

"You notice the high speed only when you make a mistake," the ex-navy bomber pilot said. "Then she really jumps and gets hard to control. Generally, though, there's too much blue sky and so many things to do that the speed isn't noticeable."

In Level Flight

The record speed was made in level flight after the skyrocket had reached the apex of her climb. It was measured by instruments in the plane and radar ground readings carefully checked by the Navy Bureau of Aeronautics.

The moment that sends "your guts into your shoes," Bridgeman declares, comes when the last of the four rockets used by the plane loses its thrust.

"Then you have to bend 'er over fast, level off and start gliding for home."

Not Slow Glide

It isn't exactly a slow glide, either, Bridgeman lands without power at 160 miles per hour. (The average jet plane lands at 110 M.P.H.) The entire flight, from the moment of release from the bottom of the B-29 to the landing, takes only 11 to 16 minutes.

"The sonic barrier isn't a problem any longer," the ace tester said. Theoretically, man might some day fly 10,000 miles an hour if he can lick the aerodynamic barrier, heat is the problem now, and the question is can we go higher and faster without having

Man, 30, Is Held In Girl's Slaying

Says He Killed Blonde Because Thesis Was Rejected

New York, July 17 (AP)—A 30-year-old Boston air force veteran, Bayard Peakes, confessed orally today, Boston police said, to the Columbia University campus killing of a blonde he never had seen before.

Peakes is being brought here for intensive questioning in the death of pretty Miss Eileen Fahey, 18, last Monday.

Boston police said Peakes, who had been given a mental discharge from the air force told them he just "wanted to kill someone" because of an academic failure.

Miss Fahey, a bookkeeper, was shot to death at her desk in the American Physical Society office on the campus as she read the first of three letters she had received earlier that day from Pfc. Ronald Leo of the First Marine Division in Korea.

Leo, granted a 30-day leave, is flying here to attend Miss Fahey's funeral Saturday.

Bought Pistol in June

Boston Police Captain Francis Wilson said Peakes told of purchasing a .22 calibre pistol in June "with the intent of shooting someone" in the American Physical Society because that organization had turned down his thesis on the theory of life.

Peakes, a Boston packinghouse worker, was arrested early today in Boston. He is the son of a retired Dover-Foxcroft, Me., lumber dealer.

Miss Fahey "just happened to be the first person I met in the office," Peakes was quoted by police as saying.

After hours of questioning, Peakes waived extradition for return to New York.

Police found a pistol and the remains of two boxes of ammunition in the room of the lanky, six-foot Peakes. They said he told them he bought the pistol in Bangor, Me., last June as he brooded over failure of the society to answer his letters on his theories of electronics.

His Only Contact

Investigators said Peakes only actual contact with electronics was when he was enrolled briefly in a physics course at Northeastern University, Boston, in 1946. They said he left by request because of eccentricities.

"Last month," Capt. Wilson, quoted Peakes as saying, "I heard they were going to drop the electronics course at Columbia. So, I decided I was going to New York to kill somebody who was a member of the American Physical Society, preferably a man.

"I went up to Bangor and bought the gun (a Stern-Luger long-range, high velocity weapon) and 100 cartridges. I gave them my right name and address at the Olympic Sporting Goods store where I bought the gun, and came back to Boston.

"Last Sunday morning, I wrapped the gun in some red paper, put it into a paper box with eight cartridges in the gun, and then put the box in a brown valise. I wrapped 19 extra cartridges in a

Quarrel Brings Death in Bronx

Man Also Injures Wife After Killing His Stepdaughter

New York, July 17 (AP)—A 39-year-old war veteran killed his married stepdaughter and critically wounded his wife today after a heated quarrel.

Police said the veteran, Vincent Pugh, shot his stepdaughter, Mrs. Jane Curley Whalen, 22, as she lay asleep in her mother's apartment at 551 Cauldwell avenue, the Bronx. Then, said police, he turned a souvenir German rifle on his wife, Elinor, 38, when she sat up in bed in an adjoining room.

The veteran's son, Vincent, Jr., ran screaming from the apartment and aroused neighbors who called police.

Patrolman Jeremiah O'Connor saw Pugh running from the building and recounted the following:

"I did it! I did it!" shrieked Pugh.

"Did what?" demanded O'Connor.

"I just shot my wife and daughter!"

O'Connor seized him and returned to the apartment where Mrs. Whalen lay dead and Mrs. Pugh lay critically wounded with a bullet from the 8 millimeter rifle through an arm and imbedded in her breast.

Police Give Background

Police laid down this background to the shooting:

Pugh recently was released from a hospital where he'd been treated for tuberculosis. Mrs. Whalen had become estranged from her husband and returned home to live with her mother and stepfather. Pugh blamed his stepdaughter for increasing friction between himself and his wife.

Last night the Pughs visited several bars in an attempt to reconcile their differences. They re-

Senator Reiterates Evaluation of Move Against Taft

In an informal talk, which contained off the record statements, before the Rotary Club on Wednesday, State Senate Majority Leader Arthur H. Wicks declared that his sole purpose in attending as a delegate to the recent national convention of the Republican Party and voting as he did for General Eisenhower was to give to the Republican Party the strongest candidate and one who will be successful at the poles in November.

In reference to the New York delegation, the senator declared that Governor Dewey did not crack the whip over the members comprising that delegation, because it was not necessary for him to crack the whip.

The true story of the loss of the nomination by the Taft forces to the Eisenhower forces, lay in the maneuvering that occurred on the first day of the convention. In addition to this and other factors it is unquestionably true that some of the Taft forces and supporters were so over-zealous in their efforts to swing delegates to their candidate that they alienated many who might otherwise have supported Senator Taft.

Talk to Electorate

Other statements in the interesting and enlightening talk before the record attendance of Rotarians were reiterated in the following radio address delivered by the senator Wednesday evening:

Fellow Citizens:

As a delegate and a representative of the Republican party of this congressional district at the recent Republican national convention, I am pleased to have this opportunity to give you a brief insight into the magnitude and

Reds Shift Dean From Pyongyang To New POW Camp

Location Not Revealed; Three Pens Abolished by Foes; Others Transferred

Munsan, Korea, July 17 (AP)—The Communists today said they have moved their prize captive, U. S. Maj. Gen. William F. Dean, from a prisoner of war camp at the bomb-shattered capital of Pyongyang to another camp in North Korea but did not give his new location.

The disclosure came in an exchange of letters by liaison officers of the United Nations command and Communist truce teams at Panmunjom.

The Red letter told of a large scale prisoner transfer, involving Dean, former commander of the U. S. 24th Infantry Division, and numerous Korean captives.

The allied communication demanded an accounting of 1,881 missing UN soldiers believed in Communist stockades. The UN command said it has been making the request since December with "totally unsatisfactory" results.

Captured in 1950

The allies at the same time answered a similar request from the Communists for an accounting of 1,014 allied-held prisoners with information on all but four of the captives.

Dean is a medal of honor winner from Berkeley, Calif. He was captured in August, 1950.

The Reds announced his transfer in notifying the UN that they had abolished three prisoner of war camps and set up six new ones. Four of the new ones are at or near Pyongyang, target of a destructive allied air raid last week.

The disclosure came during the fourth day of a Communist-called recess in secret armistice negotiations at Panmunhom over the deadlocked issue of prisoner exchange. The five-man truce delegations are scheduled to reconvene at 11 a. m. tomorrow (9 p. m. Thursday, EST).

Neither side has proposed to end the secrecy agreement which has blacked out news of the proceedings of 10 sessions since July 4.

Others Hold Koreans

North Korean Gen. Nam Il wrote that among three camps abolished was number six, eight miles north of Pyongyang. There, the Reds annouced earlier, they held Dean and a prisoner they identified as Pfc Eon Mitchell, a former member of the Second Infantry Division. He was presumed to be an orderly for Dean.

The other two camps eliminated presumably held Koreans.

In addition to the four new camps in the Pyongyang area, the Communists said they set up a camp at Ipsok, five miles southeast of Sinanju, and one at Pusang, 30 miles east of Sinuiju.

Nam gave no reason for the move nor did he state the number of prisoners or their nationalities in the new camps.

The Reds also turned over maps on which the locations of the new camps were marked.

This Is Eisenhower

By SAUL PETT

Young Dwight D. Eisenhower waited a long time for advancement after his graduation from West Point in 1915.

He served five years before becoming a permanent major. And then he waited 16 years for his next promotion.

Although he had drifted into the army accidentally, Ike was restless to get ahead. He worked hard. He was eternally impatient to lead "troops." But for most of the long years before 1941, through most of the dreary tours at various army posts, he taught or received instruction or did paper work.

No Combat Command

For the first 27 years, he never had a single combat command. Never even led a platoon or squad into battle. And then suddenly, in 1942, he was given command of an entire theatre.

In the 23 months after 1940, Eisenhower climbed, or was pulled, up over the heads of scores of others, from a lieutenant colonel to full general. The army had rarely seen anything like it. But before that, there was the long, dreary beginning.

After the academy, Ike was first assigned to the 19th Infantry at Fort Sam Houston, Texas. Professionally, the tour was insignificant. Personally, it was highly important. It was here, at a party, that he met Mamie (not a nickname) Geneva Dowd, pretty daughter of a prosperous retired grain and cattle merchant. The Dowds, who lived in Denver, happened to be visiting Texas at the time.

Married in 1916

Dwight and Mamie were married in Denver on July 1, 1916. One year later they had a son, Dwight Dowd, who was nicknamed Icky. The boy died of scarlet fever three years later. It was the worst personal tragedy the soldier ever had. For many months after, he said later, he was "on the ragged edge of a breakdown."

A second son was born at Fort Logan, Colorado, in 1923. Today John Sheldon Dowd Eisenhower is a major stationed at the Fort Knox (Ky) armored school. He is married and the father of three young children. The oldest is four and the image and apple of Grandpa Ike's eye.

During the first World War, Eisenhower tried but failed to get overseas. He had to be content with a variety of less exciting state-side assignments, the most significant being his organization and command of a tank battalion. He achieved a reputation as a tank expert but who was looking for tank experts in 1919?

At Top of Class

Dewey Declares GOP Ticket Is Biggest Hit; Predicts Win

New York, July 17 (AP)—Gov. Thomas E. Dewey says the Republican presidential ticket is "the biggest hit of any ticket I ever saw."

Dewey, a leading backer of Dwight D. Eisenhower in his fight for the presidential nomination, also praised his running mate, Senator Richard M. Nixon of California, on a television program last night.

Dewey said that when Nixon was nominated for vice president at the Chicago convention "youngsters came up to me with stars in their eyes."

"I never saw such enthusiasm," the governor declared.

Dewey answered questions on the "Convention Roundup" program on the DuMont TV network.

He said he believes a new administration would have a chance to reduce taxes substantially in its first few years in power.

Expressing confidence that any rift in the GOP will be healed, Dewey said "we have to have a united party now and a united country afterward."

The two-time GOP presidential loser said he expects his party will do more door-knocking and

USO Holstein Club Show Set July 26

The second annual Black and White Show of the USO Holstein Club will be held Saturday, July 26, at the Orange County Fairgrounds in Middletown. The USO Holstein Club is composed of breeders in Ulster, Sullivan and Orange counties.

Philip Rahl of Washingtonville, chairman of the show, said today that final plans call for the animals to be on the grounds by 10 a. m., with judging to start by 10:30. The judge will be Fred Nichols, manager of Osborndale Farms, Derby Conn. He is rated as one of the popular Holstein judges in the East.

Deadline July 19

The entry deadline for the show has been extended until July 19. More than 60 entries have been received to date, officials report. The figure tops that of the same time last year. The 1951 show was held in Goshen with 112 animals exhibited.

Late entries with fee attached may be sent to Hal Gerow at Washingtonville. Ample facilities have been obtained this year for housing and showing the animals in case of rain.

Some Ulster county Holstein owners who have made entries are Wayne and Franklin Kelder of Accord, Ridgely Farms of Stone Ridge, Philip Davis of Kerhonkson, S. Robert Kelder Sr. and Jr. of Stone Ridge, the Kenneth Rider Family of Accord and Patroon Farms of Stone Ridge.

Trophies will be awarded for the grand and reserve champion females, and ribbons will be awarded for every animal exhibited. A special award will be made to the 4-H or FFA member whose animal places highest in the show.

A picnic lunch will be held on the fairgrounds at noon, with each family bringing a box lunch. Light refreshments will be available.

THE RUMINATOR

By HUMPHREY B. NEILL

A Column of Contrary Opinion

The great speculation this week (which you may know about before reading this): Will General Eisenhower's nomination "persuade" President Truman to change his mind and campaign for another term?

There is no question that HST believes he is the only man who "can cut the general down to size."

It is evident that the only other man the Democrats would like to run against Eisenhower is Governor Stevenson of Illinois—and it is quite plain that Stevenson is not enthusiastic, to put it mildly. He knows that the general will be a popular candidate, and he also unquesfionably recognizes the rather clever Republican strategy of placing Nixon on the ticket. Stevenson, you recall, was a character witness for Alger Hiss, while Nixon was conspicuous in the investigation which led to Hiss' conviction and imprisonment. (Whittaker Chambers extraordinary best-selling book, "Witness," is a timely tie-in.)

So you may find Harry Truman whistle-stopping for himself again this year. In any event, he will campaign actively in an attempt to defeat Eisenhower. There are those who say the president likes Ike, and therefore won't press down on him. This would seem to be about the safest idea to be contrary to that I can think of.

Now for some other contrary thoughts which the Ruminator thinks you should hold in mind, as we get into the 1952 campaign.

First of all, there are hundreds of thousands of, perhaps several million, voters who at heart would like to see Senator Taft president, but who have leaned toward General Eisenhower because of the belief that "only Ike can win." They will be for Ike, but will not be carried away by enthusiasm or emotion. In other words, their allegiance will arise from their desire to see the Democrats whipped. This does not beget the "contagion" which is so important a factor in electioneering.

Second, General Eisenhower has already revealed that he does not arouse emotional ardor or fervor. Here again, it will be difficult to start the contagion. His campaign will, of necessity, be one of hard work. He must make friends and influence people by canvassing, as he said, "every nook and granny" of the country. He must make some 28 to 30 million voters like Ike That's a mammoth undertaking.

Third, the influential press of the nation is pro-Eisenhower. This in itself is somewhat of a handicap because it creates wishful-thinking and pre-conceived opinions. (The press was heavily against Truman in '48, you remember). There will be too much taken for granted because of the imbedded idea that only the General can win.

Fourth, the electorate is possibly roughly divided three ways: One-third conservative, one-third middle-roaders, and one-third "left of center." Eisenhower's big appeal will be to the middle-roaders—chiefly because his supporters are looked upon as "liberal Republicans" and down-the-center boys. (A good many, I am afraid, have veered toward the left side of that road, however.)

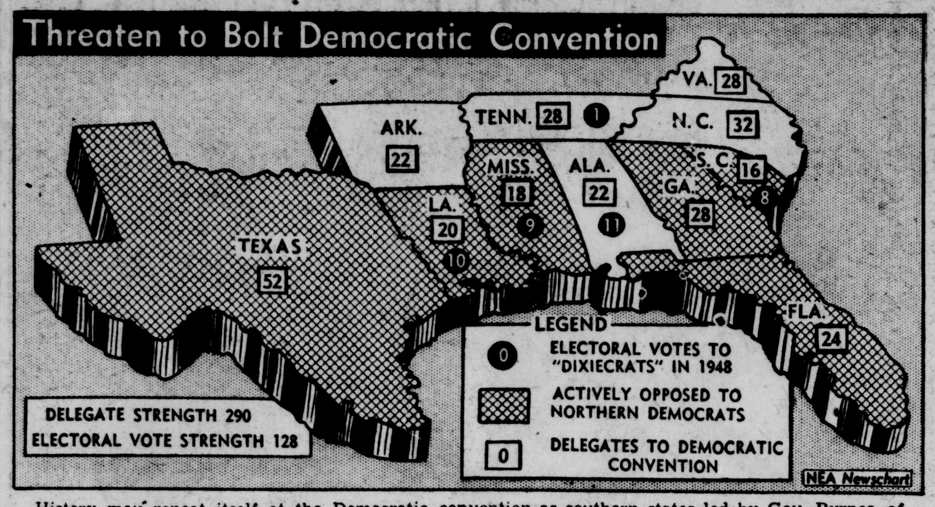
Fifth, the General has had no experience in campaigning, and knows little about domestic affairs. He can easily fumble and make significant slips (which will be pounced upon by the Democrats). If he places the major emphasis on the international picture, the voters will be told that he is a "me-tooer" and that the Democrats with their experience can handle foreign affairs better than he can.

We could go on with other contrary thoughts, but you can see from those mentioned that there can be—and probably will be—surprising reactions as the campaign gets up steam. The general has said he will lead "a crusade" but a crusade requires a great emotional uprising and must create "contagion." A reaction from pre-conceived enthusiasm may go too far in the negative direction; the pendulum always swings in wide arcs with us mercurial Americans.

Instead of a crusade the Ruminator thinks you are more likely to witness a slugging match. And if Mr. Truman should change his mind, the General will be up against a trained slugger, of professional experience. If the Republicans wish to outslug the Democrats the Ruminator would advise them to persuade some of the Old Guard to come into the campaign and help. (But you would think from the papers that it is a great victory that the Old Guard has been tossed out of power. Just what, I may ask, is so terrible about the Old Guard? Is it because the left-wingers don't like them? The Old Guard's fearless fighting may be needed before November rolls around!)

In sum, be prepared to be surprised and be contrary to early opinions.

Threaten to Bolt Democratic Convention



History may repeat itself at the Democratic convention as southern states led by Gov. Byrnes, of South Carolina, threaten to bolt the party if northern factions insist on including the civil rights issue in the party platform. The "Dixie" states with 128 electoral votes are a vital factor (266 votes needed to win) if the Democrats plan to remain in the White House after the November elections.

Getting Maximum Returns From Peas

Geneva, N. Y.—Maximum returns from peas grown for canning or freezing will be realized where the crop is harvested by tenderometer grade rather than for yield, declares Prof. Charles B. Sayre, canning crops specialist at the Experiment Station here.

At present contract prices the highest returns per acre will be obtained from peas harvested at a tenderometer grade of 90 to 95, even though this may represent only about 75 per cent of the maximum crop obtainable, he declares.

The tenderometer is a machine used by food processors to measure the tenderness of peas by recording the pressure required to crush a certain volume of shelled peas through a set of steel grids. The harder and more mature the peas, the higher the tenderometer reading, while the more tender the peas, the lower the reading.

"The food value of peas having a tenderometer grade of 125 to 130 is equal to that of peas with a grade of 95, but the public prefers the younger, more tender peas and is willing to pay a higher price for them," says Professor Sayre. "For that reason, processors contract with growers on a sliding scale based on maturity of the peas as measured by the tenderometer."

That yield is not as important as tenderometer grade in determining gross returns from the pea crop is revealed by the fact that a ton of Thomas Laxton peas this season at a tenderometer of 85 would bring $140 per acre, whereas two tons at tenderometer 106 would bring the same return because of the lower price per ton, explains the Station scientist in an article on the subject in the current issue of "Farm Research," the Station's quarterly magazine.

IKE MUST PLOT HIS OWN COURSE

General Dwight D. Eisenhower, the Republican presidential nominee, has a great task ahead of him. A political novice and an amateur in domestic affairs, he must now develop a program and learn how to take command of his own political fortunes.

He won the GOP nomination because he was the most popular candidate. His popularity is rooted in trust in him as a man, in his character and his motives and his qualities of leadership.

In the month he campaigned as a political figure, he spelled out no specific policies. He talked in general terms, indicating broad approaches. Yet he was not taken wholly on faith. For the general had already proved himself as a soldier, diplomat and statesman in two of the most crushing assignments that any American has ever assumed.

It is natural for many people to feel that a man who could do what Eisenhower has done as a commander of wartime and postwar armies might well master the art of domestic statecraft.

It is natural, too, that many are disposed to turn to a new face, a man without malice, who stands out so sharply against the tired old faces that today so heavily populate both major parties. Politically speaking, Eisenhower is a clean sheet of paper on which nothing sordid or disheartening has so far been written.

In his quest for the nomination, he had the further advantage of representing the moderate elements of the Republican Party. Since 1940, these forces have always proved strong enough to choose a presidential nominee, though they have not had the power to wrest control away from the more conservative wing in the intervening years.

Curiously, Senator Taft is himself a moderate Republican in many important respects. But he has become a symbol of more extreme elements. In campaigning he has not striven hard to shake this label. He has been content to let it apply.

This association with extreme conservatives, plus some aspects of Taft's personality, underlie the widely held conviction that "Taft can't win," the devastating argument that brought him again to defeat in his third try for the nomination.

Eisenhower is free of these handicaps. But he has a full set of his own. Up to now he has been acquiescing in political decisions affecting his campaign, rather than commanding. If he is not to be a mere creature of others, he must now take hold and chart his own course.

More than that, he must begin to offer evidence to the voting public that the faith and trust the people have in him is not misplaced.

With all its corruption and decay and internal disorder, the Democratic party is still a powerful force in American politics. The political analysts who have troubled to examine closely the voting habits of the U. S. electorate are unanimous in concluding that the Democrats have a substantial majority.

The Republicans are unlikely to wrest away any crucial part of this majority—or to convince new voters—unless they formulate a constructive program that offers all Americans real hope.

It is Eisenhower's task, therefore, to translate the trust that is felt in him as a man into trust for the political party he now leads.

SEA GLORY FLIES WITH NEW LINER

In the days when clipper ships slid down the ways of New England shipyards and set their courses for the seven seas, America's merchant marine ruled the seas. When the clippers were relegated to limbo by iron ships, our merchant mariners began wallowing in the wake of other nations.

A proud new liner with a proud old name—the S. S. United States—has brought back our sea-going glory again. Not since 1851, when the steamer Pacific crossed in nine days, 19 hours and 25 minutes, has an American merchant ship flown the mythical blue ribbon of Atlantic supremacy.

The new liner's speed—35 knots or 41 mph—may not seem fast in this atomic age. But it's still something to stir the hearts of Americans to know the fastest ship on all the oceans flies the Stars and Stripes.

CONVENTION REFORM

There are those who enjoy chasing after events as though everything in life were a three-alarm fire. The Republican Convention, to me, was an irritant because I saw 2,412 Americans, delegates and alternates, regimented into a noisy mass. The same will happen at the Democratic Convention.

Television has made you a witness to this unsavory situation. You witnessed the demonstrations, all but one of which were professionally organized and directed. The extra help was hired. The only exception was the spontaneous expression of respect for Herbert Hoover. And of all things, that one was started by Senator Wayne Morse of Oregon, who, while not agreeing with Hoover in ideas, has the breeding that impels him to do the decorous act.

Television has already outmoded the convention. Those who watched on television saw more than anyone could have in the convention hall. Do you remember that New York delegation being polled, with Dewey ordering people around, his face tense? Only those who watched on television could see that in all its ferocity.

The object of the direct primaries was to limit the power of the party bosses. It has not worked out that way in either party. Actually, the party boss is as strong as he ever was. This is partly due to the apathy of the people and partly to the huge cost of politics. It is estimated that pre-convention and convention activities cost the Republicans of all factions between $20,000,000 and $30,000,000. This is an absurdly high figure. It puts the Presidency up for sale.

Only one method is available for saving the convention and restoring self-respect for the delegates. That is to institute a secret ballot, using voting machines. Under the rules, delegates vote by states. Under some of the laws governing primaries, delegates pledged to a candidate must vote for him for a varying number of ballots. In such circumstances, the secret ballot loses some of its effectiveness, since the delegates are already pledged to a candidate.

The primary laws are so varied that they have become an additional element of confusion. What is necessary is some uniformity in the primaries, but this seems difficult, if not impossible, because election laws are passed by state legislators for their own states. There is no Federal election law, except as corrupt practices appear or are charged in the election of Federal officials. Thus, it is possible to have 48 varieties of primaries, and it is amazing how ingenious the human mind can be in devising instruments of confusion.

Nevertheless, if the delegates knew that at each convention their votes would be secret; that each delegate had to vote for himself; that no other person could vote in his name—the delegate might face this responsibility with more dignity and a greater sense of usefulness. A man must feel futile and frustrated when he is voted like a Hitler Youth.

The secret ballot and the voting machine will not make all men pure, but they will somewhat lessen, and perhaps appreciably, the power of the boss. State contests have little to do with purity; they are generally over who is to be accepted as the local party boss. That is always the issue; it is true in both parties. The party boss, in support or opposition, rarely stands for principle; he associates himself with the candidate other than the one who recognized his adversary. This is as old as the convention itself.

I defy anyone to know who actually voted in a yes or no, in viva voce vote, the delegates or the balconies. I personally watched the balconies shout, yes and no, some of them shouting both times. No presiding officer can truthfully say which way the delegates vote unless a delegation is polled.

Without a secret ballot with voting machines, the balconies may decide an issue. That may be what is nowadays called democracy; it comes closer to mob rule. You saw on television pin-point portraits of the balconies; you must have wondered how some of those persons got in at all. Yet, they could yell as loud as a delegate.

What is said here is not in criticism of Taft or Eisenhower or the Republicans. It applies to all parties and all candidates.

That Body of Yours

By JAMES W. BARTON, M.D.

THE MIRACLE DRUGS

"Briefly stated, arthritis means rheumatism of the joints. When a patient asks me to explain the difference between rheumatism and arthritis, I say rheumatism includes all forms. When rheumatism attacks a joint, it is called arthritis. When it attacks the nerves, it is called neuritis; the muscles—myositis, the fibrous tissue—fibrositis and so on all down the line."

I am quoting from the preface of Arthritis and the Rheumatic Diseases by Dr. Philip Lewin, professor and chairman of the Department of Bone and Joint Surgery, Northwestern University School of Medicine.

While many physicians, including arthritis specialists, still believe that infection is the commonest cause of arthritis, Dr. Lewin lists infection as among the following: injury, exposure, infection, and the endocrine glands. The most annoying signs and symptoms are pain and stiffness, swelling, tenderness and deformity.

After trying to find the cause or causes of arthritis, in fact, while trying to find the cause, the chief objects in the mind of the physician are: relief from pain, keeping the joint active or moving as much and as far as the patient can withstand the pain, prevention of deformities, prevention of disability and "if the golden period of prevention has run out, restoration of movement, correction of deformities and restoration of usefulness of the joint."

Many patients think of ACTH and Cortisone as being the same, while others know the difference. Dr. Lewin states, "One can say that Cortisone is made in the laboratory (synthetically) like other drugs and chemicals that are manufactured." ACTH is made from the pituitary glands of animals. ACTH can stimulate one of the glands, the adrenal, situated one above each kidney, to make Cortisone "inside" the body.

While admitting the great importance of the miracle drugs (ACTH and Cortisone) in relieving symptoms and preventing destruction of bones and joints, Dr. Lewin states that once arthritis has done considerable damage, even the miracle drugs cannot bring about a cure. "After the bones of the knee have lost their billiard-ball smoothness and have attained a washboard roughness, one cannot expect much more than to smooth over some of the rough spots."

However, at present about 50 per cent can be relieved of all their complaints and 85 per cent can be relieved of three-quarters of their trouble.

I referred to Dr. Lewin's book some months ago but, as this information is a true picture of what to expect and what not to expect from the miracle drugs, it is worth repeating.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

Ed. Note—Prior to the Democratic Convention, which promises to be one of the hottest in years, Drew Pearson is writing a series of columns diagnosing the qualifications of the candidates.)

Washington.—The most surprising of all the candidates in the Democratic stable is William Averell Harriman, former polo player, millionaire stockholder of the Union Pacific Railroad, ex-ambassador to England and Russia, and mutual security administrator.

When Harriman first started campaigning nobody took him seriously. A few of his friends were kind enough to observe that he might make a pretty good vice president. But that was all.

In fact, the only man who really took his candidacy seriously was Averell himself. And he has taken it so seriously and worked at it so hard, that he has ended up as one of the top contenders for the Democratic nomination.

Ex-Congressman John Carroll of Denver dropped into the White House the other day to tell the President how Harriman had come out to Colorado with all the cards stacked against him, but done such a terrific job that he defeated such stalwart Democratic delegates as Senator Ed Johnson and Secretary of the Interior Oscar Chapman.

Highbinder Father

Probably the most surprised of all at the emergence of Averell Harriman as a crusading liberal would be his father, one of the toughest highbinders ever to milk the stock of a public utility. It was Edward Harriman who built the Union Pacific, then engaged in the famous battle with Jim Hill to control the Northern Pacific, a battle which did not end until it caused a crash in Wall Street.

Ed Harriman's motto was the public be damned. His son's motto is the public comes first. And almost everything he has done has been the exact opposite of his father—even to the point that friends accuse him of trying to atone for the economic sins of the past generation.

More likely perhaps is that Averell is following in the footsteps of his grandfather, a devout Episcopalian minister. He is an example of what happens in few countries of the world outside the United States and England—a young man of wealth who conscientiously tries to devote his life to public service.

Some of Averell's old friends have been unkind enough to say that if he hadn't been born with a silver spoon in his mouth he wouldn't have been able to feed himself. They have also made wisecracks about his lack of business ability and the lucky break for the Harriman fortune that Averell chose to go into government rather than business.

It is true that Harriman has now resigned as chairman of the Union Pacific, and that he has given up his former directorships in the Illinois Central and Western Union. But it is also true that he has kept a weather eye on his main property, the Union Pacific, with the result that that railroad's coal mines have the best safety record of any in the United States.

"Harriman has not always been a crusading liberal, however. In 1944, the Justice Department planned to bring a criminal anti-trust suit against his railroad, together with most of the other roads west of the Mississippi. Harriman himself was to have been named as defendant in the criminal conspiracy. When President Roosevelt reviewed the case, however, he said: "We can't indict our ambassador to Russia."

That alone probably saved the western roads from facing criminal charges. Instead the Justice Department switched the case to a civil one.

Harriman was most indignant. The railroads, he apparently felt, had every right to conspire to fix rates. "If this be conspiracy," he wrote the Interstate Commerce Commission, "then the railroads of the country need better and bigger conspiracies."

Harriman is also campaigning today as the great friend of labor, and he seems to be sincere about it. But just four years ago when the Taft-Hartley Act was up for discussion at the White House, Harriman, then secretary of commerce, did his best to persuade the President not to veto it.

And when the President was about to send a stiff message to the 80th GOP Congress on economic controls in [illegible] also did his best to dissuade the President. At that time the Republicans claimed that no controls were necessary and Senator Taft led a heated battle to abolish them entirely. Truman ruled otherwise. However, he did so, over the head of his secretary of commerce, Mr. Harriman, who took a line inside the cabinet somewhat similar to Taft's that even the big steel companies would submit to voluntary price controls.

The strike arguments of the past few months have given some indication of how wrong Averell can be.

Despite some mistakes, Averell Harriman has been right on several important things. He was, for instance, one of the first to warn Washington what lay ahead with Soviet Rusisa. As ambassador to Moscow, Harriman did his best to push military aid to to the Red Army, also to establish U.S.U.S.S.R. cooperation. But when he found it impossible, he began sending a steady drum-beat of warnings back to Washington.

Able To Learn

The most important thing about Harriman is that he has learned. His views have not solidified with the passing of the years. They have broadened. Beginning as a slow, timid, ponderous person when he first came to Washington, Averell has gradually grown up.

I recall talking to him after Roosevelt and Churchill met on a battleship in the North Atlantic in the early days of the war. Harriman was with them, and upon his return I dropped in to see if I could pick up some human interest stories. I knew Averell well enough to realize that I could get no diplomatic secrets from him—not even an inkling. He was too much of a scared rabbit.

So I asked him a few simple, nonsecret questions, about pleasantries and pastimes aboard ship. Averell, however, was hesitant. Finally I asked whether the Prime Minister and President wore evening dress when they dined on the battleship at night.

"I am afraid," said Harriman, "that that would be confidential and I must not discuss it."

As I walked out of his hotel, I glanced at the afternoon papers. They featured a picture of Roosevelt and Churchill aboard ship in evening dress.

About ten years has passed since then, but in that ten years, the onetime timid Mr. Harriman has become a rip-roaring, rostrum-pounding candidate for president. And I'm almost beginning to think he might make a pretty, good one.

Very Few With Wide Experience Know Anything About Executive Department

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, July 17 — Many people have written in to ask this writer just what is meant by the word "experience" as a qualification for the presidency of the United States.

So far as experience in national or international affairs is concerned, very few men who are candidates for the presidency have a knowledge of the executive branch of the government.

Looking back at past presidents, there were plenty of them who had good records of "experience" on paper but wo didn't make good in the White House.

The most conspicuous instance of this is the case of William Howard Taft, Republican, who had served as secretary of war in the cabinet, as governor general of the Philippines, as a federal court judge, and who was supposed to know more about government than anybody else who had been a candidate up to that time. "Experience" was one of the principal arguments in his behalf in the 1908 campaign, which he won by a landslide.

But it didn't take long for the Taft administration to go on the rocks because its leader lacked a knowledge of the psychology of the times, otherwise known as "political judgment." He failed to discern the progressive movement that was rising in the country, and he signed a tariff which he later admitted had an important schedule of rates which were "indefensible."

Then there is the case of Governor Woodrow Wilson of New Jersey, Democrat, who had had only two years of experience in the governorship. The rest of his life had been spent in collegiate and academic work. Yet he became a great president and directed America's affairs through World War 1.

Another case is that of Herbert Hoover, Republican, who was elected to the presidency of the United States without ever having run for any office before, either of a major or minor character. He had been in the Coolidge cabinet and he had served as a food administrator and relief administrator in wartime. But none of this "experience" fitted him to deal with the worst economic depression in American history.

Another instance is that of Warren Harding, Republican, whose only experience was in the Senate of the United States. He, like Harry Truman, Democrat, never had the slightest knowledge of administrative affairs before being elected to the presidency.

Theodore Roosevelt, Republican, had been an assistant secretary of the navy and for a short time governor of New York before he came to the White House. He had had very little experience in handling national problems. But he made a good president.

Franklin D. Roosevelt, Democrat, had been governor of New York, but he had had absolutely no experience with national problems, except the navy, of which he was an assistant secretary in World War 1. In fact, when he came to the White House, he had a very definite prejudice against centralized government, which was derived from his experience in state affairs. He quickly changed his viewpoint and became the greatest exponent of an enlarged central government that America has seen.

The question is not how much "experience" a man has who comes to the White House, but what is his basic knowledge of human relationships, and what is his judgment on human affairs, and above all, what is his character and how much integrity he has.

The biggest problem before the American government today is international relations involving both military and economic cooperation with Europe and the rest of the free world. It's the largest item in the budget.

The next biggest problem involves the adjustment of rival and conflicting groups in the national economy—a task that requires the utmost tact and yet persistence in harmonizing and reconciling persons of opposite viewpoint.

The particular talent which makes a president effective in developing public policies is not related to how many years he has been intimately identified with government as such or how much he knows of the technical side of government. It is primarily related to the kind of personality the man has and how well he can get along with people.

Few men in current history have had the opportunity that General Eisenhower has had to participate in such large affairs of government as the organization of the allied invasion of Normandy. The problems was not just military, but involved delicate relationships with allied governments as well as administrative duties of a far-reaching nature. It was the Eisenhower personality which enabled the job to be done with the minimum amount of friction between allies.

When the time came to organize the North Atlantic Treaty Organization, General Eisenhower was called to that post not just because it was primarily a military job but because it involved again diplomatic relationships with other governments.

The presidents who have had considerable "experience" have often not made good, whereas many who have not had "experience" have been among our best presidents.

Perhaps the best illustration is that of Abraham Lincoln. He came to the White House after only one term in the Congress of the United States and without previous knowledge or experience with the Washington scene. His personality, his patience, his understanding of human relationships meant more than mere administrative "experience."

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

Chicago, July 15—I have a little, hysterical tract before me, one of a peck or a pound of such rubbish that a man in my line of work gets every day in the mail, which says, to begin: "Genuine democracy will work" and then says: "Our 700,000 American steel workers are deserving, honorable, hard-working American citizens. Not one genuine American citizen would deny the inescapable fact that they are."

Now, wait a minute.

Nobody knows whether genuine democracy will work or not. It depends. It depends on the size of the community for one thing. It depends on the intelligence and moral character of the people. But, in a large community such as the United States, democracy cannot work and the most "democratic" institutions that we have, namely the unions, are tyrannies run by brutal, thieving dictators or equally brutal dictators who are not thieves in the personal sense but thieves nevertheless who extort money from their subjects and use it for purposes which the subjects would never permit if they had any voice in the matter. If you know of any more "democratic" institutions in our country than these union autocracies, just name them to me and I will expose their democracy for the dirty, cruel fraud that it is. Democracy is found in tiny bodies, such as a few little known religious sects that affect a drab habit, rule by councils elected through popular vote and all that, but continue to exist only because they are small and surrounded by the stout protection of a nation organized as a sovereign collection of republics, not democracies, united in a republican federation of republics. No patriotic man, intelligent enough to deserve a hearing before intelligent Americans, has any excuse to talk up democracy to Americans. It is not workable, except to its own dissolution within a short time, and those who holler it up to our people never undertake to justify democracy in preference to the republican form of government because it can't be done. Most of these who prattle democracy think democracy means philanthrophy, without knowing what philanthrophy means, either. They ought to study up and shut up and that goes for most of our journalistic punditti.

Now, about the proposition that "our 700,000 American steel workers are deserving, honorable, hard-working American citizens" and the silly assumption that no genuine American would deny this:

I don't know any steel workers. There are many more Americans who never met one than who did. If we are going to consider whether all 700,000 steel workers are deserving, let us first ask what they are deserving of. Some of them, in the run of things, will be deserving of hell-fire along with the average proportion of the rest of us, except Roosevelts, whose average will be markedly higher. On the basis of the police statistics in the tough towns where steel is made, a liberal proportion of the steel workers deserve jail for wife-beating, rioting, fighting and other routine violations of morals, manners and the public laws. They are a rough, tough lot whose disorderly conduct has been romanticized into a homely virtue.

It is no important fact, if it is a fact, that most or even all of the steel workers work hard. Millions of other human beings do, and for no other reason than their inability to get by without working hard. If they didn't have to work, they wouldn't, and lots of good

KINGSTON, NEW YORK, JULY 17, 1952

IKE MUST PLOT HIS OWN COURSE

General Dwight D. Eisenhower, the Republican presidential nominee, has a great task ahead of him. A political novice and an amateur in domestic affairs, he must now develop a program and learn how to take command of his own political fortunes.

He won the GOP nomination because he was the most popular candidate. His popularity is rooted in trust in him as a man, in his character and his motives and his qualities of leadership.

In the month he campaigned as a political figure, he spelled out no specific policies. He talked in general terms, indicating broad approaches. Yet he was not taken wholly on faith. For the general had already proved himself as a soldier, diplomat and statesman in two of the most crushing assignments that any American has ever assumed.

It is natural for many people to feel that a man who could do what Eisenhower has done as a commander of wartime and postwar armies might well master the art of domestic statecraft.

It is natural, too, that many are disposed to turn to a new face, a man without malice, who stands out so sharply against the tired old faces that today so heavily populate both major parties. Politically speaking, Eisenhower is a clean sheet of paper on which nothing sordid or disheartening has so far been written.

In his quest for the nomination, he had the further advantage of representing the moderate elements of the Republican Party. Since 1940, these forces have always proved strong enough to choose a presidential nominee, though they have not had the power to wrest control away from the more conservative wing in the intervening years.

Curiously, Senator Taft is himself a moderate Republican in many important respects. But he has become a symbol of more extreme elements. In campaigning he has not striven hard to shake this label. He has been content to let it apply.

This association with extreme conservatives, plus some aspects of Taft's personality, underlie the widely held conviction that "Taft can't win," the devastating argument that brought him again to defeat in his third try for the nomination.

Eisenhower is free of these handicaps. But he has a full set of his own. Up to now he has been acquiescing in political decisions affecting his campaign, rather than commanding. If he is not to be a mere creature of others, he must now take hold and chart his own course.

More than that, he must begin to offer evidence to the voting public that the faith and trust the people have in him is not misplaced.

With all its corruption and decay and internal disorder, the Democratic party is still a powerful force in American politics. The political analysts who have troubled to examine closely the voting habits of the U. S. electorate are unanimous in concluding that the Democrats have a substantial majority.

The Republicans are unlikely to wrest away any crucial part of this majority—or to convince new voters—unless they formulate a constructive program that offers all Americans real hope.

It is Eisenhower's task, therefore, to translate the trust that is felt in him as a man into trust for the political party he now leads.

SEA GLORY FLIES WITH NEW LINER

In the days when clipper ships slid down the ways of New England shipyards and set their courses for the seven seas, America's merchant marine ruled the seas. When the clippers were relegated to limbo by iron ships, our merchant mariners began wallowing in the wake of other nations.

A proud new liner with a proud old name—the S. S. United States—has brought back our sea-going glory again. Not since 1851, when the steamer Pacific crossed in nine days, 19 hours and 25 minutes, has an American merchant ship flown the mythical blue ribbon of Atlantic supremacy.

The new liner's speed—35 knots or 41 mph—may not seem fast in this atomic age. But it's still something to stir the hearts of Americans to know the fastest ship on all the oceans flies the Stars and Stripes.

CONVENTION REFORM

There are those who enjoy chasing after events as though everything in life were a three-alarm fire. The Republican Convention, to me, was an irritant because I saw 2,412 Americans, delegates and alternates, regimented into a noisy mass. The same will happen at the Democratic Convention.

Television has made you a witness to this unsavory situation. You witnessed the demonstrations, all but one of which were professionally organized and directed. The extra help was hired. The only exception was the spontaneous expression of respect for Herbert Hoover. And of all things, that one was started by Senator Wayne Morse of Oregon, who, while not agreeing with Hoover in ideas, has the breeding that impels him to do the decorous act.

Television has already outmoded the convention. Those who watched on television saw more than anyone could have in the convention hall. Do you remember that New York delegation being polled, with Dewey ordering people around, his face tense? Only those who watched on television could see that in all its ferocity.

The object of the direct primaries was to limit the power of the party bosses. It has not worked out that way in either party. Actually, the party boss is as strong as he ever was. This is partly due to the apathy of the people and partly to the huge cost of politics. It is estimated that pre-convention and convention activities cost the Republicans of all factions between $20,000,000 and $30,000,000. This is an absurdly high figure. It puts the Presidency up for sale.

Only one method is available for saving the convention and restoring self-respect for the delegates. That is to institute a secret ballot, using voting machines. Under the rules, delegates vote by states. Under some of the laws governing primaries, delegates pledged to a candidate must vote for him for a varying number of ballots. In such circumstances, the secret ballot loses some of its effectiveness, since the delegates are already pledged to a candidate.

The primary laws are so varied that they have become an additional element of confusion. What is necessary is some uniformity in the primaries, but this seems difficult, if not impossible, because election laws are passed by state legislators for their own states. There is no Federal election law, except as corrupt practices appear or are charged in the election of Federal officials. Thus, it is possible to have 48 varieties of primaries, and it is amazing how ingenious the human mind can be in devising instruments of confusion.

Nevertheless, if the delegates knew that at each convention their votes would be secret; that each delegate had to vote for himself; that no other person could vote in his name—the delegate might face this responsibility with more dignity and a greater sense of usefulness. A man must feel futile and frustrated when he is voted like a Hitler Youth.

The secret ballot and the voting machine will not make all men pure, but they will somewhat lessen, and perhaps appreciably, the power of the boss. State contests have little to do with purity; they are generally over who is to be accepted as the local party boss. That is always the issue; it is true in both parties. The party boss, in support or opposition, rarely stands for principle; he associates himself with the candidate other than the one who recognized his adversary. This is as old as the convention itself.

I defy anyone to know who actually voted in a yes or no, in viva voce vote, the delegates or the balconies. I personally watched the balconies shout, yes and no, some of them shouting both times. No presiding officer can truthfully say which way the delegates vote unless a delegation is polled.

Without a secret ballot with voting machines, the balconies may decide an issue. That may be what is nowadays called democracy; it comes closer to mob rule. You saw on television pin-point portraits of the balconies; you must have wondered how some of those persons got in at all. Yet, they could yell as loud as a delegate.

What is said here is not in criticism of Taft or Eisenhower or the Republicans. It applies to all parties and all candidates.

That Body of Yours

THE MIRACLE DRUGS

"Briefly stated, arthritis means rheumatism of the joints. When a patient asks me to explain the difference between rheumatism and arthritis, I say rheumatism includes all forms. When rheumatism attacks a joint, it is called arthritis. When it attacks the nerves, it is called neuritis; the muscles—myositis, the fibrous tissue—fibrositis and so on all down the line."

I am quoting from the preface of Arthritis and the Rheumatic Diseases by Dr. Philip Lewin, professor and chairman of the Department of Bone and Joint Surgery, Northwestern University School of Medicine.

While many physicians, including arthritis specialists, still believe that infection is the commonest cause of arthritis, Dr. Lewin lists infection as among the following: injury, exposure, infection, and the endocrine glands. The most annoying signs and symptoms are pain and stiffness, swelling, tenderness and deformity.

After trying to find the cause or causes of arthritis, in fact, while trying to find the cause, the chief objects in the mind of the physician are: relief from pain, keeping the joint active or moving as much and as far as the patient can withstand the pain, prevention of deformities, prevention of disability and "if the golden period of prevention has run out, restoration of movement, correction of deformities and restoration of usefulness of the joint."

Many patients think of ACTH and Cortisone as being the same, while others know the difference. Dr. Lewin states, "One can say that Cortisone is made in the laboratory (synthetically) like other drugs and chemicals that are manufactured." ACTH is made from the pituitary glands of animals. ACTH can stimulate one of the glands, the adrenal, situated one above each kidney, to make Cortisone "inside" the body.

While admitting the great importance of the miracle drugs (ACTH and Cortisone) in relieving symptoms and preventing destruction of bones and joints, Dr. Lewin states that once arthritis has done considerable damage, even the miracle drugs cannot bring about a cure. "After the bones of the knee have lost their billiard-ball smoothness and have attained a washboard roughness, one cannot expect much more than to smooth over some of the rough spots."

However, at present about 50 per cent can be relieved of all their complaints and 85 per cent can be relieved of three-quarters of their trouble.

I referred to Dr. Lewin's book some months ago but, as this information is a true picture of what to expect and what not to expect from the miracle drugs, it is worth repeating.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

Ed. Note—Prior to the Democratic Convention, which promises to be one of the hottest in years, Drew Pearson is writing a series of columns diagnosing the qualifications of the candidates.)

Washington.—The most surprising of all the candidates in the Democratic stable is William Averell Harriman, former polo player, millionaire stockholder of the Union Pacific Railroad, ex-ambassador to England and Russia, and mutual security administrator.

When Harriman first started campaigning nobody took him seriously. A few of his friends were kind enough to observe that he might make a pretty good vice president. But that was all.

In fact, the only man who really took his candidacy seriously was Averell himself. And he has taken it so seriously and worked at it so hard, that he has ended up as one of the top contenders for the Democratic nomination.

Ex-Congressman John Carroll of Denver dropped into the White House the other day to tell the President how Harriman had come out to Colorado with all the cards stacked against him, but done such a terrific job that he defeated such stalwart Democratic delegates as Senator Ed Johnson and Secretary of the Interior Oscar Chapman.

Highbinder Father

Probably the most surprised of all at the emergence of Averell Harriman as a crusading liberal would be his father, one of the toughest highbinders ever to milk the stock of a public utility. It was Edward Harriman who built the Union Pacific, then engaged in the famous battle with Jim Hill to control the Northern Pacific, a battle which did not end until it caused a crash in Wall Street.

Ed Harriman's motto was the public be damned. His son's motto is the public comes first. And almost everything he has done has been the exact opposite of his father—even to the point that friends accuse him of trying to atone for the economic sins of the past generation.

More likely perhaps is that Averell is following in the footsteps of his grandfather, a devout Episcopalian minister. He is an example of what happens in few countries of the world outside the United States and England—a young man of wealth who conscientiously tries to devote his life to public service.

Some of Averell's old friends have been unkind enough to say that if he hadn't been born with a silver spoon in his mouth he wouldn't have been able to feed himself. They have also made wisecracks about his lack of business ability and the lucky break for the Harriman fortune that Averell chose to go into government rather than business.

It is true that Harriman has now resigned as chairman of the Union Pacific, and that he has given up his former directorships in the Illinois Central and Western Union. But it is also true that he has kept a weather eye on his main property, the Union Pacific, with the result that that railroad's coal mines have the best safety record of any in the United States.

"Harriman has not always been a crusading liberal, however. In 1944, the Justice Department planned to bring a criminal anti-trust suit against his railroad, together with most of the other roads west of the Mississippi. Harriman himself was to have been named as defendant in the criminal conspiracy. When President Roosevelt reviewed the case, however, he said: "We can't indict our ambassador to Russia."

That alone probably saved the western roads from facing criminal charges. Instead the Justice Department switched the case to a civil one.

Harriman was most indignant. The railroads, he apparently felt, had every right to conspire to fix rates. "If this be conspiracy," he wrote the Interstate Commerce Commission, "then the railroads of the country need better and bigger conspiracies."

Harriman is also campaigning today as the great friend of labor, and he seems to be sincere about it. But just four years ago when the Taft-Hartley Act was up for discussion at the White House, Harriman, then secretary of commerce, did his best to persuade the President not to veto it.

And when the President was about to send a stiff message to the 80th GOP Congress on economic controls [illegible] also did his best to dissuade the President. At that time the Republicans claimed that no controls were necessary and Senator Taft led a heated battle to abolish them entirely. Truman ruled otherwise. However, he did so, over the head of his secretary of commerce, Mr. Harriman, who took a line inside the cabinet somewhat similar to Taft's that even the big steel companies would submit to voluntary price controls.

The strike arguments of the past few months have given some indication of how wrong Averell can be.

Despite some mistakes, Averell Harriman has been right on several important things. He was, for instance, one of the first to warn Washington what lay ahead with Soviet Rusisa. As ambassador to Moscow, Harriman did his best to push military aid to to the Red Army, also to establish U.S.U.S.S.R. cooperation. But when he found it impossible, he began sending a steady drum-beat of warnings back to Washington.

Able To Learn

The most important thing about Harriman is that he has learned. His views have not solidified with the passing of the years. They have broadened. Beginning as a slow, timid, ponderous person when he first came to Washington, Averell has gradually grown up.

I recall talking to him after Roosevelt and Churchill met on a battleship in the North Atlantic in the early days of the war. Harriman was with them, and upon his return I dropped in to see if I could pick up some human interest stories. I knew Averell well enough to realize that I could get no diplomatic secrets from him—not even an inkling. He was too much of a scared rabbit.

So I asked him a few simple, nonsecret questions, about pleasantries and pastimes aboard ship. Averell, however, was hesitant. Finally I asked whether the Prime Minister and President wore evening dress when they dined on the battleship at night. "I am afraid," said Harriman, "that that would be confidential and I must not discuss it."

As I walked out of his hotel, I glanced at the afternoon papers. They featured a picture of Roosevelt and Churchill aboard ship in evening dress.

About ten years has passed since then, but in that ten years, the onetime timid Mr. Harriman has become a rip-roaring, rostrum-pounding candidate for president. And I'm almost beginning to think he might make a pretty, good one.

Very Few With Wide Experience Know Anything About Executive Department

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, July 17 — Many people have written in to ask this writer just what is meant by the word "experience" as a qualification for the presidency of the United States.

So far as experience in national or international affairs is concerned, very few men who are candidates for the presidency have a knowledge of the executive branch of the government.

Looking back at past presidents, there were plenty of them who had good records of "experience" on paper but wo didn't make good in the White House.

The most conspicuous instance of this is the case of William Howard Taft, Republican, who had served as secretary of war in the cabinet, as governor general of the Philippines, as a federal court judge, and who was supposed to know more about government than anybody else who had been a candidate up to that time. "Experience" was one of the principal arguments in his behalf in the 1908 campaign, which he won by a landslide.

But it didn't take long for the Taft administration to go on the rocks because its leader lacked a knowledge of the psychology of the times, otherwise known as "political judgment." He failed to discern the progressive movement that was rising in the country, and he signed a tariff which he later admitted had an important schedule of rates which were "indefensible."

Then there is the case of Governor Woodrow Wilson of New Jersey, Democrat, who had had only two years of experience in the governorship. The rest of his life had been spent in collegiate and academic work. Yet he became a great president and directed America's affairs through World War 1.

Another case is that of Herbert Hoover, Republican, who was elected to the presidency of the United States without ever having run for any office before, either of a major or minor character. He had been in the Coolidge cabinet and he had served as a food administrator and relief administrator in wartime. But none of this "experience" fitted him to deal with the worst economic depression in American history.

Another instance is that of Warren Harding, Republican, whose only experience was in the Senate of the United States. He, like Harry Truman, Democrat, never had the slightest knowledge of administrative affairs before being elected to the presidency.

Theodore Roosevelt, Republican, had been an assistant secretary of the navy and for a short time governor of New York before he came to the White House. He had had very little experience in handling national problems. But he made a good president.

Franklin D. Roosevelt, Democrat, had been governor of New York, but he had had absolutely no experience with national problems, except the navy, of which he was an assistant secretary in World War 1. In fact, when he came to the White House, he had a very definite prejudice against centralized government, which was derived from his experience in state affairs. He quickly changed his viewpoint and became the greatest exponent of an enlarged central government that America has seen.

The question is not how much "experience" a man has who comes to the White House, but what is his basic knowledge of human relationships, and what is his judgment on human affairs, and above all, what is his character and how much integrity he has.

The biggest problem before the American government today is international relations involving both military and economic cooperation with Europe and the rest of the free world. It's the largest item in the budget.

The next biggest problem involves the adjustment of rival and conflicting groups in the national economy—a task that requires the utmost tact and yet persistence in harmonizing and reconciling persons of opposite viewpoint.

The particular talent which makes a president effective in developing public policies is not related to how many years he has been intimately identified with government as such or how much he knows of the technical side of government. It is primarily related to the kind of personality the man has and how well he can get along with people.

Few men in current history have had the opportunity that General Eisenhower has had to participate in such large affairs of government as the organization of the allied invasion of Normandy. The problems was not just military, but involved delicate relationships with allied governments as well as administrative duties of a far-reaching nature. It was the Eisenhower personality which enabled the job to be done with the minimum amount of friction between allies.

When the time came to organize the North Atlantic Treaty Organization, General Eisenhower was called to that post not just because it was primarily a military job but because it involved again diplomatic relationships with other governments.

The presidents who have had considerable "experience" have often not made good, whereas many who have not had "experience" have been among our best presidents.

Perhaps the best illustration is that of Abraham Lincoln. He came to the White House after only one term in the Congress of the United States and without previous knowledge or experience with the Washington scene. His personality, his patience, his understanding of human relationships meant more than mere administrative "experience."

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

Chicago, July 15—I have a little, hysterical tract before me, one of a peck or a pound of such rubbish that a man in my line of work gets every day in the mail, which says, to begin: "Genuine democracy will work" and then says: "Our 700,000 American steel workers are deserving, honorable, hard-working American citizens. Not one genuine American citizen would deny the inescapable fact that they are."

Now, wait a minute.

Nobody knows whether genuine democracy will work or not. It depends. It depends on the size of the community for one thing. It depends on the intelligence and moral character of the people. But, in a large community such as the United States, democracy cannot work and the most "democratic" institutions that we have, namely the unions, are tyrannies run by brutal, thieving dictators or equally brutal dictators who are not thieves in the personal sense but thieves nevertheless who extort money from their subjects and use it for purposes which the subjects would never permit if they had any voice in the matter. If you know of any more "democratic" institutions in our country than these union autocracies, just name them to me and I will expose their democracy for the dirty, cruel fraud that it is. Democracy is found in tiny bodies, such as a few little known religious sects that affect a drab habit, rule by councils elected through popular vote and all that, but continue to exist only because they are small and surrounded by the stout protection of a nation organized as a sovereign collection of republics, not democracies, united in a republican federation of republics. No patriotic man, intelligent enough to deserve a hearing before intelligent Americans, has any excuse to talk up democracy to Americans. It is not workable, except to its own dissolution within a short time, and those who holler it up to our people never undertake to justify democracy in preference to the republican form of government because it can't be done. Most of these who prattle democracy think democracy means philanthropy, without knowing what philanthropy means, either. They ought to study up and shut up and that goes for most of our journalistic punditti.

Now, about the proposition that "our 700,000 American steel workers are deserving, honorable, hard-working American citizens" and the silly assumption that no genuine American would deny this:

I don't know any steel workers. There are many more Americans who never met one than who did. If we are going to consider whether all 700,000 steel workers are deserving, let us first ask what they are deserving of. Some of them, in the run of things, will be deserving of hell-fire along with the average proportion of the rest of us, except Roosevelts, whose average will be markedly higher. On the basis of the police statistics in the tough towns where steel is made, a liberal proportion of the steel workers deserve jail for wife-beating, rioting, fighting and other routine violations of morals, manners and the public laws. They are a rough, tough lot whose disorderly conduct has been romanticized into a homely virtue.

It is no important fact, if it is a fact, that most or even all of the steel workers work hard. Millions of other human beings do, and for no other reason than their inability to get by without working hard. If they didn't have to work, they wouldn't, and lots of good

Dramatic CD Film Will Be Presented At Local Theatre

A film dramatizing the importance of communications in a large industrial city following a bombing attack will be shown at the Kingston Theatre Sunday, Monday and Tuesday, sponsored by the local Civil Defense organization.

The film, And a Voice Shall Be Heard, 22 minutes long, simulates the havoc of a raid on Syracuse, depicting in drama-packed footage the swift mobilization of the city to restore communications, stem fire and succor the stricken.

Robert J. Kreines, Civil Defense deputy director in charge of public information, said today that local Civil Defense would present several interesting features during the three days as a demonstration of local organization in communications. He said there would be several walkie-talkies (mobile communication units) in operation in front of the theatre, in addtiion to the three mobile units of the local organization.

"Hams" Are Invited

The importance of "ham" radio operation will also be demonstrated and any Ulster county amateur radio operators interested are invited to come to the theatre, observe and ask questions. Kreines said that local taxis with mobile units would also participate in the demonstration.

Ways Are Reviewed

Using the city of Syracuse as an example, the film reviews the many ways in which communications serve the city dweller in his daily living. It then demonstrates the vital role these facilities play when the city undergoes an atomic attack.

The picture, true to the traditional March of Time documentary technique, was filmed on location in Syracuse and uses no professional actors. Every scene is authentic in background and execution and all Civil Defense volunteers play their real-life roles.

Especially topical in these troubled times, Kreines pointed out, the film offers reassurance and hope to the American people. He said that the film convincingly demonstrated that an atomic attack need not permanently cripple a city nor demoralize the populace, that with a well-integrated Civil Defense organization the American city can fight back—and win—against disaster.

Child Health Clinics Scheduled Next Week

Two child health conferences are scheduled July 22 and 23, the Ulster County Health Department said today.

On July 22 the clinic will be held at the clinic rooms, 97 Broadway, Kingston, from 10 a. m. until 12 o'clock noon. The July 23 clinic will be held at the Accord Health Center from 1 until 3 p. m.

These clinics are limited to infant and pre-school children for the purpose of improving child health through early recognition of defects, advice regarding nutrition, instruction of parents in understanding of growth and development, handling of minor behavior difficulties and the administering of immunizations for smallpox, diphtheria, tetanus and whooping cough.

Prince May Visit Rita

Cannes, France, July 17 (AP)—Prince Aly Khan said today he is going to the United States at the end of the month and probably will visit his estranged wife, American movie actress Rita Hayworth, and their daughter, Yasmin. The prince said he intends to attend horse sales in Saratoga, N. Y., in August "and probably after that I will go to Hollywood to see Rita and Yasmin."

Meter Unlike Wife

Denver (AP) — Traffic Policeman Joe Breusch says he found this scrawled on a card stuck in a downtown parking meter: "Out of order, won't take money. Gad, how I wish my wife was like that."

Two Cars Sideswipe

Automobiles driven by John F. Terrio, 32, of Bayside, L. I., and Lawrence Morris, 51, of Jackson Heights, sideswiped on a curve on Route 9W five miles north of Highland about 6:10 p. m. Wednesday, state police reported. Troopers said the accident occurred after a tire on the Morris vehicle blew out. No personal injuries were reported and no arrest was made.

Dramatic CD Film Will Be Presented At Local Theatre

A film dramatizing the importance of communications in a large industrial city following a bombing attack will be shown at the Kingston Theatre Sunday, Monday and Tuesday, sponsored by the local Civil Defense organization.

The film, And a Voice Shall Be Heard, 22 minutes long, simulates the havoc of a raid on Syracuse, depicting in drama-packed footage the swift mobilization of the city to restore communications, stem fire and succor the stricken.

Robert J. Kreines, Civil Defense deputy director in charge of public information, said today that local Civil Defense would present several interesting features during the three days as a demonstration of local organization in communications. He said there would be several walkie-talkies (mobile communication units) in operation in front of the theatre, in addtiion to the three mobile units of the local organization.

"Hams" Are Invited

The importance of "ham" radio operation will also be demonstrated and any Ulster county amateur radio operators interested are invited to come to the theatre, observe and ask questions. Kreines said that local taxis with mobile units would also participate in the demonstration.

Ways Are Reviewed

Using the city of Syracuse as an example, the film reviews the many ways in which communications serve the city dweller in his daily living. It then demonstrates the vital role these facilities play when the city undergoes an atomic attack.

The picture, true to the traditional March of Time documentary technique, was filmed on location in Syracuse and uses no professional actors. Every scene is authentic in background and execution and all Civil Defense volunteers play their real-life roles.

Especially topical in these troubled times, Kreines pointed out, the film offers reassurance and hope to the American people. He said that the film convincingly demonstrated that an atomic attack need not permanently cripple a city nor demoralize the populace, that with a well-integrated Civil Defense organization the American city can fight back—and win—against disaster.

Child Health Clinics Scheduled Next Week

Two child health conferences are scheduled July 22 and 23, the Ulster County Health Department said today.

On July 22 the clinic will be held at the clinic rooms, 97 Broadway, Kingston, from 10 a. m. until 12 o'clock noon. The July 23 clinic will be held at the Accord Health Center from 1 until 3 p. m.

These clinics are limited to infant and pre-school children for the purpose of improving child health through early recognition of defects, advice regarding nutrition, instruction of parents in understanding of growth and development, handling of minor behavior difficulties and the administering of immunizations for smallpox, diphtheria, tetanus and whooping cough.

Weekly Food Review

(By The Associated Press)

Retail egg prices climbed sharply again this week. Frying chickens and several popular cuts of meat advanced a few cents a pound in many markets.

Food price reductions were confined largely to a handful of fresh fruits and vegetables and to shopping specials being promoted to attract customers.

Top grade eggs went up 3 to as much as 10 cents a dozen compared with last week. Dealers said heat waves in several important poultry sections had killed many laying hens, slowed production generally, and made it hard to maintain top egg quality transit.

Egg prices have climbed 10 to 25 cents a dozen in the past three weeks in several major markets, and consumer price resistance was reported to be showing up.

Orders Are Cut

"Some of the smaller stores have cut their orders in half lately because their customers won't buy eggs at these prices," one big New York wholesaler said. "Demand from the bigger markets still is good enough to absorb the supply, but the price resistance seems to have halted the long rise for a while."

Another big supplier said it was still too early to count on getting many real bargains and pee-wee size eggs.

"The supply of the smaller eggs still is too light to take much buying, pressure off the larger eggs," he said.

Frying Chickens Up

Frying chickens were up 4 to 7 cents a pound in many stores, reflecting increased demand, and several lamb and pork cuts moved up 1 to 4 cents a pound. Most beef items were about unchanged. Spokesmen for three large store chains said smoked and cooked hams, small turkeys and legs or rumps of veal appeared to be among the better meat buys in most markets this week.

On the fresh produce counters, snap beans and beets were plentiful and lower-priced, and celery, broccoli, cabbage, lettuce and tomatoes were down a little compared with last week. Spinach, eggplant and peppers were in lighter supply and higher priced.

Melons Cost More

Cantaloupes cost a little more as demand increased with the hot weather, but watermelons and honeydews moved a little lower. Also lower and plentiful: Grapes, cherries, plums, apricots and figs. Peaches were marked down a trifle but most of the supplies were still the early varieties and produce men said volume shipments of the popular freestone yellow Elbertas were just beginning to reach the major markets.

Blueberries were abundant and in the reasonable price class. Raspberries were getting harder to find.

Lemons Are Lower

Lemons were a little lower but still relatively high-priced, and grapefruit and nectarines were up slightly.

Shipments of the season's first Bartlett pears from California were picking up, but prices were still at the specialty level.

Price controls on 90 per cent of processed (including frozen) fruits and vegetables were removed this week to conform to a congressional amendment to the Economic Controls Extension Bill. A spokesman for the Office of Price Stabilization estimated that the action could lead to higher prices on foods totaling around 20 per cent of the average family's food budget.

Several food industry authorities said it was doubtful that prices of the decontrolled canned and frozen fruits and vegetables, and dried fruits, would be raised, since most are in good supply and already are selling below the old ceilings. Also, crop prospects generally are good.

They warned, however, that if the steel strike continued much longer, processors would be unable to obtain enough tin cans to process large quantities of perishable farm foods. Supply shortages and possible scare buying by stores and consumers alike might then force prices of some foods higher, these sources said.

Lodges Plan Bake

A committee composed of members of the Craftsmen's Clubs of Kingston Lodge, 10, and Rondout Lodge, 343 F & A M met at the Masonic Temple Tuesday night to formulate plans for their first annual clambake which will be held at Swart's Pavilion, Glenerie Lake Park, Sunday, August 17. The bake will start at 3 p. m., and the tickets may be obtained from members of either Craftsmen's Club or from Frank Williams at the Masonic Temple.

Grange News

Lake Katrine

The Lake Katrine Grange will meet at the hall Monday night, July 21, for a covered dish supper and to clean up the grounds.

Men are requested to come early and to bring rakes, forks and other tools for cleaning up. The ladies will bring covered dish, dishes and silver.

The following will serve on the committee for July and August: Mr. and Mrs. Pratt Boice, chairman; Mr. and Mrs. Percy Bush, Mr. and Mrs. Herman Shuler, Mr. and Mrs. Tracy Munson, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Wille, Mr. and Mrs. W. Krueger, Mrs. Florence Ennist, Myron Boice, Sr., Hubert Brink, Jr.

Chinese May Compete

Helsinki, July 17 (AP)—The International Olympic Committee today voted to allow all Chinese athletes to take part in the Olympic games regardless of political affiliation. The vote on the question was 33 to 20. Dr. Otto Mayer, chancellor of the IOC, said the committee acted on the fundamental principle of allowing all of the youth of the world to participate in the games.

Will Seek Postponement

London, July 17 (AP)—Labor members of Parliament will seek to postpone British ratification of the West German peace contract when it comes up in the House of Commons next week but the Conservative majority of 16 is expected to push the pact through. A private session of 150 Laborite deputies adopted as party policy a declaration, authored by former Prime Minister Clement Attlee, that ratification of the peace contract is "inopportune" at this time.

The blood of oysters is colorless.

Democratic Whoopla Opens With Russell Arrival

Sen. Richard B. Russell of Georgia waves to crowd from his car upon arrival at downtown hotel in Chicago from airport—the first contender for the Democratic presidential nomination to reach the convention city. In car beside Russell are Jacob M. Avrey, Illinois national committeeman and Sen. Ed Johnson (holding banner) of Colorado. Somebody in the background holds a "Win with Harriman" umbrella. President Signs New GI Measure

Washington, July 17 (AP)—President Truman has signed a bill to help GI's released since the start of the Korean war to reestablish themselves in civilian life.

The benefits are much the same as those granted to veterans after World War Two, but there are some important differences.

The act provides the new veterans with money for education and training, mustering out pay, unemployment payments of $26 a week up to a total of 26 weeks, and financial support for home and business loans.

The bill was one of 37 Truman signed yesterday while in Walter Reed Hospital for a checkup.

The program is expected to cost about one billion dollars a year.

The biggest change from the World War Two GI bill is in the method of handling payments and in the type of schools veterans may attend. Congress wrote these in as a means of avoiding abuses under the earlier program.

To Provide Funds

Instead of making payments to the schools for the veteran, the government will provide the veteran with funds to pay his own tuition fee, buy books and handle his living expenses.

The ex-GI can go part time or full time to any school on a list approved by the VA or state agencies.

For each day of military service, a veteran is entitled to 1½ days of education up to a maximum of 36 months. However, a veteran who qualified for training under the World War 2 measure and served after the Korean war started, may have a maximum of 48 months training.

Payments range for full time students from $110 a month if a veteran has no dependents, to $135 if he has one dependent and to $160 if he has more than one dependent.

On-Job Training

A veteran who chooses on-the-job training will receive $70 a month if he has no dependents, $85 if one dependent and $105 if more than one dependent.

House or business loans are under the same regulations as for World War Two veterans.

The act provides mustering out pay for all services below the rank of major or lieutenant commander on the following scale:

For 60 days active duty and service outside the U. S. or in Alaska, $300; 60 days active duty within the U. S., $200; less than 60 days, $100.

Phoenicia Ski Club Had Successful Year

Although snow conditions were not too good last winter the Phoenicia Ski Club, Inc., enjoyed a successful season, Harriet T. Loomis, secretary of the club, said today.

The club had a membership of 82 and received $191.50 from its concession. Out of this income, it was explained, the Ski Hut which was painted this year, has to be maintained. It was pointed out that the slope had been kept in excellent condition.

It was pointed out that all regular bills, such as lights, heating, telephone, gas and upkeep, had been paid.

The slope has all types of skiing, from the steep top to the intermediate slopes and beginner's knolls.

Home Bureau

Bloomingdale Unit

The Bloomingdale Unit of the Home Bureau held a picnic Tuesday at Mrs. Wesp's home on Main street, Rosendale.

Twenty-one attended, including a new member, Mrs. Kenneth Kelder of Maple Hill.

Another picnic will be held Tuesday, Aug. 5, at the Bloomingdale Reformed Church. It will be a covered dish supper.

New Tractors Coming

Two new heavy-duty John Deere 2 and 3 plow tractors, successors to Models "A" and "B," will be announced Saturday by Everett & Treadwell Farm Supplies, North Front street. According to Richard Jones these new tractors feature a host of engineering advancements and major improvements which will make them the greatest values ever offered by John Deere. One of the new models will be on display Saturday and Jones extends a cordial invitation to everyone to stop by and see the new tractor.

183 Persons Are Hurt

New York, July 17 (AP)—Two subway trains crowded with 2,500 perspiring passengers bumped at a station during the rush hour yesterday afternoon, pitching hundreds into tangles on the floor. Police said today that 183 persons had reported injuries in the collision and near-panic which followed. Fifteen of the injured remained in hospitals overnight. Many passengers were treated at the scene and others reported injuries to police after treatment by private physicians.

City Gets Showers

New York, July 17 (AP)—Brief thunder and lightning showers swept over a large part of the metropolitan area starting about 2 a. m. (EST) today, but failed to bring appreciable relief from the sweltering heat now in its sixth day. A high temperature near 90 degrees was predicted for today. The mercury has soared into the 90's since Saturday. Fair and humid weather was forecast for today following the early morning thunder showers.

Racketeer Gives Up

New York, July 17 (AP)—Numbers racketeer Louis Weber surrendered today to begin a five year prison term for lying to the Kefauver Senate Crime Committee. The 52-year-old racketeer tried to conceal from the committee his stealth friendship with James J. Moran, one-time Democratic big-shot in the city administration of William O'Dwyer.

Truman Fights

Texas. One of these, headed by Gov. Allan Shivers, is definitely anti-administration. The other, headed by former Rep. Maury Maverick, is tabbed as a "loyalist" group.

Reaffirms Stand

Truman's call for "bold and resolute" action was interpreted here as reaffirming his stand that the party must not compromise on the civil rights issue.

Platform drafters tackle the question today with organized labor and Negro leaders demanding a plank "at least as strong" as that in the 1948 statement of party aims. That declaration indorsed Truman's call on Congress to create a fair employment practices commission with legal power to prevent job discrimination.

While Russell did an about-face on Taft-Hartley, he showed no inclination to retreat from his opposition to that type of federal agency.

"I will never be for any jail-sentence, compulsory FEPC," Russell told a reporter today.

James B. Carey, secretary-treasurer of the CIO, told newsmen union labor is "not going to be satisfied with a promise like we got from the 1948 convention—we want performance."

Pledges Fight

Sen. Herbert H. Lehman of New York has pledged to carry the fight for a strong plank to the convention floor, if the committee of which he is a member compromises.

On the outcome of this battle may hinge the presidential and vice presidential chances of several candidates. Adoption of an FEPC plank might bring a walkout by some southern delegations although Russell who stayed behind four years ago has said he will take part in no bolt this year either.

Gov. James F. Byrnes of South Carolina, arriving tomorrow, will call the signals if any such move develops.

The approval of a strong civil rights plank would be regarded as a boost for Harriman's candidacy.

Harriman is running as an all-out supporter of the "Fair Deal" program, and his friends feel Truman's convention message helped his chances materially.

Gives No Indication

The President, counted out of the nomination picture here after McKinney's statement that he is determined not to run again, hasn't given any indication publicly of his choice.

He has been represented as favoring Gov. Adlai E. Stevenson of Illinois. But Jacob M. Arvey, Illinois national committeeman, told reporters the governor appears to be definitely out of the running.

Stevenson has insisted he is running only for re-election as governor and "could not" accept the presidential nomination.

"I have no hope at all of changing his mind," Arvey said.

This doesn't preclude the chance, however, that the Illinois delegation might take the matter in its own hands at a Sunday caucus and decide to vote for Stevenson on the first ballot. Arvey said he will go along with whatever decision the delegation makes.

Just how much influence Truman will have on the nomination remains to be seen.

Would Attack Eisenhower

His demand for support of his "Fair Deal" proposals evidently found Russell and Kefauver, as well as some of the other candidates, of a mind that the nomination is likely to go to someone in a position to attack Eisenhower as a "reactionary."

Russell made a point of this in his statement declaring that if he were elected president he would call a labor-management conference to help write a complete substitute for the Taft-Hartley Act.

"The glorification of the Taft-Hartley law in General Eisenhower's program is symbolic of Republican thinking," Russell declared. "They think in terms of the past rather than the present. The Republicans think in terms of reaction. The Democrats think in terms of progress."

Kefauver said he regards Taft-Hartley as "a bad law," and added he had voted for its repeal.

Both Kefauver and Russell claimed they will be nominated in what the Tennessean said would be an "uncontrolled" convention.

Another self-assessment came last night from a third senatorial candidate for the nomination. Sen. Robert S. Kerr of Oklahoma told a St. Louis news conference he thinks he'll cop the prize because he will be the delegates' best second choice.

"As they get acquainted with me," Kerr said, "they'll find they can be just as happy with me as with their first choice."

2 Groups Demand

thirds of the Senate membership now must approve such a debate limitation.

So Much Flypaper

Unless the rules change is made, Reuther said, "all the fine words about the good, the true and the beautiful in the fields of human and civil rights will be just so much pious political flypaper to attract votes."

Gewirtz told the platform drafters that civil rights advocates were tired of "too much lip service and not enough fulfillment." He said Democrats wanting to water down the Truman civil rights goals "had better retreat to the back of the class in practical politics," and added:

"To those Democrats who contend that the liberal-labor coalition and the great independent and minority vote in the country will have no place to go—just one word of warning:

"These groups don't have to go anywhere. They can just stay home (on Election Day)."

Must Have Power

Jack Davis, representing the Federal Bar Association of New York, New Jersey and Connecticut, told the platform group that an FEPC must have enforcement power if it is to be effective.

Experience with state FEPC laws, Davis said in a prepared statement, has shown that enforcement powers seldom have to be used but their existence "is necessary to achieve results through the more desirable methods of education, conciliation, mediation and peaceful persuasion."

Davis said FEPC legislation should include powers to subpoena witnesses and records and "most important, the power to issue cease and desist orders enforceable in the courts and to take remedial awards where warranted."

Two southern members of the drafting committee, Sen. John Sparkman of Alabama and Rep. Brooks Hays of Arkansas, said they hoped a sectional battle could be avoided by writing a civil rights plank acceptable to Dixie.

"But it's a tough situation all right," Hays told a reporter.

Leaders of the two national farm organizations asked the platform writers yesterday to disown the price support policies of President Truman and Secretary of Agriculture Brannan.

Allan B. Lkine, president of the American Farm Bureau Federation, and Herschel Newson, master of the National Grange, said the Truman administration banks too much on artificial and restrictive measures in seeking to make agriculture prosperous.

Twenty publishers turned down "Robinson Crusoe" before it was published. It has been a best seller for more than 200 years.

Says Stagnant Water May Have Caused Birds' Death

Guy Milroy, acting district game protector of the State Conservation Department, at Poughkeepsie, said today he had learned of the report of poisoned birds at Bloomington, and believes the birds have died of botulism caused by drinking water in a stagnant pool.

A Bloomington woman telephoned The Freeman Monday to report that she had noticed birds dying there apparently from poisoning during the past three years, and she suspected they were being deliberately poisoned.

Milroy said, he investigated similar complaints in Dutchess county some time ago and it was found that the birds had died of botulism.

15 Dead Birds Found

The Bloomington woman, who said she had picked up 15 dead birds in her yard Monday morning, had found others before that, reported that she had a test made and it was found that the bird submitted for analysis, had died of poisoning.

Milroy said the Freeman article had been called to his attention, and he felt that the death of the birds in the Bloomington area might also be due to botulism. He indicated he would follow through with an investigation in that area.

The Bloomington woman had reported that robins, chippies, sparrows and bluejays were victims of the poisoning, but Milroy indicated it was unlikely that different type birds would eat the same kind of food in which poison might be placed.

Birds May Use Pool

If there is a stagnant pool in the area, Milroy said, it is possible, "particularly in this hot weather, that the birds might be drinking from it, and are dying of botulism."

The Bloomington woman, who gave her name to a reporter, said she did not want it published because of the fear that her own animals might be poisoned, if someone were deliberately poisoning birds in the area.

Tillson Boy Wins Top Grange Award

Jimmy Yarter of Tillson, a 4-H Club member, took top award in the Better Gardens for Better Living contest sponsored by Rosendale Grange No. 1501, Monday.

The judging, handled by Assistant Ulster County Farm Bureau Agent Goesewich, was based on the point system, including ratings for planning, cultivation, insect and disease control, general appearance and good use of all crops.

In addition to Yarter, who took first prize of $25, Fred Dipple of Williams Lake road was awarded second prize of $15, Walter Paradise of Tillson third prize of $10 and Peter Urbelis of Tillson fourth prize of $5.

So Much Flypaper

Unless the rules change is made, Reuther said, "all the fine words about the good, the true and the beautiful in the fields of human and civil rights will be just so much pious political flypaper to attract votes."

Gewirtz told the platform drafters that civil rights advocates were tired of "too much lip service and not enough fulfillment." He said Democrats wanting to water down the Truman civil rights goals "had better retreat to the back of the class in practical politics," and added:

"To those Democrats who contend that the liberal-labor coalition and the great independent and minority vote in the country will have no place to go—just one word of warning:

"These groups don't have to go anywhere. They can just stay home (on Election Day)."

Food Brings Gripes

Vienna (AP) — In Communist Hungary's nationalized industries, workers complain they find thumb tacks in vegetables served in factory canteens. The Budapest newspapers Szabad Nep recently published a series of complaints from workers. Some of the gripes were: "I fond wire in my vegetables . . . there were pebbles in the soup . . . the cheese and jam were sent on the same plate, were mixed up and inedible . . . one day when things were bad, thumb tacks were in the vegetables."

About 15 tons of rock are processed for each ton of fiber in Quebec's asbestos industry.

Alfalfa frequently is called lucerne.

Financial and Commercial

New York, July 17 (AP) — A sharp jump ahead by Southern Natural Gas today enlivened an otherwise quiet and slightly droopy stock market.

The utility advanced as much as 5 points at around 60 following a proposal for a two-for-one split coupled with a dividend declaration of 70 cents as against 62½ cents previously paid quarterly. Trading in the stock, however, was light.

The key groups of steels, motors and railroads were unchanged to around a point lower.

Throughout the remainder of the list prices ranged over a spread of around a point either way.

Trading was at a rate of around a million shares a day. Yesterday's total was 1,120,000 shares.

Lower prices were paid for Republic Steel, Chrysler, Northern Pacific, Baltimore & Ohio, Anaconda Copper, Dow Chemical, and United Aircraft. Higher were Homestake Mining, International Paper, Aluminum Co. of America, and Sears Roebuck. A great many leading issues held unchanged.

The market started moderately active with prices steady. A mild sort of profit-taking in early stages clipped the top off the gains, and the market then entered a period of gradually softening prices.

Corporate bonds were mostly lower. U. S. Governments in the over the counter market were steady.

Cost of Liquor Boosts Sales of Wine, Is Report

By SAM DAWSON

New York, July 17 (AP)—Americans are drinking about one fourth more wine this year than last—thanks in part to the tax collector who makes hard liquor so expensive.

But while the American consumer is being kind to the wine pressers, the weather man has been too kind to the California grape growers in recent years. Wine shipments mount steadily, but so do the inventories.

And so prices of bulk table wines shipped by tank to bottlers are now down to about a third of what they were a year ago. American vineyards have produced record crops, and the big supply of wine has weakened prices.

California, which sells about 85 per cent of the wine consumed in the United States, has wine inventories running 30 per cent above a year ago, and in excess of the annual rate of sales—although its shipments so far this year have run about 13 per cent higher than last year.

Has Same Trouble

France is having the same trouble with high inventories — but its trouble comes from different circumstances: the French people are drinking less wine than formerly, partly because prices over there have risen.

All of this refers to common table wine. The story of high-quality wine is different. The French are having no trouble selling that. Most of it goes for export.

Many brands of champagne are practically unobtainable in France, according to Alfred Fromm, president of Paul Masson Vineyards, Saratoga, Calif., who is just back from there.

This is because of the French concentration on export markets, says another American wine merchant just back from Europe—Richard L. Blum, Jr., president of Julius Wile Sons & Co., American wine importers. He thinks there'll be plenty of the French quality wines for the American market, and that prices will hold fairly steady.

U. S. Is Competing

Fromm says that America is now competing in the world wine markets. California quality wines are going to Brazil and other South American countries, and to Japan and the Philippine Islands. His company also has a small order from Egypt.

And Fromm says he hopes to set up agencies in England and Germany to sell California wine there, "as soon as their curbs on dollar spending make it possible." As of now, Europe frowns on its nationals spending scarce American dollars on wine.

Americans—who first got their vines from Europe—are exporting grape vines to Europe now, Fromm says. He explains that the American plants are free of diseases plaguing the European grape grower, who grafts various grape vine types on the healthy California roots.

American wine growers are starting a drive to get a higher tariff on imported wines. John Daniel, Jr., president of the Inglenook Vineyard Co., Napa Valley, Calif., and chairman of the executive committee of the Wine Institute, says Americans are unafraid of competing with the fine-quality foreign wines, but thinks cheap bulk wines from Europe could flood the country.

The 1930 rate of $1.25 a gallon tariff has been cut to 37½ cents. About five per cent of the wine Americans drink is imported.

The Wine and Spirits Wholesalers of America, Inc., estimate wine sales will be up 25 per cent this year over last, while hard liquor sales will be down 15 per cent.

Why? One reason: The federal tax on hard liquor has jumped to $10.50 a gallon. The tax on a gallon of wine is 67 cents.

NO SUBWAY THIS—This picture was taken in San Antonio, Tex., and it looks as if the city is getting a new subway. On the contrary, instead of being a subterranean tube, the "subway" is the high-flying upper deck of the Air Force's XC-99. That's the cargo-carrier version of the B-36 bomber. The huge ship, 182 feet long, with a 230-foot wingspan, routinely carries a payload of more than 100,000 pounds.

GI Cooks Italian Dishes

Jersey City, N. J., (AP)—"Dear Mama Mia—please send stuff for pizza and spaghetti." So wrote Pfc. Sam Mercurio, a Hoboken GI in Korea, a couple of months ago. His family, which runs a restaurant, sent "the works." Sam couldn't get all the GIs who wanted the tasty Italian dishes into one tent. Some ate their share in the snow. Sam, who did the cooking, said the results were so good they ran short. Volunteers are now sending home for more supplies.

Says Faster Jets Will Be Allied Threat to Red Plan

Seoul, Korea, July 17 (AP)—Dismal weather blotted out the Korean air war today after American fliers Wednesday reported shooting down one of the best Communist jet pilots they have met.

Fast U. S. Sabre jets were challenged in three dogfights over North Korea late Wednesday by a flight of 50 Russian-built MIGs, described as "the cream of the crop."

"The best MIG planes I have seen up there yet," commented Capt. Arthur H. McCarthy, Dearborn, Mich., who was credited with destroying one of the Red jets—his first. U. S. losses, if any, were not reported.

The U. S. chief of naval operations meanwhile arrived in Korea with promise of a new allied threat to the deadly Communist jets—faster carrier jets.

Adm. William L. Fechteler said the navy has two or three carrier jets in production which are equal or better than the Communist MIG-15, and able to take off and land on the Essex-type, medium carrier.

The naval operations boss said if the Reds pour their warplanes into the battle either against navy ships or allied grond forces, "Gen. (Mark W.) Clark has his instructions." The navy is prepared to carry out the orders of the U. S. Far East command as well as those of the UN, he added.

Lauds Pending Loan

Fechteler praised as "a good beginning" the pending loan of 68 small U. S. warships to the Japanese for use in guarding their coastal waters. Negotiations are under way, in accordance with congressional instructions, Fechteler said, for lending eighteen 300 foot patrol frigates and fifty 159 foot landing ships.

Fechteler and Vice Adm. Robert P. Briscoe, commander of U. S. Far Eastern naval forces, flew to Seoul from Tokyo for an inspection of ground forces.

The U. S. Far East air force announced the toll of the biggest allied air strike of the war last Friday—about 1,000 Communist military installations destroyed or damaged in the target areas of Pyongyang, Sariwon and Hwangju. Photos showed a direct hit on Red communication headquarters at Pyongyang, and 60 per cent of the structure was wiped out.

Ground action was isolated and sporadic.

Two small fights broke out on the west last night—one north of Korangpo and another south of Panmunjom.

Another enemy probe early this morning near Panmunjom was repulsed after a five-minute fight.

On the central front, a United Nations patrol battled an enemy company for two hours early this morning before pulling back. Ten Communists were reported killed in another brief action nearby.

On the eastern tip of the battlefront, a Communist platoon was pulled back after a five minute probe south of Kosong.

China Sells Food

New Delhi (AP)—India in 1951 bought 100,000 metric tons of foodgrains from Russia in exchange for tea, shellac, tobacco and jute, Food Minister R. A. Kidwai told questioners in parliament. There is no proposal to buy any Soviet foodgrains in 1952 he added. Red China, however, has offered to sell 100,000 tons of rice on a cash basis and the offer has been accepted, Kidwai said.

Food Brings Gripes

Vienna (AP) — In Communist Hungary's nationalized industries, workers complain they find thumb tacks in vegetables served in factory canteens. The Budapest newspapers Szabad Nep recently published a series of complaints from workers. Some of the gripes were: "I fond wire in my vegetables . . . there were pebbles in the soup . . . the cheese and jam were sent on the same plate, were mixed up and inedible . . . one day when things were bad, thumb tacks were in the vegetables."

About 15 tons of rock are processed for each ton of fiber in Quebec's asbestos industry.

Alfalfa frequently is called lucerne.

Financial and Commercial

New York, July 17 (AP) — A sharp jump ahead by Southern Natural Gas today enlivened an otherwise quiet and slightly droopy stock market.

The utility advanced as much as 5 points at around 60 following a proposal for a two-for-one split coupled with a dividend declaration of 70 cents as against 62½ cents previously paid quarterly. Trading in the stock, however, was light.

The key groups of steels, motors and railroads were unchanged to around a point lower.

Throughout the remainder of the list prices ranged over a spread of around a point either way.

Trading was at a rate of around a million shares a day. Yesterday's total was 1,120,000 shares.

Lower prices were paid for Republic Steel, Chrysler, Northern Pacific, Baltimore & Ohio, Anaconda Copper, Dow Chemical, and United Aircraft. Higher were Homestake Mining, International Paper, Aluminum Co. of America, and Sears Roebuck. A great many leading issues held unchanged.

The market started moderately active with prices steady. A mild sort of profit-taking in early stages clipped the top off the gains, and the market then entered a period of gradually softening prices.

Corporate bonds were mostly lower. U. S. Governments in the over the counter market were steady.

Cost of Liquor Boosts Sales of Wine, Is Report

By SAM DAWSON

New York, July 17 (AP)—Americans are drinking about one fourth more wine this year than last—thanks in part to the tax collector who makes hard liquor so expensive.

But while the American consumer is being kind to the wine pressers, the weather man has been too kind to the California grape growers in recent years. Wine shipments mount steadily, but so do the inventories.

And so prices of bulk table wines shipped by tank to bottlers are now down to about a third of what they were a year ago. American vineyards have produced record crops, and the big supply of wine has weakened prices.

California, which sells about 85 per cent of the wine consumed in the United States, has wine inventories running 30 per cent above a year ago, and in excess of the annual rate of sales—although its shipments so far this year have run about 13 per cent higher than last year.

Has Same Trouble

France is having the same trouble with high inventories — but its trouble comes from different circumstances: the French people are drinking less wine than formerly, partly because prices over there have risen.

All of this refers to common table wine. The story of high-quality wine is different. The French are having no trouble selling that. Most of it goes for export.

Many brands of champagne are practically unobtainable in France, according to Alfred Fromm, president of Paul Masson Vineyards, Saratoga, Calif., who is just back from there.

This is because of the French concentration on export markets, says another American wine merchant just back from Europe—Richard L. Blum, Jr., president of Julius Wile Sons & Co., American wine importers. He thinks there'll be plenty of the French quality wines for the American market, and that prices will hold fairly steady.

U. S. Is Competing

Fromm says that America is now competing in the world wine markets. California quality wines are going to Brazil and other South American countries, and to Japan and the Philippine Islands. His company also has a small order from Egypt.

And Fromm says he hopes to set up agencies in England and Germany to sell California wine there, "as soon as their curbs on dollar spending make it possible." As of now, Europe frowns on its nationals spending scarce American dollars on wine.

Americans—who first got their vines from Europe—are exporting grape vines to Europe now, Fromm says. He explains that the American plants are free of diseases plaguing the European grape grower, who grafts various grape vine types on the healthy California roots.

American wine growers are starting a drive to get a higher tariff on imported wines. John Daniel, Jr., president of the Inglenook Vineyard Co., Napa Valley, Calif., and chairman of the executive committee of the Wine Institute, says Americans are unafraid of competing with the fine-quality foreign wines, but thinks cheap bulk wines from Europe could flood the country.

The 1930 rate of $1.25 a gallon tariff has been cut to 37½ cents. About five per cent of the wine Americans drink is imported.

The Wine and Spirits Wholesalers of America, Inc., estimate wine sales will be up 25 per cent this year over last, while hard liquor sales will be down 15 per cent.

Why? One reason: The federal tax on hard liquor has jumped to $10.50 a gallon. The tax on a gallon of wine is 67 cents.

NO SUBWAY THIS—This picture was taken in San Antonio, Tex., and it looks as if the city is getting a new subway. On the contrary, instead of being a subterranean tube, the "subway" is the high-flying upper deck of the Air Force's XC-99. That's the cargo-carrier version of the B-36 bomber. The huge ship, 182 feet long, with a 230-foot wingspan, routinely carries a payload of more than 100,000 pounds.

GI Cooks Italian Dishes

Jersey City, N. J., (AP)—"Dear Mama Mia—please send stuff for pizza and spaghetti." So wrote Pfc. Sam Mercurio, a Hoboken GI in Korea, a couple of months ago. His family, which runs a restaurant, sent "the works." Sam couldn't get all the GIs who wanted the tasty Italian dishes into one tent. Some ate their share in the snow. Sam, who did the cooking, said the results were so good they ran short. Volunteers are now sending home for more supplies.

Says Faster Jets Will Be Allied Threat to Red Plan

Seoul, Korea, July 17 (AP)—Dismal weather blotted out the Korean air war today after American fliers Wednesday reported shooting down one of the best Communist jet pilots they have met.

Fast U. S. Sabre jets were challenged in three dogfights over North Korea late Wednesday by a flight of 50 Russian-built MIGs, described as "the cream of the crop."

"The best MIG planes I have seen up there yet," commented Capt. Arthur H. McCarthy, Dearborn, Mich., who was credited with destroying one of the Red jets—his first. U. S. losses, if any, were not reported.

The U. S. chief of naval operations meanwhile arrived in Korea with promise of a new allied threat to the deadly Communist jets—faster carrier jets.

Adm. William L. Fechteler said the navy has two or three carrier jets in production which are equal or better than the Communist MIG-15, and able to take off and land on the Essex-type, medium carrier.

The naval operations boss said if the Reds pour their warplanes into the battle either against navy ships or allied grond forces, "Gen. (Mark W.) Clark has his instructions." The navy is prepared to carry out the orders of the U. S. Far East command as well as those of the UN, he added.

Lauds Pending Loan

Fechteler praised as "a good beginning" the pending loan of 68 small U. S. warships to the Japanese for use in guarding their coastal waters. Negotiations are under way, in accordance with congressional instructions, Fechteler said, for lending eighteen 300 foot patrol frigates and fifty 159 foot landing ships.

Fechteler and Vice Adm. Robert P. Briscoe, commander of U. S. Far Eastern naval forces, flew to Seoul from Tokyo for an inspection of ground forces.

The U. S. Far East air force announced the toll of the biggest allied air strike of the war last Friday—about 1,000 Communist military installations destroyed or damaged in the target areas of Pyongyang, Sariwon and Hwangju. Photos showed a direct hit on Red communication headquarters at Pyongyang, and 60 per cent of the structure was wiped out.

Ground action was isolated and sporadic.

Two small fights broke out on the west last night—one north of Korangpo and another south of Panmunjom.

Another enemy probe early this morning near Panmunjom was repulsed after a five-minute fight.

On the central front, a United Nations patrol battled an enemy company for two hours early this morning before pulling back. Ten Communists were reported killed in another brief action nearby.

On the eastern tip of the battlefront, a Communist platoon pulled back after a five minute probe south of Kosong.

China Sells Food

New Delhi (AP)—India in 1951 bought 100,000 metric tons of foodgrains from Russia in exchange for tea, shellac, tobacco and jute, Food Minister R. A. Kidwai told questioners in parliament. There is no proposal to buy any Soviet foodgrains in 1952 he added. Red China, however, has offered to sell 100,000 tons of rice on a cash basis and the offer has been accepted, Kidwai said.

Good Methods Will Help Improve Game

By OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service

As some of my readers probably know, I've missed a couple of the recent national tournaments because I was on duty with the Navy in Japan and in Korea. I'll be getting back to the struggle of the pasteboards, however, when the summer championships begin in Cincinnati July 28.

One of the players of my team will be my associate, Alfred Sheinwold. Today's hand shows him stubbing his toe, but his method of playing the hand may appeal to you even though it didn't work.

West opened the ten of hearts, and dummy won with the king. The only problem, obviously, was to guess how to play the diamonds. Who had the ace of diamonds?

After some thought, Sheinwold decided that the two missing aces were probably divided. If one player held both aces he might have bid or doubled, and since nobody had done either there was a very good chance that the aces were split.

There was no sure way to find out who had the ace of diamonds, but Sheinwold thought he could find out who had the ace of clubs. He just drew trumps with the ace and king and then led the king of clubs from the dummy.

The idea was that East would surely play the ace of clubs if he held it. Then declarer could trump and could proceed on the assumption that the ace of diamonds was in the west hand since the ace of clubs had turned up in the East hand.

The trouble was that East unhesitatingly produced a low club when the king of clubs was led from dummy. So Sheinwold ruffed and assumed that the ace of clubs was in the West hand.

He got back to dummy with a heart and led a diamond. East played low, and declarer hopefully played the king. This lost to the ace, and a second diamond trick was lost later on.

Who was the genius in the East seat? We'll have to withhold his name, because his brilliant play of a low club was an accident. The ace of clubs was stuck under the queen, and he didn't know he had the ace until the hand was almost finished.

What a way to lose a slam.

Water-Walker

The name of the petrel bird is derived from its apparent habit of walking on the water as St. Peter is recorded to have done, according to the Encyclopedia Britannica.

Brush Killers Are Effective

Geneva, N. Y.—The elimination of unwanted brush by means of brush-killing sprays with a minimum of hazard to nearby crops and ornamentals is described by Dr. Otis F. Curtis of the Experiment Station here.

The brush killer is mixed with kerosene or fuel oil and applied to the lower foot of the trunk of the plant to be destroyed. Trees several inches in diameter are more easily killed by this treatment than with foliage sprays, he says.

Most of the newer hormone brush killers contain both 2,4-D and 2,4,5-T and are designed for use in weak water solutions as foliage sprays or in oil solutions for trunk treatment.

"The great disadvantage of the hormone brush killers is that the merest trace of the chemical can injure or kill many crop and garden plants," warns Doctor Curtis. "As little as one one-hundredth of the normal brush-killing dose can seriously damage grapes tomatoes, cabbage and its relatives, and vine crops. Care must be exercised to avoid drift of the spray toward these crops; also sprayers used for applying brush killers should not be used for spraying crops."

To avoid much of this hazard and particularly for use on trees ten feet in height or more, a so-called basal trunk treatment is recommended, using oil instead of water because of its greater penetrating qualities.

The basal treatment can be made at any time of year and a gallon of spray applied by this method will go at least 20 times as far as with foliage spraying. Smaller equipment can also be used such as a knapsack sprayer or even an old paint brush.

Doctor Curtis also gives directions in a Station publication for the destruction of stumps with mixtures of oil and brush killers and by other means.

Church Proves Dangerous

Goa, Portuguese India (AP)—A swarm of bees chased film stars and technicians who were shooting part of the life of St. Francis Xavier in a Goa church recently. Two persons were badly stung. Only a few days before a priest had been bitten by a cobra as he entered the same church.

workings of a national convention. There is a tremendous amount of work that is done by committees and party representatives in setting up the machinery of the convention. Various drafts of the platform are worked upon for several weeks prior to the convention. There is the great detail of assigning delegates and others to hotels, arranging the seating of delegates and alternates and a great deal of attention is devoted to press, television and radio facilities. During the week preceding the convention, hearings were held by the committee on credentials to determine the seating of contested delegates. These hearings were protracted and created widespread interest.

You are all aware of the splendid job that was performed by the press, radio and television in giving the people of this nation a firsthand and visual account of the convention proceedings. For coverage of the convention, space was reserved for 1500 newsmen, 2000 radio and television people and there were nine television coaxial cables and 2200 wires for telephone, radio and telegraph. These splendid facilities gave the people of this nation a story and view of a national convention that is unprecedented in history and I am sure that it has created a great deal of interest in politics. Undoubtedly the coverage to be given the Democratic convention which commences next week will also help in continuing this interest and I believe that this complete coverage will result in the people of the United States being better informed as to the qualifications of the candidates than ever before.

First, I think I should make reference to the fact that in New York state we do not have a preferential primary such as many states have and which results in a delegate being pledged or instructed to vote for a particular candidate. Therefore, the New York delegation (with the exception of one delegate) went to the national convention uninstructed and unpledged. I want to assure the people of this congressional district that my sole purpose in attending as a delegate and voting as I did was to give to the Republican party the strongest candidate and one who will be successful at the polls in November. Before I left for Chicago, and while I was there, I received many letters and telegrams from residents and voters of this congressional district urging me to support Taft, Eisenhower or MacArthur. Frankly, these telegrams and letters were pretty well divided as regards the number asking me to support Senator Taft and General Eisenhower. I interviewed many fellow delegates and alternates and party leaders as well as supporters of all candidates while I was in Chicago and I came to the definite conclusion that the Republican party would be assured of success at the polls this November if their candidate was General Eisenhower.

Unity Came After Voting

For me to say to you that there was not bitterness and acrimony at the convention would be ridiculous. However, I am pleased to report that following the nomination of General Eisenhower, a spirit of unity prevailed. I was greatly pleased by General Eisenhower's prompt action in going to Senator Taft at his headquarters in the Conrad Hilton Hotel and soliciting his support this fall. We all know that customarily a loser goes to congratulate a winner. I think it was a splendid and magnanimous gesture on the part of General Eisenhower to go immediately to Senator Taft and acknowledge that he would need his support and to solicit his aid in the coming campaign. I was equally delighted by the splendid response made by Senator Taft and I am sure that the acts of these two great Americans did more to assure unity during the coming campaign than anything else could have done.

During the period of time that elapsed from the nomination of General Eisenhower until my departure from Chicago, I sensed a spirit of unity and many of my fellow delegates stated to me that they also felt that the strained relations had been pretty well mended even before the departure from Chicago.

No Whip Cracking

I have been asked by many people about Governor Dewey's part in the convention and to comment on the alleged cracking of the whip by the governor. Let me say very frankly and honestly—Governor Dewey did not crack any whip. He didn't have to crack any whip. The New York delegation was overwhelmingly in favor of General Eisenhower and after several days at the convention, this feeling became stronger and more unified with the result that of the 96 delegates, 92 voted in caucus to support General Eisenhower and four voted to support Senator Taft on the first two ballots.

The true story of the loss of the nomination by the Taft forces to the Eisenhower supporters lay in the maneuvering that occurred on the first day of the convention. It is my considered opinion that Taft's lieutenants made a fatal mistake when they agreed to have the Brown Amendment voted upon. This gave all forces that were opposed to Senator Taft a complete picture of his delegate strength and weakness and enabled the opposition forces to mend their fences during the ensuing three days. The psychological effect of Taft's forces losing this first vote by 658 to 548 was never overcome and it led to many delegates who were undecided as to which candidate they would support swinging to Eisenhower. In addition to this factor, it is unquestionably true that some of the Taft forces and supporters were so over-zealous in their efforts to swing delegates to their candidate that they alienated many who might otherwise have supported Senator Taft. This was most unfortunate but it is not a new story in political conventions.

Speeches Inspiring

The speeches of General MacArthur and ex-President Hoover were indeed inspiring and clearly stated the issues in the forthcoming campaign. Ex-President Hoover made what will probably be his final appearance before a national convention and thrilled the convention radio and television audiences with his appeal to the American people.

The selection of 39 year old Senator Richard Nixon of California as General Eisenhower's running mate was indeed fortunate. He is recognized as one of the ablest and most fearless members of Congress. He is a tried campaigner and probably deserves more credit for the exposure and conviction of Alger Hiss than any other person.

Nixon vs. Stevenson?

Incidentally, Gov. Stevenson of Illinois, who is President Truman's choice for the Democratic nomination, testified as a character witness for Hiss on the first trial and if he does become the Democratic candidate, it will be interesting to watch Senator Nixon in action against Gov. Stevenson. Senator Nixon's tremendous popularity in the west, his great knowledge of the Communist problem and his sincere crowd-winning personality makes him a valuable strong running mate on the Republican ticket.

In closing let me make an appeal for a strong united Republican party in the coming campaign. We need it, our nation needs it as never before. Our candidate has been selected. We must give him our undivided support and allegiance if we are to be successful at the polls this November.

Thank you.

Two Injured Fatally

New York, July 17 (AP)—Two men were injured fatally and a woman was knocked down today by an automobile that did not stop. The men, who died at Columbus Hospital, were identified as Ioannis Vlachos, 41, and Nicholas Gavilla, 45, both of Manhattan. The woman was taken to St. Vincent's Hospital, where her condition was reported as critical. She was tentatively identified as Esther Marshall, 28, (Negro), of Manhattan.

Veep's Grandson Released

St. Louis, July 17 (AP)—An 18-year-old youth who described himself as the grandson of Vice President Alben W. Barkley, was released by St. Louis police late yesterday after being held overnight for questioning. The youth said he was Alben William Barkley Truitt, son of Mr. and Mrs. Max O'Rell Truitt of Washington. Mrs. Truitt is a daughter of the vice president. Police reported they found the boy, who said he was hitchhiking to the home of an uncle in Paducah, Ky., in possession of a loaded pistol in a paper bag. Missouri law permit travelers to carry firearms "while moving peacefully through the state."

New Drug Available

Philadelphia, July 17 (AP) — A new drug bringing greater relief to hay fever sufferers is available throughout the country for the coming ragweed season. Phenergan hydrochloride, originally developed in France and produced here by Wyeth, Inc., a Philadelphia pharmaceutical house, has been reported "far superior to those obtained with any other antihistamic agent." Dr. N. E. Silbert, of Lynn, Mass., who tested the drug under clinical observation, said there was a favorable response within half an hour in 98 cases out of 102.

War 2 Plane Found

Manila, July 17 (AP)—Fishermen today found an American Gruman fighter plane, shot down in World War 2, submerged in a nearby lake. It still was intact, its four machineguns loaded with ammunition. Villagers near Lake Laguna, about 20 miles southeast of Manila, said they had rescued the pilot, who bailed out, late in 1944. Military police guards were posted over the plane.

Communists Cut Rates

Hong Kong (AP) — Communist banks in China cut interest rates to private industry as much as 50 per cent last month, the Peiping radio says, This appears to be another Communist effort to speed up industry, which was crippled by the Reds' recent so-called "anti-corruption" campaign against private industry in Red China. Some of the industries which were fined so heavily they had to shut down have been granted both loans and big government orders to get them operating again. Peiping said the new interest rates to private industry ranged from 1.05 to 1.65 per cent.

QUICK WAFFLES made with pancake ready-mix offer an endless variety of meals, including this one served with chicken a la king.

By GAYNOR MADDOX

Quick tricks with waffles are popular news. Made with a pancake ready-mix, crisp and delicious, they offer endless variety with cheese, bits of bacon and ham, nuts and chocolate. Shaved semi-sweet chocolate in this batter makes a perfect dessert waffle when served with ice cream and fruit.

Quick Waffles

Two cups pancake ready-mix, 2 cups milk, 1/3 cup melted butter, fat or oil, 2 eggs.

Place all ingredients in a medium-sized mixing bowl. Beat with a rotary egg beater until batter is fairly smooth. Pour batter onto a hot waffle iron. Bake until iron stops steaming.

Waffles are always good with butter and syrup, but they are also excellent supper or luncheon dishes with creamed chicken, eggs or vegetables. For porch or patio suppers build your menu around crisp corn meal waffles, top with creamed chicken and let outdoor appetites take care of the rest.

A fruit dessert or fresh strawberries and pineapple with iced tea to drink complete this summer meal designed for simple enjoyment on porch or terrace.

Corn Meal Waffles With Chicken a la King

Chicken a la King: One-fourth cup butter, 3 tablespoons flour, 2 cups milk, dash of salt, pepper, 1 cup chopped cooked chicken (about one 5½-ounce can), 1 cup frozen peas, cooked.

For the chicken a la king, melt butter; add flour and blend: Add milk and seasonings and cook until thick, stirring constantly. Continue cooking about 10 minutes, stirring frequently. Add diced cooked chicken and peas and serve over waffles. Garnish with strips of pimiento.

TOMORROW'S MENU

BREAKFAST: Cantaloupe wedges, puffed wheat, whole wheat toast, butter or margarine, jelly, coffee, milk.

As Pegler Sees It

men and women have never done a tap of work.

As to whether they are honorabel, I maintain my doubts. Few persons are. And the steel worker is not endowed by nature with any special virtue that has ever been verified to the public. He may be honorable, but don't ask me to concede that he is because I don't know. The probabilities run against this proposition.

I don't know whether you are honorable. You don't know whether I am. And I am not sure and neither are you that there are 700,000 honorable individuals of all creeds, occupations and other classifications in the entire United States or even in the whole world. What standards of honor are used here? What are the facts? who has heard the evidence and given this judgment? Sez who?

All this nonsense was preamble to a discussion of the closed, or union shop, which are equivalents and heinous refinements of the old-fashioned yellow-dog contract which our pietistical union fakers used to decry as the devil's own doing but presently adopted as their own method of enslaving their subjects forever in league with perfidious Frank Roosevelt. The next projection of the closed, or union shop will be a gimmick forcing fathers to commit their sons to union membership. If you say this is just a crack, I will cite you a case in which a young man wanted the court to ratify his adoption by the father of his wife so that he could qualify for membership in a local of the Brotherhood of Electrical Workers, which restricted new membership to sons of members. The court turned him down. Not to be too messy, the court thought the two young people would be twitted with indecent cracks. The court said the remedy was to rescind the union rule. But the union, being a racket, would go no further than to sell the kid a license to earn his living at honest toil at a cost of 20 per cent of his income.

I rest.

SHOKAN NEWS

Shokan, July 17—Callers in the village during the latter part of the week included Harry Shannon of Baldwin, L. I., who was connected with the Board of Water Supply office at Brown's 40 years ago. Harry, who is stopping at Oehlers' on Route 28A, knew Carleton Davis, Douglas I. McKay and many of the others employed on the big Ashokan Reservoir project.

Joshua Bell of New York is again at the summer bungalow of his daughter, Mrs. John Grant, and is building a couple more rooms onto the house. Josh, having been a boy in the old village some 60 years ago, is right at home in these parts.

A big pig-nut hickory near the L. F. Ruckert apartment house which failed to show signs of life this spring was felled by Leonard with the assistance of Howard Richards and Eddie Brace. After working the tough old tree up into furnace wood, the boys concluded that this was no fit job for the hot time o' the year.

Birthdays falling Saturday, July 19, include that of Mrs. Dorville Boice of Olive Bridge. The former Florence Hover was brought up in the reservoir country and for several years was postmaster at Olive Bridge. She has a daughter, Elinor, a student at Albany State Teachers College.

The 100-year-old Christian Church at Fitches Bridge had its first wedding when Mildred C. Hughes of Delhi was married to Charles W. Siegel of Syracuse. This record exceeds that of the Olive and Hurley O. S. Baptist meetinghouse here in Shokan which, insofar as the writer knows, has never been the scene of marital rites during the 95 years of its existence. While the elders, or ministers, of the Old School Baptist society have officiated at many marriages in the past 151 years since its organization, these nuptials almost invariably took place at the home of the bride's parents.

Charles C. Bayruth of Saugerties is reported to have bought a large lot of George Hauser along the north side of the Onteora Trail. The land is a part of the former Louis Thiel farm, not far from the village center.

Mr. and Mrs. James Carpenter and Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Carpenter of Richmond Hill, L. I., were at the family rented bungalow over the weekend. The Tom Carpenters plan to come here for a month later in the summer. Jim reports that his second son, Tommy, who signed up for a hitch in the army two years ago and is stationed at a camp in Mississippi, has recently been promoted to a teachership in electronics.

Licenses Can Be Renewed in August

It is a good time to check your operator's license and note whether it expires September 30. If so it should be renewed prior to expiration date. Operator's licenses will be renewable at the Ulster County Motor Vehicle Bureau office on Main street beginning August 1.

When the three year law went into effect all operator's licenses then in effect were renewed on a three year basis, thus the majority of them will expire the last of September. However, there are some operator's licenses which were issued at a later date which may not expire this year.

Because of the large number of operators who will renew their licenses in September, it is suggested an early application be made.

Rec Group Launches 1952 Swim Program

Wallkill, July 16—The recreation committee of the Wallkill Chamber of Commerce has begun its swimming program. Buses leave Wallkill from the Lester Lines station at 8:45 a. m. for Tillson Lake. Children over 10 years of age who have not registered and who desire to be included, should contact George Vogel at the Titus Insurance Company.

Swimming instructors are Mrs. Jean Kazimer and Donald Woodworth, both of whom are qualified Red Cross instructors.

Since the program will be unable to receive any financial aid from the Red Cross this year, it means that quite a bit more money will have to be raised locally to take care of expenses of instruction, transportation and admissions.

The recreation committee plans events to raise money and families of swimming students and other interested persons will have the opportunity of helping. Organizations in the section will be contacted and asked to try to sponsor one particular event each in the next few months for the benefit of the recreation program. Also coin collection containers will be placed around the village shortly Mr. Vogel said.

The committee acknowledges with thanks the first donation towards this year's program, given by the Wallkill Central School Alumni Association. Any contributions from individuals or organizations may be given to Mr. Vogel, treasurer of the Recreation Committee.

Residents Warned On Use of Water

Edmund T. Cloonan, water department superintendent, today called attention to violations of requested lawn sprinkling regulations in the city.

The water department, he said, has requested that consumers refrain from sprinkling lawns except from 7 to 9 a. m., and 7 to 9 p. m., to prevent reduced water pressure in higher areas of the city.

It was hoped when this request was made, he said, that there would be more cooperation, but some local residents are known to "disregard this request completely."

The water department is empowered, he stressed, to stop completely the use of water for sprinkling, if it is found necessary. It is hoped that local water consumers will be more considerate of this request, he said, and unless there is "stricter adherence" more drastic regulations may become necessary.

May Decide Today

New York, July 17 (AP)—The long and bitter fight for extended stock market trading hours and a five-day week came up for decision today before the board of governors of the New York Stock Exchange. More Flying Saucers

Washington, July 17 (AP)—The air force followed a familiar routine today — sending through channels its latest flying saucer report. Two airline pilots, First Officers W. B. Nash and W. H. Fortenberry, reported in Miami eight objects 100 feet in diameter glowing like red hot coals and traveling 1,000 miles an hour passed directly beneath their plane over Chesapeake Bay on Tuesday night.

Finds No Substitute

San Francisco, July 17 (AP)—A four-year survey by more than 200 experts on how to improve the nation's legal profession came up with this: There's no substitute for a thorough college education and good character. The newly-released book of findings came out against private study — Abraham Lincoln's method — and correspondence school training. It advocated at least three years of college pre-legal training.

Family Builds Schooner

Pasadena, Calif. (AP)—When the William J. Williams family build a boat they do it first-class—even if it takes 2½ years. The family recently finished their 40-foot schooner, The Enif, in their backyard and now have visions of entering the beautiful vessel in the 1953 Honolulu race. Williams, a former sea captain, hand-sewed the sails for the yacht, working over 560 square feet of canvas in the family's living room.

Hudson Man Stabs Wife to Death

Hudson, N. Y., July 17 (AP)—A 31-year-old mill worker, who police said admitted stabbing his wife to death with a butcher knife after she threatened to leave him, was held today on a first-degree manslaughter charge.

Police said Francis Loomis gave himself up yesterday and admitted orally that he had slain 26-year-old Harriet Pulver Carroli. She was Loomis' common-law wife and the mother of two children, police reported.

District attorney John N. McLaren said Loomis was too hysterical to enter a plea when arraigned in city court. The case was adjourned until Friday and Loomis was ordered held without bail in the Columbia county jail.

Loomis was quoted as saying that he and his wife had been quarreling over the type of women with whom she associated and that she had threatened to leave him.

"I couldn't bear that," Loomis told police.

Horses Still in Demand

Glidden, Ia., (AP) — Old Dobbin may have retired from most Midwest farms, but he's still in demand in the Northeastern United States, Billy Merritt, horse-buyer, says. Merritt says he is shipping a carload of horses every week from Glidden to logging camps in Maine and to the Northeastern truck gardening area. Merritt, who attends horse auctions in Iowa, Nebraska and Missouri, says a good young draft horse brings about $100. The horses have to be big and strong and teams must be matched. So far, Merritt says, he has shipped 10 carloads of horses this year.

They paraded down the city's main streets, followed by a police loudspeaker car exhorting the populace to lock their doors and take other preventative action against crime.

Police Alerted For Missing Girl

Local police and area state police were asked yesterday to be watchful of information which might shed light on the disappearance of a 10-year-old Sun Dance, Wyo., girl, missing from Camp Sloan, Lakeville, Conn., more than 24 hours.

The Associated Press reported from Lakeville that the last person known to have seen the girl, Connie Smith, were the occupants of a home about a mile from the camp. State Police Lieutenant Osmund Avery said the girl stopped there about 8 a. m., yesterday, inquiring how to get to Lakeville.

She was directed toward Route No. 44 which runs west from Lakeville to Millerton, N. Y., the next town, from where routes lead to Kingston and Albany, N. Y.

Mother in Greenwich

Mrs. Helen J. Smith, the girl's mother, was in Greenwich visiting relatives while her daughter was at the camp. She came here immediately on learning of Connie's disappearance.

Camp officials could give no reason for the girl's running away, except that she may have been homesick. She disappeared while going to the camp dispensary for treatment for a minor bruise she had suffered in a fall, state police said.

Besides checking homes in the area, state police said they had inquired of bus lines, trucking companies and other sources whereby the girl might have obtained transportation out of the area.

She had no money with her, as far as camp officials knew. When last seen, she was wearing a red jacket, blue shorts and tan shoes.

Decision Is Awaited

Philadelphia, July 17 (AP) — A week in advance of the Democratic national convention's first presidential ballot, Pennsylvania delegates still are waiting for a decision on whom they will support. That decision may not come until the first caucus of the 70-vote delegation in Chicago Sunday evening, or later. As of today, an Associated Press poll shows 35 votes scattered among seven presidential possibilities, with the other half of the delegation unwilling even to express a preference at this time.

'Freedom Gate' Opened

Munsan, Korea, July 17 (AP)—The "Freedom Gate" bridge across the Imjim river on the road to Panmunjom, the truce talks village, was officially opened today. A five car train crossed the steel girder bridge to mark the opening. The 2,307-foot bridge, three miles northwest of Munsan and the only permanent high level span across the turbulent Imjim, will be used to transport Communist-held allied prisoners of war if a Korean armistice is signed.

Thanks Are Expressed

Mayor Oscar V. Newkirk received recently in resolution form the thanks and appreciation of the New York State Christian Endeavor Union for cooperation and courtesies received during its convention here in May. The resolution said "the host church, through its pastor, consistory, members and facilities, made our stay a pleasant and most welcome one," and many "thoughtful courtesies" were extended by the mayor, city officials and police department.

'Red Dean' Continues

Opposition Is Beaten

Madras, India, July 17 (AP)—The Madras Legislature overrode Communist opposition today and approved continuation of statewide prohibition of alcoholic liquors. The Reds wanted an inquiry into how prohibition was working with the idea of scrapping the law if necessary.

The best way to retain most of the nutrients of the potato is to cook it in its jacket.

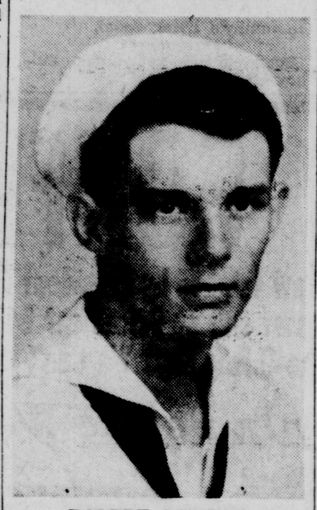
Saves Mate



ROBERT BUNTEN

Robert Bunten, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Bunten, Sr., 349 Broadway, who is serving aboard the USS Currituck, was recently praised in the columns of his ship's newspaper for the rescue of a shipmate in the waters off Trinidad. The newspaper report follows: "Robert Bunten, Second Division, acted fast to save the life of a shipmate the last day in Trinidad when he went to the rescue of Jack McWilliams of V Division. While climbing the outboard starboard Jacob's ladder, McWilliams lost his grip and fell into the 'drink.' Bunten, who had seen McWilliams' plight from the seaplane deck, made his way down the guestwarp to the rearming boat and tried to grab McWilliams by the belt. The swells kept the boat away from the ladder and McWilliams lost his hold. Bunten then dived into the water and pulled him to safety."

Washington, July 17 (AP)—The fate of the so-called wonder drug chloromycetin is still being considered by medical experts probing into reports it may have caused blood disorders and some deaths. In the meantime, the Food and Drug Administration (FDA) said today, the American Medical Association and the drug's manufacturer, Parke Davis and Co., have warned doctors against "indiscriminate" use of the antibiotic. Chloromycetin, trade name for choramphenicol, is medicine's best bet so far against typhoid fever. It also has been used effectively against Rocky Mountain spotted fever, whooping cough, typhus fever, scrub typhus, undulant fever and urinary tract infections.

Police Alerted For Missing Girl

Local police and area state police were asked yesterday to be watchful of information which might shed light on the disappearance of a 10-year-old Sun Dance, Wyo., girl, missing from Camp Sloan, Lakeville, Conn., more than 24 hours.

The Associated Press reported from Lakeville that the last person known to have seen the girl, Connie Smith, were the occupants of a home about a mile from the camp. State Police Lieutenant Osmund Avery said the girl stopped there about 8 a. m., yesterday, inquiring how to get to Lakeville.

She was directed toward Route No. 44 which runs west from Lakeville to Millerton, N. Y., the next town, from where routes lead to Kingston and Albany, N. Y.

Mother in Greenwich

Mrs. Helen J. Smith, the girl's mother, was in Greenwich visiting relatives while her daughter was at the camp. She came here immediately on learning of Connie's disappearance.

Camp officials could give no reason for the girl's running away, except that she may have been homesick. She disappeared while going to the camp dispensary for treatment for a minor bruise she had suffered in a fall, state police said.

Besides checking homes in the area, state police said they had inquired of bus lines, trucking companies and other sources whereby the girl might have obtained transportation out of the area.

She had no money with her, as far as camp officials knew. When last seen, she was wearing a red jacket, blue shorts and tan shoes.

Decision Is Awaited

Philadelphia, July 17 (AP) — A week in advance of the Democratic national convention's first presidential ballot, Pennsylvania delegates still are waiting for a decision on whom they will support. That decision may not come until the first caucus of the 70-vote delegation in Chicago Sunday evening, or later. As of today, an Associated Press poll shows 35 votes scattered among seven presidential possibilities, with the other half of the delegation unwilling even to express a preference at this time.

'Freedom Gate' Opened

Munsan, Korea, July 17 (AP)—The "Freedom Gate" bridge across the Imjim river on the road to Panmunjom, the truce talks village, was officially opened today. A five car train crossed the steel girder bridge to mark the opening. The 2,307-foot bridge, three miles northwest of Munsan and the only permanent high level span across the turbulent Imjim, will be used to transport Communist-held allied prisoners of war if a Korean armistice is signed.

Thanks Are Expressed

Mayor Oscar V. Newkirk received recently in resolution form the thanks and appreciation of the New York State Christian Endeavor Union for cooperation and courtesies received during its convention here in May. The resolution said "the host church, through its pastor, consistory, members and facilities, made our stay a pleasant and most welcome one," and many "thoughtful courtesies" were extended by the mayor, city officials and police department.

'Red Dean' Continues

Opposition Is Beaten

Madras, India, July 17 (AP)—The Madras Legislature overrode Communist opposition today and approved continuation of statewide prohibition of alcoholic liquors. The Reds wanted an inquiry into how prohibition was working with the idea of scrapping the law if necessary.

ROBERT BUNTEN

Robert Bunten, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Bunten, Sr., 349 Broadway, who is serving aboard the USS Currituck, was recently praised in the columns of his ship's newspaper for the rescue of a shipmate in the waters off Trinidad. The newspaper report follows: "Robert Bunten, Second Division, acted fast to save the life of a shipmate the last day in Trinidad when he went to the rescue of Jack McWilliams of V Division. While climbing the outboard starboard Jacob's ladder, McWilliams lost his grip and fell into the 'drink.' Bunten, who had seen McWilliams' plight from the seaplane deck, made his way down the guestwarp to the rearming boat and tried to grab McWilliams by the belt. The swells kept the boat away from the ladder and McWilliams lost his hold. Bunten then dived into the water and pulled him to safety."

top of his class. While this was a distinction, it did not immediately put him on the glory road. Between dull tours in France with American Battle Monuments Commission, he later graduated from the Army War College.

In 1933, Major Eisenhower was assigned to the office of the Chief of Staff. Here began seven years of service under Douglas MacArthur, seven years in which Ike worked, and some say, was hidden under the shadow of his dynamic, colorful boss.

Much has been said about the dramatic schism between MacArthur and Eisenhower. How much of this is personal cannot be definitely traced. Some of the more popular legends are doubtful. Especially the story that MacArthur once said, "Eisenhower was the best clerk I ever had." To which Ike allegedly responded, "I took dramatic lessons under MacArthur for seven years."

Wrote of Desire

This much is definite. In 1940, according to "Man From Abilene" by Kevin McCann, Eisenhower wrote a fellow officer:

". . . I would like . . . for those in authority to know that I have earnestly tried for many years to get an assignment to troops. . . . Unfortunately, General MacArthur would never allow those requests to be made of record. . . ."

In Washington, under MacArthur, Eisenhower managed to achieve some professional notice as a writer of brilliant army reports but the public never heard of him. During the "bonus march" newspapers published pictures of MacArthur on the scene, talking with "an aide." The aide was Eisenhower.

And, in his five years as MacArthur's chief of staff in the Philippines, the public heard little more of Lt. Col. Eisenhower.

In 1940, Ike returned to the states, pleading, cajoling, writing letters for an "assignment to troops." That year he wrote his friend, Mark Clark, that he hoped to get a regimental command under George Patton.

Saw No Objection

"They will probably think me a conceited individual," Ike said, "but I see no objection to setting your sights high."

Late in the summer of 1941, as the pace of world history quickened, Ike's career suddenly gathered speed. He was named chief of staff of the Third Army. In Louisiana maneuvers, featuring broom-sticks and dummy plaster-board tanks, he won credit for a major role in the "defeat" of the 2nd Army."

For the first time, Ike got his picture in the papers, in his own right. A caption identified him as "Lt. Col. D. D. Ersenbeing."

The victory also brought him to the attention of Gen. George C. Marshall, who summoned him to Washington seven days after Pearl Harbor. There, the austere chief of staff spent 20 minutes outlining the dire situation in Hawaii and the Philippines, and then abruptly asked the brand-new, temporary brigadier general:

"What should be our general line of action?"

Trying, as he later recalled, to keep a pocker face, Ike answered, "give me a few hours."

Brings Recommendation

A few hours later, he returned with his recommendation: Although it would be a long time before the Philippines could receive major reinforcements, everything possible had to be for them; "the people of China, of the Philippines, of the Dutch East Indies will be watching us;" Australia must be set up and expanded as a great American base.

Marshall said he agreed with Ike.

Ike found himself being drawn more and more into planning and further from his dream, a combat command. In February, 1942, he was made head of the War Planning Division. The next month he was sent to London by Marshall to prepare a highly strategic report, "directive for the commanding general, European theatre of operations."

On June 8, Marshall read the report. On June 11, Ike had his orders. He was to fly to London and take full command of the ETO.

Youngsters Adrift in Boat

Milwaukee, Wis. (AP) — Two young boys were playing in a boat anchored in the Milwaukee river when one of them unfastened the rope that held it. It slipped from his hands and two scared kids went floating down the river. Three cops came and started after them in a rowboat. They hitched a ride with a motorboat and caught the drifters after they had floated 300 yards. The youngsters, Richard Kleszcynski, 9, and Ronald Romleski, 8, were more scared of the "visit" with their parents than they had been in the boat.

Majorette in Demand

Richmond, Ky. (AP)—One way to get a free ride to college is to be a football player—another is to be a good drum majorette. Juanita Whitaker, 18, a senior at Model High School, already has three colleges bidding for her services. She says she's going to wait until all the bids are in before deciding where to go. A baton-twirler since 1948, Juanita has won 19 medals and three trophies in the state music festival. Most of her practicing has been done in the family living room.

Flight From Death

Sharon Kay Polston, 9-year-old East Arkansas meningitis victim, is given oxygen by Dr. R. W. Ratton, Manila, Ark., during flight to Memphis, Tenn. She was given only 90 minutes to live without an iron lung. Navy furnished plane for 90-mile trip. Sitting helplessly by are her anxious parens, Mr. and Mrs. Ellis Polston. Her condition is still critical. (U.S. Navy Photo via AP Wirephoto).

Pest Control Broadened

St. Paul (AP)—Controlling weeds and insects through aerial spraying is climbing into the million-dollar industry class in Minnesota this year. The growth of the industry is expected to come not only through the use of more planes, but in the development of new chemicals and techniques for hitting at the weeds and noxious insects from the air. Minnesota had 106 registered pilots in the business last year. They sprayed 98,556 acres last year for insect control, 85,600 acres for weed-killing at an average cost of about $3 per acre.

Pest Control Broadened

St. Paul (AP)—Controlling weeds and insects through aerial spraying is climbing into the million-dollar industry class in Minnesota this year. The growth of the industry is expected to come not only through the use of more planes, but in the development of new chemicals and techniques for hitting at the weeds and noxious insects from the air. Minnesota had 106 registered pilots in the business last year. They sprayed 98,556 acres last year for insect control, 85,600 acres for weed-killing at an average cost of about $3 per acre.

MT. TREMPER

Panel Discussion On Transportation Held in Phoenicia

Mt. Tremper, July 17—A panel discussion which had as its subject, Transportation of School Children in the Onteora Central School District, was held at the regular monthly meeting of the Onteora P-TA in the Phoenicia Parish Hall Tuesday night.

Moderator of the forum was Don Kerr, radio commentator who maintains a home in Big Indian. Members of the panel were Paul Joyce of the town of Olive and Ernest Gardner of Mt. Tremper, who served as public members, Samuel Friedman of Brown Station, Mrs. Helen Irwin of Shokan and Herbert J. Epstein of Mt. Tremper.

The panel discussed the highlights of the transportation survey conducted by a lay advisory committee composed of P-TA members. The committee distributed questionnaires to the parents of school children. Of the 700 questionnaires, 450 were answered but only 388 were classifiable. On the basis of this response, the findings of the committee were as follows:

The majority of parents preferred a five-hour school day. (At this point Principal Roderick Ayer announced that he and Assistant Principal Howard Mosher felt that a six or six-and-one-quarter-hour day was advisable at his time. He also expressed the belief that homework is essential in senior high school.)

The greater number of parents desired that the earliest time of pick-up for school children should be 8 a. m. They also would like classes to end at 3 p. m. and the children be returned to their homes no later than 4 p. m.

The greater proportion favored a dual bus system, one fleet for the lower grades and another system for the higher grades.

In regard to the dual bus system, the conclusion of the committee was that a dual system would be far more expensive than a single system because of double mileage and double cost of operation.

P-TA President Herbert J. Epstein announced that the two new busses purchased by the district at a cost of $20,000 had arrived and were open for inspection at the school garage. It was also announced that Glenford has decided to come in with the district.

Ayer informed the meeting that state law now requires emergency bus drills as well as fire drills.

Assistant Principal Mosher stated that he regards the P-TA as a needed resource group. He lauded the transportation program and stressed the importance of the board of education as a policy-making group.

The Onteora Central School District covers an area of 700 square miles, one of the largest school districts in the state. There are 700 miles of main artery to traverse, which requires 13 main bus routes and 10 feeder lines.

Members of the lay advisory committee are as follows: Town of Olive, Dorothy Aalto, John Aalto, John Bachor, Mrs. Biegler, Edna Bishop, Mrs. B. Connoughton, Mrs. Janice Frankle, Mrs. Alice Friedman, Samuel Friedman, Mrs. Handel, Catherine Hesley, Mrs. M. G. Irwin, Freda John, Paul Joyce, Anna Lawrence, Ida May Marlatte, Philippa Muller, Folmer Nissen, Fred Ohliger, Mrs. Hazel Osborne, N. Rossman, Adele Rothman, Mrs. Stevens.

Town of Shandaken — Mrs. Reginald Bennett, Mrs. Harry Carle, Mrs. Arthur Draper, Mrs. Hartman Dutcher, Harry Ecker, Jr., Mrs. Herbert J. Epstein, Herbert J. Epstein, Mrs. Betty Fuller, Joseph Haver, Mrs. Lindsay Hoyt, Chester Janick, Mrs. Chester Janick, Miss Jean Jansen, Mrs. J. Kafka, Mrs. Louis Keator, Mrs. Joseph LaRocca, Mrs. Stella Longyear, Mr. Miller, Mrs. Dorothea Munch, Mrs. Thomas McCrosson, Mrs. Laura Pearson, Dr. Charles Quinn, Mrs. Martin Rubin, Mrs. Ruth Schirmer, Mrs. Barbara Smithers, John Swenson, Edward West.

Panel Discussion On Transportation Held in Phoenicia

Mt. Tremper, July 17—A panel discussion which had as its subject, Transportation of School Children in the Onteora Central School District, was held at the regular monthly meeting of the Onteora P-TA in the Phoenicia Parish Hall Tuesday night.

Moderator of the forum was Don Kerr, radio commentator who maintains a home in Big Indian. Members of the panel were Paul Joyce of the town of Olive and Ernest Gardner of Mt. Tremper, who served as public members, Samuel Friedman of Brown Station, Mrs. Helen Irwin of Shokan and Herbert J. Epstein of Mt. Tremper.

The panel discussed the highlights of the transportation survey conducted by a lay advisory committee composed of P-TA members. The committee distributed questionnaires to the parents of school children. Of the 700 questionnaires, 450 were answered but only 388 were classifiable. On the basis of this response, the findings of the committee were as follows:

The majority of parents preferred a five-hour school day. (At this point Principal Roderick Ayer announced that he and Assistant Principal Howard Mosher felt that a six or six-and-one-quarter-hour day was advisable at his time. He also expressed the belief that homework is essential in senior high school.)

The greater number of parents desired that the earliest time of pick-up for school children should be 8 a. m. They also would like classes to end at 3 p. m. and the children be returned to their homes no later than 4 p. m.

The greater proportion favored a dual bus system, one fleet for the lower grades and another system for the higher grades.

In regard to the dual bus system, the conclusion of the committee was that a dual system would be far more expensive than a single system because of double mileage and double cost of operation.

P-TA President Herbert J. Epstein announced that the two new busses purchased by the district at a cost of $20,000 had arrived and were open for inspection at the school garage. It was also announced that Glenford has decided to come in with the district.

Ayer informed the meeting that state law now requires emergency bus drills as well as fire drills.

Assistant Principal Mosher stated that he regards the P-TA as a needed resource group. He lauded the transportation program and stressed the importance of the board of education as a policy-making group.

The Onteora Central School District covers an area of 700 square miles, one of the largest school districts in the state. There are 700 miles of main artery to traverse, which requires 13 main bus routes and 10 feeder lines.

Members of the lay advisory committee are as follows: Town of Olive, Dorothy Aalto, John Aalto, John Bachor, Mrs. Biegler, Edna Bishop, Mrs. B. Connoughton, Mrs. Janice Frankle, Mrs. Alice Friedman, Samuel Friedman, Mrs. Handel, Catherine Hesley, Mrs. M. G. Regrets Taft's Defeat

177 Green Street
Kingston, N. Y.

Editor, The Freeman:

I regret the defeat of Senator Bob Taft at the hands of a coterie of New Deal Republicans.

By every standard of intelligence, experience, forthright anti-Trumanism, integrity, patriotism and demonstrated capacity to win elections, Buckeye Bob merited the Republican nomination for the office of president of the United States.

Too bad that citizens of New York state are barred from engaging in presidential primaries. This unfair disfranchisement of the electorate made it easy for Tom Dewey to usurp the rights of Republican voters. With no authorization from the registered Republicans, Dewey gave Ike 92 votes or better on all roll calls. I hope that it is not true that Dewey acted as he did as an expression of malice against Taft. In any case, Dewey did not represent me. I like Ike as a soldier and Taft as a statesman. Dewey had better retire to his dairy farm.

Truly,
WILLIAM LYONS.

America's Best in Flavor Tests!

Mint Parfaits

Mint parfaits are cool, refreshing and the perfect ending to a summer meal. To make this luscious dessert, simply alternate layers of vanilla ice cream and whipped mint-flavored apple jelly. Garnish with whipped cream and a maraschino cherry.

This emerald-clear jelly makes beautiful, taste-tempting sundaes, too. Whipped or melted over a low heat, it can be poured over the ice cream and topped with chopped nutmeats.

Triplet Heifers Born

Anna, Ill. (AP) — Triplet Guernsey heifers—extremely rare—were born recently on a Southern Illinois farm. A veterinarian said the triplets were nearly identical with distinctive triangular patches of white on foreheads and white and amber markings elsewhere.

It seems, that again interest has been aroused over the Ulster County Gazette published in Kingston, by Samuel Freer on January 4th, 1800, which carried a description of George Washington's funeral. Several phone calls came in on it, also a letter from Mrs. Harry Thorpe, Sr., of Tannersville that they had copies. I suggested to most of them, that they see Al Kurdt, executive secretary of the Chamber of Commerce at the Governor Clinton Hotel, where they have offices in Kingston. He has made a study of that particular historical item and has some booklets on it and I think can have interesting information for those who own copies. At one time there was an offer made by them of $100, for an authentic original, which I think still holds.

In the New York Journal-American of July 9, there is a page devoted to items such as comics, wishing well, and also a series called "Your America, Day by Day Pictures" an album of United States history, edited for schools by Clark Kinnaird. This one covers the beginning of New York State history. They tell how the State Constitution by John Jay was adopted April 1777, and the first legislature under the constitution was held 175 years ago this month. He mentions how Kingston, N. Y. played a large part in the New York State government. There is also a fine sketch of a Kingston house, under which it says, "Old drawing of house at Kingsotn, in which New York Constitutlon was adopted.

One of the most popular brands of food today in America is the store cookie. According to the Sunday, August 6, 1950 Albany Times Union, a anniversary number, which was given to me, I see the following. "Prior to the Civil War English bakers had developed a type of sweetened tea-biscuit which was imported to this country in large quantities. A bakery was set up in Albany in 1861 to compete with the English companies, the Albany Aerated Bread Co. Its principal innovation was making an unflavored biscuit which had become popular overnight as the well-known cracker." The making of crackers was taken up in Albany in 1865 by E. J. Larrabee & Co., which turned the tables on England by building up a large export business. Larrabee Biscuits became a household word, and ultimately the company was turning out over 300 varieties of biscuits. But they did have to import special machinery from England at the time for the cutting of the biscuits.

Believe it or not snuff is sitll popular although snuff boxes are now in the antique class. Most of the counters which sell tobaccos carry one or several brands of good old-fashioned snuff. Looking in the Albany Times Union, Anniversary number I see an important tobacco works sprang up in Albany in 1790. It boasted of being able to produce more snuff than could be consumed annually in the northern part of America. They also made cigars and pipe tobacco. It was near a creek which turned a water-wheel, which in turn ran the snuff-mill. At the time, chocolate and mustard-seed were important in snuff making which was made in a separate department of the company.

Singapore (AP) — Japanese businessmen want to re-establish trade ties with Red China, but are hoping to be able to do it without rousing American ire, according to a Japanese journalist. NOW, TIDE WASHES CLOTHES
WHITER
THAN YOU CAN BLEACH THEM!

In fact, TIDE washes WHITER than any soap or "detergent" with bleach added!

IT'S A NEW TIDE MIRACLE!
NO MORE NEED TO BLEACH EXCEPT FOR STUBBORN STAINS!

Now, thanks to TIDE—you can actually wash clothes whiter than you can bleach them! (Even if you soak them in bleach overnight!) In fact, Tide washes whiter than any other washing product with a bleach added! Try it—and when you see how much whiter your clothes come with Tide alone, you'll never want to put bleach in the wash water again!

Cleaner clothes, too! When you rinse out a Tide wash, you've got cleaner clothes than you can get with any soap of any kind! No soap known gets out so much grimy dirt, yet leaves clothes so free of dulling film! There's nothing like Tide!

THE WASH TEST PROVES TIDE WASHES WHITER! YOU CAN SEE THE DIFFERENCE!

Make a suds with any washing product, add bleach, then wash a load of white clothes. Wash a second load in Tide suds alone. Then compare! The Tide-washed clothes will be so much whiter, you'll never want to bleach again, except for stubborn stains!

TIDE is milder for hands than any other leading "detergent." So safe for washable colors!

YES! With all its cleaning and whitening action, Tide has an amazing new mildness. Not even the leading "detergents" made especially for dishwashing are so kind to hands as Tide!

ACTUALLY BRIGHTENS COLORS! For dramatic proof of Tide's safety, watch soap-dulled colors come brighter after one Tide wash. Yes, Tide really cares for all colored washables!

AND TIDE IS SO THRIFTY TO USE! Such a little Tide makes such oceans of rich, long-lasting suds . . . goes so far in hardest water, it's a miracle of economy.

"Never saw my wash so white before!"

says Mrs. Natalie Walden of Miami, Florida.

"I assumed you had to bleach to get clothes really white. But Tide—alone—washed my clothes whiter than I ever got them with bleach in the wash water. I could see the difference!"

Washes clothes WHITER than you can bleach them!

Gets clothes CLEANER than any soap of any kind!

MILDER for hands than any other leading "detergent"!

It boasted of being able to produce more snuff than could be consumed annually in the northern part of America. They also made cigars and pipe tobacco. It was near a creek which turned a water-wheel, which in turn ran the snuff-mill. At the time, chocolate and mustard-seed were important in snuff making which was made in a separate department of the company.

NOW, TIDE WASHES CLOTHES
WHITER
THAN YOU CAN BLEACH THEM!

In fact, TIDE washes WHITER than any soap or "detergent" with bleach added!

IT'S A NEW TIDE MIRACLE!
NO MORE NEED TO BLEACH EXCEPT FOR STUBBORN STAINS!

Now, thanks to TIDE—you can actually wash clothes whiter than you can bleach them! (Even if you soak them in bleach overnight!) In fact, Tide washes whiter than any other washing product with a bleach added! Try it—and when you see how much whiter your clothes come with Tide alone, you'll never want to put bleach in the wash water again!

Cleaner clothes, too! When you rinse out a Tide wash, you've got cleaner clothes than you can get with any soap of any kind! No soap known gets out so much grimy dirt, yet leaves clothes so free of dulling film! There's nothing like Tide!

THE WASH TEST PROVES TIDE WASHES WHITER! YOU CAN SEE THE DIFFERENCE!

Make a suds with any washing product, add bleach, then wash a load of white clothes. Wash a second load in Tide suds alone. Then compare! The Tide-washed clothes will be so much whiter, you'll never want to bleach again, except for stubborn stains!

Wash with Tide ALONE
Wash with ANY OTHER WASHING PRODUCT with bleach added

TIDE is milder for hands than any other leading "detergent." So safe for washable colors!

YES! With all its cleaning and whitening action, Tide has an amazing new mildness. Not even the leading "detergents" made especially for dishwashing are so kind to hands as Tide!

ACTUALLY BRIGHTENS COLORS! For dramatic proof of Tide's safety, watch soap-dulled colors come brighter after one Tide wash. Yes, Tide really cares for all colored washables!

AND TIDE IS SO THRIFTY TO USE! Such a little Tide makes such oceans of rich, long-lasting suds . . . goes so far in hardest water, it's a miracle of economy.

"Never saw my wash so white before!"
says Mrs. Natalie Walden of Miami, Florida.

"I assumed you had to bleach to get clothes really white. But Tide—alone—washed my clothes whiter than I ever got them with bleach in the wash water. I could see the difference!"

Prominent Guest Speakers Discuss English Influence

Two Hundred See

loaned to the Boston Museum of Fine Arts for exhibit. He has also acquired an extensive collection of paintings of the 1815 to 1865 period.

First Show in 300 Years

Continuing, he said, "I understand that in 300 years, nothing of this kind has happened in a city like Kingston. That is a poor compliment, if it took 300 years to create an art show." He observed that perhaps this city was like so many others in that it took the untiring efforts of a few individuals to stir up the residents to the beauty of the arts.

The realization of this very special gift to residents and visitors of the city and county was said to have been due primarily to the work and influence of Mrs. E. C. Chadbourne, co-chairman with Mrs. George V. D. Hutton, and the 300th Anniversary Committee. The selection of the paintings on view was attributed to Mrs. Chadbourne's personal efforts.

It was noted that a large percentage of the paintings in the Karolik collection were done by unknown artists. The collector explained to his listeners that he was interested primarily in whether or not a painting was "good" rather than in the name of the artist. His interpretation of the collection was described, "I call it important because it represents the lasting values." He confirmed his opinion by recalling the destruction which took place during the war in Germany and Italy, but emphasized that "Germany still has Goethe and Wagner, while Italy can still boast of a Verdi and the Renaissance."

For his brief talk, Robert C. Vose discussed trends in American art. The Vose family brought to America the first works of Corot and Blakely and the speaker had behind him the solid knowledge of four generations spent in acquiring and exhibiting artistic masterpieces.

The Vose Galleries have displayed everything from Italian and Dutch masters to the more restrained of the moderns. He was commissioned by the Massachusetts state government to collect and exhibit for the tercentenary of that state in 1920.

This speaker made it quite clear that in selectiong and hanging the exhibition, there had been no intention of trying to make it a complete illustration of American painting over a period of 300 years, but rather emphasized the first influence which was predominantly Dutch in all the civilized part of this country. The loan from the Albany Institute perhaps best exemplifies this trend. The second trend was of English influence, strong through the 18th century, and the third, the American primitive.

First Local Painter

The first Kingston Painter was Peter Vanderlyn, a physician and officer in the Dutch Navy. He was not a full time painter. Vose then passed over the English influence to discuss Peter's grandson, John Vanderlyn, who could not be classified with any school. "He was an individualist who spent much of his time abroad, and devoted himself to fields other than portraitures, particularly to historical and mythological themes."

Although not a financial success, John Vanderlyn, according to Vose, was recognized by his contemporaries as an outstanding artist. In spite of his dislike for portraiture, however, he finally had to turn to it to support himself.

In that era, the general attitude towards portraiture was not very flattering to the artist.

Finest at Senate House

The finest colection of John Vanderlyn's work is housed in the Senate House Museum and all were urged to view and study it.

The catch phrase, Hudson River School, was originated because of the large number of artists who painted up and down the Hudson river. Thimas Cole was said to be the leader of this group. Work by Bierstadt, Browere, Whittredge, Doughty, Innes, Quidor and others are represented and were briefly described.

On the subject of primitives. Vose commented upon the resurgence of popularity of the American primitives and characterized as an erroneous assumption the idea that "because it is primitive and crude, it is good." Good examples of the primitives are to be found in the Karolik collection. "They show taste, ability and interesting personality," said the speaker.

The American primitive was credited with having introduced something decidedly new. The modern primitive is a conscious development in an effort to combine the sophisticated subject with the innocent technique, was the reply given by Karolik to a member in the audience who asked that this field be explained.

Following an introduction by Mrs. Hutton, Mayor Oscar V. Newkirk officialy opened the Tercentennial show. Mrs. Hutton also introduced the guest speakers and expressed appreciation on behalf of Mrs. Chadbourne for the "splendid cooperation given by Harry Halverson architect for the school, staff members of the school, and the 300th Anniversary Committee.

During the social period which followed the preview, visitors without exception were jubilant and spoke with great pride of the wonderful privilege offered by the Art Show Committee in having such a fine and representative collection in this city.

Reminiscent of the days of Washington Irving is the fascinating Rip Van Winkle series painted by A. D. O. Browere, a native of Tarrytown and later a resident of Catskill. It is unusual to find four of this series in any one collection. They are a part of the Karolik group and include Rip Van Winkle Asleep, Rip Van Winkle in the Woods, Rip Van Winkle Leaving Home and Rip Van Winkle at the Inn.

John Quidor's, Knickerbocker Tea Party, on loan from the Vose Galleries, and The Quilting Bee by an unknown artist, one of the Metropolitan Museum of Art's collection, depict manners and customs of a by-gone era. Space will not permit identifying more of the 77 examples in the exhibit which should be seen.

GOOD TASTE TODAY

(Author of 'Etiquette,' 'Children Are People,' etc.)

NOT RUDE TO EXPLAIN

A letter this morning says: "My husband and I live on a farm and every summer we have friends and relatives who live in the city come and spend their vacation with us. We love to have them, but they seem to forget that we are not on vacation, and when they leave we are completely exhausted. My husband and I have to get up very early in the morning to do the necessary chores and, much as we would like to, can't stay up half the night with them. Is it improper to suggest to these guests that they are staying up much too late for us, and how can we get this idea across to them without offending anyone?"

Explain your situation to them as frankly as you are explaining it to me. They can hardly think you're rude.

When Family Refuses Consent

Dear Mrs. Post: I am going to be married soon in spite of the fact that my parents do not approve of my marriage and will have nothing at all to do with it. Under the circumstances, (1) will you please tell me how the invitations can be worded without using their names? (2) Also, would it be proper for the bridegroom's father to "give me away" since my own father will not be present?

Answer: (1)

The honour of your presence is requested
at the marriage of
Miss Mary Jones
to
Mr. Henry Greene
etc.

(2) His family cannot give you away, but any nearest male relative whom you choose can give you away (or even a friend of your family). For that matter, a woman can perfectly well fill this office by giving her consent from the front pew.

Personal Notes

Mr. and Mrs. Henry P. Eighmey and family, of 94 Highland avenue, were the guests of the John Pawling Ring of the Circus Model Builders Association at the Ring's annual picnic and get-together held at Auburn. The public exhibition presented by the various members of the national model building organization netted over $2,000 which was presented to a crippled child for medical treatment. Approximately 50 exhibits were presented, including those of the local family.

Cool and Crisp

In hot weather, you can achieve crispness by treating cottons, linens and rayons to a satin-smooth starching — specially prepared to make ironing easy and to give the clothes a finish that is dirt-resistant. Add one cake of a blue wax ironing aid to each quart of your favorite hot starch. Mix 1 cup of this basic starch to 7 cups warm water (use it cool for rayons) and squeeze the hot starch through the garments for an even finish. Remove starch, by wringing, if possible, to avoid streaking. Dry, then dampen evenly, wrap in waxed paper and put rolls of cloth in refrigerator — another trick for easy ironing. It helps prevent mildew, too. Iron small parts of your blouses or dresses first to prevent wrinkling larger parts — trimmings, collar, sleeves, back bodice, front bodice, skirt last of all. Iron bias-cut skirts with the weave for a straight hemline.

Nose Drops Fool Ewe

New York (AP) — A New York chemical company investigated the cause of a large order of nose drops from a Utah sheep herder. The sheepman explained that a ewe ordinarily will refuse to nurse lambs not her own. He said he put the drops into the noses of ewes so they would accept and "mother" orphan lambs. One drop, he said, made one small lamb seem much like any other, so far as the ewe's nose was concerned.

Honors Abolished

Ottumwa, Ia. (AP) — The Ottumwa Board of Education stirred up a tempest when it decided recently to do away with scholastic honors at future high school commencements. No more valedictorians or salutatorians. The board reasoned that class grades are not compiled early enough to make a fair distribution of honor awards. Ottumwans who disagreed engaged in a flurry of letter-writing. The board has stuck by its guns.

Use Steel Screens

New York (AP)—Movie screens at modern outdoor drive-in theaters are being made of steel. Screens used to be made of wood, anchored to telegraph poles, or of cinder block masonry. Often the soil settled and cracked the screen or termites moved in. The new steel screens have a concave surface to keep actors in perspective and they are guaranteed to resist any wind under 100 miles an hour.

NILE-INSPIRED — This Parisian mannequin models a new swim-suit designed with an ancient Egyptian touch. Two pieces of the suit have a pyramid flavor for bathing beauties figuring to fill out blanks in Egyptian hieroglyphics.

Half a House Sells

Pasadena, Calif. (AP)—Attention real estate agents: If a home is too large to sell, saw it in half. The James L. Irving mansion was offered for sale, but because of its large size there were no offers from buyers. Then the mansion was cut in half, one home containing seven rooms and two baths and the other 10 rooms and three baths. Both sold immediately.

NOT RUDE TO EXPLAIN

A letter this morning says: "My husband and I live on a farm and every summer we have friends and relatives who live in the city come and spend their vacation with us. We love to have them, but they seem to forget that we are not on vacation, and when they leave we are completely exhausted. My husband and I have to get up very early in the morning to do the necessary chores and, much as we would like to, can't stay up half the night with them. Is it improper to suggest to these guests that they are staying up much too late for us, and how can we get this idea across to them without offending anyone?"

Explain your situation to them as frankly as you are explaining it to me. They can hardly think you're rude.

When Family Refuses Consent

Dear Mrs. Post: I am going to be married soon in spite of the fact that my parents do not approve of my marriage and will have nothing at all to do with it. Under the circumstances, (1) will you please tell me how the invitations can be worded without using their names? (2) Also, would it be proper for the bridegroom's father to "give me away" since my own father will not be present?

Answer: (1)

The honour of your presence is requested
at the marriage of
to
etc.

(2) His family cannot give you away, but any nearest male relative whom you choose can give you away (or even a friend of your family). For that matter, a woman can perfectly well fill this office by giving her consent from the front pew.

Personal Notes

Mr. and Mrs. Henry P. Eighmey and family, of 94 Highland avenue, were the guests of the John Pawling Ring of the Circus Model Builders Association at the Ring's annual picnic and get-together held at Auburn. The public exhibition presented by the various members of the national model building organization netted over $2,000 which was presented to a crippled child for medical treatment. Approximately 50 exhibits were presented, including those of the local family.

Cool and Crisp

In hot weather, you can achieve crispness by treating cottons, linens and rayons to a satin-smooth starching — specially prepared to make ironing easy and to give the clothes a finish that is dirt-resistant. Add one cake of a blue wax ironing aid to each quart of your favorite hot starch. Mix 1 cup of this basic starch to 7 cups warm water (use it cool for rayons) and squeeze the hot starch through the garments for an even finish. Remove starch, by wringing, if possible, to avoid streaking. Dry, then dampen evenly, wrap in waxed paper and put rolls of cloth in refrigerator — another trick for easy ironing. It helps prevent mildew, too. Iron small parts of your blouses or dresses first to prevent wrinkling larger parts — trimmings, collar, sleeves, back bodice, front bodice, skirt last of all. Iron bias-cut skirts with the weave for a straight hemline.

Matsushima Air Base, Northern Japan, July 17 (AP)—Gen. J. Lawton Collins, U. S. Army chief of staff, left here by air last night for Alaska. He is en route back to the United States following an inspection tour of Korea.

SECOND GENERATION SCARECROW — Famed actor Fred Stone, who created the role of the Scarecrow in the "Wizard of Oz" and played it for five years, gives his daughter, Dorothy Stone, some expert pointers on costume and makeup. Nose Drops Fool Ewe

New York (AP) — A New York chemical company investigated the cause of a large order of nose drops from a Utah sheep herder. The sheepman explained that a ewe ordinarily will refuse to nurse lambs not her own. He said he put the drops into the noses of ewes so they would accept and "mother" orphan lambs. One drop, he said, made one small lamb seem much like any other, so far as the ewe's nose was concerned.

Honors Abolished

Ottumwa, Ia. (AP) — The Ottumwa Board of Education stirred up a tempest when it decided recently to do away with scholastic honors at future high school commencements. No more valedictorians or salutatorians. The board reasoned that class grades are not compiled early enough to make a fair distribution of honor awards. Ottumwans who disagreed engaged in a flurry of letter-writing. The board has stuck by its guns.

Use Steel Screens

New York (AP)—Movie screens at modern outdoor drive-in theaters are being made of steel. Screens used to be made of wood, anchored to telegraph poles, or of cinder block masonry. Often the soil settled and cracked the screen or termites moved in. The new steel screens have a concave surface to keep actors in perspective and they are guaranteed to resist any wind under 100 miles an hour.

Half a House Sells

Pasadena, Calif. (AP)—Attention real estate agents: If a home is too large to sell, saw it in half. The James L. Irving mansion was offered for sale, but because of its large size there were no offers from buyers. Then the mansion was cut in half, one home containing seven rooms and two baths and the other 10 rooms and three baths. Both sold immediately.

The Mature Parent

We Can't Always Obey Rule to Punish Misbehavior Promptly

BY MURIEL LAWRENCE

It was 3 p. m. when Mr. Bryson called his wife to tell her that he was bringing home an important client for dinner.

Mrs. Bryson hung up, checked her refrigerator and rushed downtown, where she bought steak, watercress, olives, celery and a seven-layer chocolate cake. As she was waiting for change in her favorite French bakery, she saw her son, aged eight, emerge from the swinging door of the tavern across the street.

Steve was sucking happily at a bottle of special brand of soda pop dispensed by a soft-drink machine in Healey's tavern.

Now Mrs. Bryson and her husband had discussed Mr. Healey's ambition to be all things to all men by catering to children's things in the same place where he catered to more sophisticated ones. They didn't approve of it. So they had forbidden Steve to buy Mr. Healey's soda pop.

Faced with his disobedience, his mother registered it, said to herself, "Well, what do you know?"—and without then and there attempting to face her son with it, drove home, made dinner, served it and had a pleasant evening.

Not until the next afternoon did she broach the subject of Steve's disobedience to him.

She said, "I saw you coming out of Healey's tavern yesterday afternoon. For this disobedience, I have to dock your allowance 15 cents this week and next week. Until you have paid up, you will have to account to me for the way you spend the 10 cents left from your allowance. However, I'll make a point of having cold soda ready for you here in the icebox when you get home from school."

Then Mrs. Bryson told Steve more reasons why she and his father preferred that he did not frequent the dark little side-street saloon that was trying to serve the thirsts of children along with those of people who had no work to do in the afternoon.

We will note that she broke the child guidance rule that insists that we punish promptly after misbehavior.

It's a good rule if we can obey it. Most of us can't always obey it. We are often too busy, too puzzled, too disturbed or too angered by lying, disobedience and defiance to come up promptly with the right penalty. Like Mrs. Bryson, we may need time to consider what we want to accomplish by punishment.

If we attempt to follow this rule blindly, its pressure to act at once may drive us to give hasty, sloppy, ill-advised or angry punishment. It has impressed us more than we realize and is just another of those perfectionist pronouncements that only make us more anxious when we are dealing with hurtful or difficult behavior.

Whenever we need time to think through the right treament for youngsters' wrongdoing, we should take it without hesitation.

With small children, we try not to delay discipline too long after the action that calls for it. This is because their memories are short. When three-year-old Al insists on running back and forth across the traffic-filled street, we may have to punish him at once so he will associate an unpleasant effect with the cause.

But when Ann's memory has developed so that it registers the past more consciously, we do not have to react instantaneously to the discovery that she has, for example, told us a lie. We are foolish parents, not wise ones, to deny ourselves the time we need to get ourselves in hand and devise a penalty that will show Ann how profitless is lying.

If we can accept this idea, we will find our punishment becoming more instructive, more thoughtful and less burdensome to us.

President Spends 'Very Good Night'

Washington, July 17 (AP)—President Truman spent a "very good night" at the army's Walter Reed Hospital, aides said today. They reported that Truman expects to get back to the White House by Saturday.

The 68-year-old President entered the hospital yesterday, marking the first time he was hospitalized since he took office more than seven years ago. He is undergoing a series of tests as a result of a miid virus infection with which he was afflicted Sunday.

Joseph Short, the President's press secretary, said Truman is keeping busy going over the great number of bills passed in the closing days of Congress and still requiring his signature. He has about 50 bills to go.

On Way To Capital

Mrs. Truman was on her way to Washington. She is expected to visit her husband at the hospital's presidential suite after her arrival.

No appointments were set up for the President today. This seems to rule out any possibility that he will confer today with Thomas J. Gavin of Kansas City, the man who will cast Truman's ballot at the Democratic National Convention next week.

Short said he sees no prospect of any personal get-together between Truman and Gavin.

Short said that Truman's physician, Maj. Gen. Wallace H. Graham, expects the President's temperature "may go up a teeny little bit" again this afternoon, as it has been doing since Sunday. Truman had no fever this morning.

And, Short added:

"The President expects to be back in the White House by Saturday."

Short emphasized again that the President went to the hospital not because of his illness but to facilitate running the medical tests Dr. Graham wanted to make.

bell-ringing in the coming campaign "than we've had in a long time."

Dewey predicted a Republican victory in November, but said it would not come "on a silver platter."

He declared "it would be a catasthrophe to the world" if there was "too great a difference" on foreign policy between the Republicans and Democrats in the campaign.

Eisenhower, the governor said, is a "world statesman" who "knows we are in the 20th Century and can't shrink back to the 19th Century."

Dewey said that if the Republican party had nominated an isolationist for president, "I can see country after country collapsing after six months."

Asked if he expects to be named secretary of state, Dewey replied: "I'm going to be governor of New York state for the next two and a half years."

Held for Grand Jury

Daniel Fitzgerald, 18, of 81 Chambers street, who was arrested May 19 on a morals charge, waived examination and was held for the grand jury when he appeared today before City Judge Raymond J. Mino. Bail of $500 was continued. Attorney Charles Saccoman appeared for the defendant and John Larkin for the district attorney's office. A similar charge against Robert Greenberg, of 66 West Chester street, was dismissed some time ago. They were arrested following a police chase. Fitzgerald, a student at the State Teachers College, New Paltz, had served as page of the Common Council.

Asks Clean Break

Roanoke, Va., July 17 (AP)—Former Governor William M. Tuck called on Virginia Democrats today to clear the way for a clean break with the national Democratic party should the south be rebuffed at next week's convention in Chicago. The ex-governor, in a keynote speech prepared for delivery before more than 2,000 delegates to the state Democratic convention, bitterly assailed "the spurious doctrines  of 'Trumanism' and 'Fair Dealism'."

handkerchief and put them in my pocket.

"I also put a hunting knife I'd purchased in a back bay 5-and-10 into the bag. I was going to use the knife if I wasn't successful with the gun."

Tells of Trip

Peake's story then told, Wilson said, of his trip to New York and of visiting Columbia where he got a catalogue. He wanted names of professors enrolled under the American Physical Society to gain access.

When he approached Miss Fahey, Peakes was quoted as saying, he asked her "are they going to drop the electronics theory?"

"She didn't pay any attention to me, just kept reading a letter or something on her desk," Wilson said Peakes told police.

"I pulled the gun out of my pocket and started shooting. The first two or three bullets hit her in the chest. She got up and screamed 'it hurts.' I kept pulling the trigger. The next four bullets hit her in the head and she fell to the floor."

The slayer told several persons in the university building to call police because I just killed a girl" as he fled through the building with a smoking gun in his hand.

Why Peakes selected the American Physical Society, which merely has rent-free offices in a Columbia building, as the place to submit a thesis or seek revenge was not immediately clear.

Theory Gained Momentum

With a description of the killer but no motive apparent, police began their search on Monday by sifting various theories. One of the chief was that the killer was a frustrated student. The theory increased in importance as it became evident that Miss Fahey had no boy friends other than the marine in Korea.

Searching the files of the society they came across Peakes' name. Two detectives left for Boston to question him on Tuesday.

This is the story told by New York Deputy Chief Police Inspector James B. Leggett:

Checking Boston addresses from the society's records, two New York detectives went from place to place. Always they found that Peakes had moved until they learned of his address at 36 Fairfield street.

Peakes, employed by a meat packing firm now, was not there. But they found a .22 pistol of the type seen being carried by the killer as he fled from Miss Fahey's office.

When he came home, they said he gave them a statement. They quoted him as saying he had a grudge against Columbia University for failing to readmit him as a student.

This did not jibe with the fact he had tried to get the society to publish his thesis which had been rejected.

Left Abruptly

A quick check in New York disclosed that Peakes registered at the King's Crown Hotel, adjacent to the Columbia campus Sunday—the day before the slaying. The hotel manager said the man had left abruptly on Monday.

Peakes said he went from the university to the hotel, put the pistol into his valise and checked out. It was then approximately 9:40 a. m., he said, and soon afterwards he boarded a train for the return to Boston.

"I didn't eat all the way back," police said he told them, "and got to my room shortly before 5 in the afternoon. I thought for a time about going to a Boston newspaper to get them to give me a sympathetic item story, but I finally abandoned the idea."

Peakes was quoted as saying it was through reading newspapers Tuesday that he learned the name of the slain girl. After that he remained in his room most of the time.

Peakes was arrested as he returned to his room after midnight from a walk around downtown Boston.

President Spends 'Very Good Night'

Washington, July 17 (AP)—President Truman spent a "very good night" at the army's Walter Reed Hospital, aides said today. They reported that Truman expects to get back to the White House by Saturday.

The 68-year-old President entered the hospital yesterday, marking the first time he was hospitalized since he took office more than seven years ago. He is undergoing a series of tests as a result of a miid virus infection with which he was afflicted Sunday.

Joseph Short, the President's press secretary, said Truman is keeping busy going over the great number of bills passed in the closing days of Congress and still requiring his signature. He has about 50 bills to go.

On Way To Capital

Mrs. Truman was on her way to Washington. She is expected to visit her husband at the hospital's presidential suite after her arrival.

No appointments were set up for the President today. This seems to rule out any possibility that he will confer today with Thomas J. Gavin of Kansas City, the man who will cast Truman's ballot at the Democratic National Convention next week.

Short said he sees no prospect of any personal get-together between Truman and Gavin.

Short said that Truman's physician, Maj. Gen. Wallace H. Graham, expects the President's temperature "may go up a teeny little bit" again this afternoon, as it has been doing since Sunday. Truman had no fever this morning.

And, Short added:

"The President expects to be back in the White House by Saturday."

Short emphasized again that the President went to the hospital not because of his illness but to facilitate running the medical tests Dr. Graham wanted to make.

bell-ringing in the coming campaign "than we've had in a long time."

Dewey predicted a Republican victory in November, but said it would not come "on a silver platter."

He declared "it would be a catasthrophe to the world" if there was "too great a difference" on foreign policy between the Republicans and Democrats in the campaign.

Eisenhower, the governor said, is a "world statesman" who "knows we are in the 20th Century and can't shrink back to the 19th Century."

Dewey said that if the Republican party had nominated an isolationist for president, "I can see country after country collapsing after six months."

Asked if he expects to be named secretary of state, Dewey replied: "I'm going to be governor of New York state for the next two and a half years."

Held for Grand Jury

Daniel Fitzgerald, 18, of 81 Chambers street, who was arrested May 19 on a morals charge, waived examination and was held for the grand jury when he appeared today before City Judge Raymond J. Mino. Bail of $500 was continued. Attorney Charles Saccoman appeared for the defendant and John Larkin for the district attorney's office. A similar charge against Robert Greenberg, of 66 West Chester street, was dismissed some time ago. They were arrested following a police chase. Fitzgerald, a student at the State Teachers College, New Paltz, had served as page of the Common Council.

Asks Clean Break

Roanoke, Va., July 17 (AP)—Former Governor William M. Tuck called on Virginia Democrats today to clear the way for a clean break with the national Democratic party should the south be rebuffed at next week's convention in Chicago. The ex-governor, in a keynote speech prepared for delivery before more than 2,000 delegates to the state Democratic convention, bitterly assailed "the spurious doctrines  of 'Trumanism' and 'Fair Dealism'."

handkerchief and put them in my pocket.

"I also put a hunting knife I'd purchased in a back bay 5-and-10 into the bag. I was going to use the knife if I wasn't successful with the gun."

Tells of Trip

Peake's story then told, Wilson said, of his trip to New York and of visiting Columbia where he got a catalogue. He wanted names of professors enrolled under the American Physical Society to gain access.

When he approached Miss Fahey, Peakes was quoted as saying, he asked her "are they going to drop the electronics theory?"

"She didn't pay any attention to me, just kept reading a letter or something on her desk," Wilson said Peakes told police.

"I pulled the gun out of my pocket and started shooting. The first two or three bullets hit her in the chest. She got up and screamed 'it hurts.' I kept pulling the trigger. The next four bullets hit her in the head and she fell to the floor."

The slayer told several persons in the university building to call police because I just killed a girl" as he fled through the building with a smoking gun in his hand.

Why Peakes selected the American Physical Society, which merely has rent-free offices in a Columbia building, as the place to submit a thesis or seek revenge was not immediately clear.

Theory Gained Momentum

With a description of the killer but no motive apparent, police began their search on Monday by sifting various theories. One of the chief was that the killer was a frustrated student. The theory increased in importance as it became evident that Miss Fahey had no boy friends other than the marine in Korea.

Searching the files of the society they came across Peakes' name. Two detectives left for Boston to question him on Tuesday.

This is the story told by New York Deputy Chief Police Inspector James B. Leggett:

Checking Boston addresses from the society's records, two New York detectives went from place to place. Always they found that Peakes had moved until they learned of his address at 36 Fairfield street.

Peakes, employed by a meat packing firm now, was not there. But they found a .22 pistol of the type seen being carried by the killer as he fled from Miss Fahey's office.

When he came home, they said he gave them a statement. They quoted him as saying he had a grudge against Columbia University for failing to readmit him as a student.

This did not jibe with the fact he had tried to get the society to publish his thesis which had been rejected.

Left Abruptly

A quick check in New York disclosed that Peakes registered at the King's Crown Hotel, adjacent to the Columbia campus Sunday—the day before the slaying. The hotel manager said the man had left abruptly on Monday.

Peakes said he went from the university to the hotel, put the pistol into his valise and checked out. It was then approximately 9:40 a. m., he said, and soon afterwards he boarded a train for the return to Boston.

"I didn't eat all the way back," police said he told them, "and got to my room shortly before 5 in the afternoon. I thought for a time about going to a Boston newspaper to get them to give me a sympathetic item story, but I finally abandoned the idea."

Peakes was quoted as saying it was through reading newspapers Tuesday that he learned the name of the slain girl. After that he remained in his room most of the time.

Peakes was arrested as he returned to his room after midnight from a walk around downtown Boston.

Dental Clinic Planned At Rosendale School

A series of dental clinics for pre-school children ages 3 to 5, will be conducted at the Union Free School in Rosendale July 23, 24, and 25, Dr. Robert H. Broad, commissioner of health of Ulster county, announced today.

The July 23 clinic is only for children who have had previous applications of sodium fluoride. The clinics July 24 and 25 are for new children.

In these clinics, the children will have their teeth examined and will also be able to see dental equipment. In this way, they will become interested and look forward to future visits to the dentist.

Appointments may be made at that time for the application of sodium fluoride to aid in the prevention of tooth decay.

Parents of pre-school children who are interested and would like their children to attend the clinics may call Mrs. Vernon Freese at Rosendale 3487.

Canned meat will slice neatly and easily if you chill the can in the refrigerator before using, then remove both ends from the can, and push the meat out in one piece.

Harry C. France

I write this from Halifax, Nova Scotia while on a Dominion of Canada speaking tour. An observing traveler gets a lot of perspective. I want to record some of my very recent impressions and experiences.

When I entered Canada a few days ago the leading newspapers carried on the front page two items right down my alley. They were: (1) Canada has a comfortable operating surplus in its current fiscal year; it is $241,000,000 for the first two months. (2) The Canadian dollar is in a bull market! Demand for Canadian currency is ahead of supply and today the American dollar, for years selling at a premium over the Canadian dollar, is selling at a discount. Balanced Dominion budgets and premium Canadian dollars go hand in hand.

Good economic housekeeping, whether in homes or in nations, always pays off. The excellent room I have here in Halifax's best hotel would cost from 50 to 100% more in any American city of similar size and importance. This is not guesswork. I've been in 50 cities of the United States the size of Halifax within the the past four years and have been a guest of hotels in each.

A good roast beef dinner here costs $2.50 flat. There is no tax. An excellent lobster dinner costs $2.75 flat. Service is superb. A thick filet mignon dinner is $3.50. In January, 1952, I wrote from Reno, Nevada about the $4 filet dinner there. Well, the one here is just as good. And the $3.50 Halifax dinner would cost $8 in New York city, what with high city, state and federal taxes.

Flying via Trans-Canada Airlines from Halifax to Montreal and through to Vancouver and back in the Dominion saves me $66.88 in tax money that I would have to pay Uncle Sam if I were on a Boston to Seattle speaking trip.

How in the world, you may ask, do the City of Halifax, the Province of Nova Scotia and the Dominion of Canada make ends meet without exacting taxes on meals, rooms and transportation? Simply by employing sound economic housekeeping. Sure, they have taxes—heavy ones, too, but not the kind Americans have to pay. There is a reason, a sound reason, for the Canadian dollar to command a premium over the American dollar.

Millions of American dollars, millions of other foreign currencies, have been pouring into the Dominion from the hands of investors and speculators. A climate favorable to capital always attracts the attention of those who have investment and risk money to place. The strong movements of sterling and of dollars into the Province is, indeed, an encouraging sign.

If I were an official in Washington with any responsibilities of governmental fiscal management, I would ask myself: "What goes on in Canada anyhow? Our American dollar, for years selling at a premium of 10 to 17 per cent, is now discounted 3 and 4 per cent in terms of the Canadian dollar. Besides, in the cities, provinces and the Dominion itself, a score of nuisance and burdensome taxes (such as we have in America) are not exacted. Yet, lacking this income, the Canadian government piles up an operating surplus of 241-million dollars the first two months of the fiscal year!"

And the good Canadian record is not such as it is because her 14,000,000 citizens are not involved in the world struggle against communism. Canadian defense expenditures run into hundreds of millions of dollars a year. No, her good record is due to good housekeeping.

Today, some politicians and statesmen in the United States are scoffing at a promised progressive tax reduction. Much of their reasoning is illogical. Suppose ten big corporations paying $3,000,000,000 yearly in federal taxes should have them cut by 25%. They would have $150,000,000 with which to buy new machinery and to perfect new methods. The result: more goods at lower prices and a public's ability to buy more of the good things of life. More production; more employment.

Heavy taxation—city, state and federal—is holding up an economic parade of prosperity. New York city, following the Washington pattern, is taxing business to death. In her desperation to raise nearly $1,500,000,000 yearly to meet the salaries of 250,000 city employes and to support an ever-increasing municipal establishment, she is driving many large financial firms across the Hudson river to New Jersey to escape a crazy business tax that must be paid even by firms that are in the red.

In 1952, too few tax collectors have any conscience. Careless spending requires uneconomic taxation. And burdensome taxation kills the goose that lays the golden eggs. When will the politician learn that good economic housekeeping is necessary in a country like America?

Greek Icons Will Be Displayed at Mountain House

Woodstock, July 17—An exhibition, probably unique in the annals of this village, a rare collection of Greek Icons, dating from the 11th, 12 and 13th centuries, will open at the Mead Mountain House, Saturday at 4 p. m. Capt. Sava J. Milo, of the U. S. Air Force, of Mead's, arranged the exhibition through a private collector.

The Rev. Archbishop Francis, of the Church-on-the-Mount, at Mead's, who is an authority on religious art relics, said that he believed that it was the finest collection in this country. Also included in the exhibition will be a number of copper filagree lamps, lanterns, an ancient miner's lamp, and various silver pieces, some of them of Slavic origin.

Explains Difference

Most of the earlier icons are gesso on rectangular wood mountings, exquisitely painted in the delicate soft colors which time has not dimmed. "Some of them are contemporaries of Fra Angelico," said Archbishop Francis, who also explained the difference between the Greek and Russian icons, which are more bizarre than these, "to cover up their lack of good painting." The Greek icons are actually much more rare.

The names of the artists, he also explained, have been lost in antiquity, only the names of the saints appearing on the paintings as they were usually painted by the monks who were not permitted to sign them.

One of the more elaborate icons, which carries a border of exquisite wood carving, is a fascinating triptych, with the small compartments adorned with the figures of the Virgin Mary, the figure of St. John the Baptist, and a self-portrait of the artist with his painting implements. During the Lenten advent, worshippers closed the small doors to deny themselves the pleasure of looking at the paintings.

The exhibition will be on view at Mead Mountain House for about 10 days.

OP Is Fully Manned Since New Schedule

Woodstock, July 17—Joseph Forno, director of Civilian Defense, has reported that the Observation Post in this village has been fully manned since it went into operation Monday, and is now on a complete round-the-clock schedule. "Everyone," Forno said Tuesday, "is responding nicely to our call for volunteer airplane spotters, but we still need more people to make it complete for the week."

Wittenberg residents will cover the post Saturday, and residents of the area are signing rapidly. Frank Tackella, captain of the Zena district, is now recruiting volunteers for Sunday's schedule.

Karl Cousins has donated a radio for the post, which may be played for the watchers' entertainment.

Gallery Will Present Premiere of Art Film

Woodstock, July 17—A premiere showing of the new British film, Painter and Poet, will mark the program of the Woodstock Cinema Club at the Art Gallery this Saturday and Sunday evening. The club has obtained the first 16mm performance in America of this unusual motion picture.

There will be two showings Saturday evening, at 8:45 and 10:45, and one showing Sunday evening at 8:45. Sidney Berkowitz, club president, has announced that the film programs, originally scheduled for the Maverick Theatre, will be held in the Woodstock Art Gallery until further notice. They are held as a benefit for the Artists Welfare Fund.

Painter and Poet consists of four episodes in the artistic life of England. Art and literature are combined in an intimate portrayal of painters and writers of the British Isles. In 35 mm form it has been seen once in America —last week in New York.

In the 22-minute film Balzac, the life, work and loves of the great French novelist Honore de Balzac are brought alive. It has been described as "a fine example of a dramatic story told through inventive camera use of static material." It was written and directed by Jean Vidal, and is graced with a particularly able English commentary.

To Hold Exhibit

Eugene Speicher, one of the nation's leading artists and portraitists.

Speicher to Hold One-man Show at Village Gallery

Woodstock, July 17 — "One of America's finest portraitists," according to Time magazine, Eugene Speicher, will hold a one-man show of his paintings and drawings at the Mollie Higgins Smith gallery, opening, July 25, at 3 p. m. The show was arranged by Mrs. Smith through the courtesy of Frank K. M. Rehn Gallery, New York.

Speicher is a painter who has achieved the pinnacle by earning it every step of the way, both by winning scholarships at Albright, Art Students League in New York and at the summer school here. Many of his Woodstock friends remember that he did a spell at pitching hay for the owner of the France farm on Ohayo Mountain. He first demonstrated his artistic talent at the age of eight by drawing with colored chalk on the blackboard a picture of tomatoes falling out of a basket. Remembering the applause, Speicher says that "I had more confidence then than I do now. Now I ask questions about myself."

While gaining a reputation in the art world, Speicher won an equal amount of acclaim in the world of sports at which he excells — baseball pitcher, high jumper and pole vaulter and runner of the 100-yard dash in 10.8, his great love, basketball and golf.

Met George Bellows

One of the characteristic stories about the artist is concerned with his meeting with George Bellows, another Woodstocker who became one of "the peerless painters of the American scene." While Speicher was on a scholarship at the Art Students League in 1907, the first thing he did upon arrival in New York was to look for a place to get some exercise. At the Central YMCA he met George Bellows, an athlete from the University of Ohio. Following an afternoon talking sport, they had supper together and adjourned to Bellow's flat. Speicher noticed and remarked: "This looks like a studio." Bellows replied, "It is. I'm an artist." Speicher said that he was also an artist and their talk turned to art. Bellows persuaded Speicher to attend the classes of Robert Henri, the artist who influenced all the American realists, the "Ash Can" painters of the first quarter of the century.

Born in Buffalo, April 5, 1883, and married in 1910, Speicher finished being a student at the League here and taught in the Woodstock school for two seasons. The Speichers rented the little building on their present property from Calvin Short for $85 per year.

Never really interested in the genre painting that fascinated Henri and his pupils, Speicher has made a good living through his commissioned portraits. But the people he most enjoys painting are his friends, George Bellows's daughter, Jean, and the farmers and hunters of Woodstock.

He has 54 pictures in 38 American Museums, and has won a host of awards. His two most recent one-man shows have been during the past year at the Century Club, New York, and in 1950 at the Albright Gallery in Buffalo.

Began Portrait Work

While still at school he began doing portraits for as little as $25. Later, when he was able to command his own price, he limited himself to six commissions per year, devoting the rest of his time to his painting, developing his work without thought of his sitter's reaction to the result. Finally he arrived at the enviable position where he could be sufficiently independent to paint mainly the people who inspired him.

The present show at Mrs. Smith's gallery will have 16 paintings, portraits, flowers and landscapes and a group of some of his finest drawings which he brought up from New York for the occasion.

Popular with his fellow artists, Speicher is also in much demand on juries of the big shows of the country. He also has a keen sense of humor. When Mrs. Smith told him she would like the show to last six weeks in order that people might be able ot come from long distances, he wrote that while the date was quite all right with him, he guessed it would give them a chance to come from Korea.

Of portrait painting in which he has won his greatest fame, Speicher believes: "Portrait painting has always been, and still is, a noble art. It will endure as long as distinguished artists continue to interest themselves in painting human beings. It will stay alive and be a great source of enjoyment and a vital contribution to our social and historic structure."

Country Club Plans Steak Roast Saturday

Woodstock, July 17—A welcome party for new members, an outdoor steak roast will be held by members of the Country Club Saturday night. Fred Allen and his orchestra will play for the occasion.

On Saturday, July 19, a second-round match will be played on the course.

Sunday, July 20, semi-finals will be played in the morning and in the afternoon the finals will take place.

A ladies day tournament will be held July 29, with 18 prizes to be awarded.

The new extension on the porch and kitchen of the clubhouse are now in the process of construction.

Lithographic Presses Available to Artists

Woodstock, July 17 — The Graphic Workshop, located beneath the Art Gallery, under the direction of Margaret Lowengrund, will hold an opening party, Saturday afternoon from 4:30 to 6:30 p. m. Miss Lowengrund is also the director of The Contemporaries workshop and gallery in New York.

For the past few weeks Margaret Lowengrund, assisted Rodney Lethbridge and Karl Fortess, has been engaged in setting up a well-appointed workshop with two lithographic presses, stones and all equipment which is now at the disposal of members of the Woodstock Artists Association, either student or professional.

During the past week while the village green sweltered in 90 degree heat, the new graphic workshop was undoubtedly the coolest, yet one of the busiest places in town. At the large lithograph press, which Miss Lowengrund manipulated with easy and deft assurance, pulling the last print for the day from a stone, she demonstrated one of the most important steps in the making of a lithograph.

"I encourage the students to learn to print themselves," she explained, "for better understanding of the whole proceedure. A professional printer is, of course, ideal, but it's immensely helpful to know how to do it yourself."

When it was observed that there was extraordinary variety in the prints, some from her New York gallery, and some by noted Woodstock artists, Miss Lowengrund nodded enthusiastically.

"Lithography is so flexible and there are so many things you can do with it. After an artist brings in his work, I can help him translate it into terms of graphics."

Once the stone has been prepared—grained either rough or smooth according to the artist's requirements, and treated, it is ready for the drawing in lithograph crayon. Since unbelievably beautiful washes may also be combined with the line drawings, an infinite number of combinations may be found, either in black and white or in color.

"There are no limitations these days," Miss Lowengrund said, "with this medium."

In her present collection she will show not only the convention sizes, from the exquisitely drawn and colored small fish by an artist from the University of Indiana, to large brilliant abstractions, but several panels with designs eight feet long. Technically interesting, these panels are proving enormously popular with New York decorators who are incorporating them into unusual decors.

Questioned as to the care the artist must exert while working on stone, Miss Lowengrund laughed. "The old-fashioned, precious attitude about lithography is rapidly being dispelled. Once it was kept by a few as a mysterious process; but today it's giving the artists a wonderful sense of freedom in their work."

Historical Society Will Meet Saturday

Woodstock, July 17—The Historical Society of Woodstock will hold its second meeting Saturday, July 19, at the George Washington School in Kingston, to view a collection of early American paintings on exhibition there as part of Kingston's 300th Anniversary celebration.

Cars will leave the Woodstock village green at 2:30 p. m. Those volunteering space in their cars or those wishing space are requested to call Mrs. Margaret R. Kenyon, at 2434.

Maine has the largest forest area of any state in the east, with 16,750,000 acres in timberland.

Jones Dairy Wins 1 to 0 in 10th to Nail Down First Half Title

Fisher Bests Finn In League Thriller

Earlier in the season you wouldn't give a plugged nickel for the chances of Jones Dairy to finish on top of the heap in the first half of play in the City Baseball League.

But after last night's thriller at the Athletic Field fans plainly saw just why you can't give up on the veteran City League club. The Dairymen had to go 10 innings, one of the longest league games, but they still managed to come out on top with a 1 to 0 squeaker victory over Wiltwyck Motors and the first half championship as well.

With the veteran City League moundsman Tommy Fisher and Bud Finn locked in a scoreless pitching duel, the Dairymen finally pushed over the payoff run in the top half of the 10th.

Bob Graves opened the big inning with a scratch single to deep short and was moved to second by Fisher's sacrifice. After Finn uncorked a wild pitch, Graves scampered to third and scored when Jack "Daisy" Schatzel pulled off a squeeze play.

Spectacular Plays

With a good crowd looking on for a change, both clubs played as though they were in a World Series setting. Many spectacular fielding plays marked the contest.

Fisher Whiffs 11

Fisher, the Dairymen's mealticket, was up to the big cause last night. Always a tough performer when the chips are down, Fisher threw a four-hit shutout and fanned 11 batters. It was Fisher's third victory of the campaign.

Finn, who was charged with his second setback, pitched acceptable ball. While giving up only five hits to the winners, he fanned five and didn't issue a pass.

The Dairymen punched out four of the five hits in the first five frames, one coming in the first, second, third and fifth stanzas. After that, Finn hurled hitless ball until Graves' all-important infield bingle in the 10th.

Three of the Motormen's four safeties were collected off the slants of Fisher in the first four frames. Then the veteran twirler proceeded to hurl hitless ball for three frames until Murphy's hit in the eighth. After that break, Fisher set down the losers without a hit during the last two frames.

Graves Gets Pair

Graves, who stroked the big hit in the 10th which was turned into a run, picked up two of the five hits off Finn. "Daisy" Schatzel provided the only extra-base clout, a double in the third frame but was left stranded when R. Mauro fanned. Tommy Carlino and Bob Jones each picked up a single.

Fisher scattered his four hits among Minadeo, Finn, Passante and Murphy.

Steeger's Quips: It was strictly a championship game of championship calibre. . . . Many of the veteran City League fans who made up the good-sized crowd were of the opinion that it was a lot better than some major league frays this year. . . . The play of the game was Trapani's stop of Fisher's wicked liner labeled for extra bases in the fifth. With a man on base at the time, the drive could have meant the decision for Wiltwycks. . . . Eddie Passante, the Motormen's keystone operator, ended the game with a long clout of about 375 feet to deep left which Charlie Neff grabbed. . . . Mauro also stroked two long blasts to the left field sector which would have gone for homers if the snow fence had been installed. As it turned out, they went for long outs. . . . As far as is known, this was the longest game in City League history and also one of the best if not the best. . . . You can be sure league fans will be talking about this game for a long time and it may prove a vital point in the league's favor—a stimulant for better crowds at the second half games. . . . The first half winds up Sunday at 6 p. m. when Chez Emile meets the Colonial Merchants. The second half gets underway Tuesday night. . . . Talk is around that the league will start playing on Thursday nights. . . .

In the— ROUGH

— By — CHARLES J. TIANO Sports Editor

With more than 2,000 shots fired in three previous Freeman hole-in-one tournaments, the 2-foot, ½-inch effort by James A. Dwyer in the 1949 inaugural at Twaalfskill still stands as the all-time record. The odds against a hole-in-one are roughly better than 13,000 to 1 against the golfer. These odds are based on competitions in which the duffer is actually trying to hole out. Under ordinary conditions they must naturally run higher.

• Pitch and Putt:

The tremendous success of the Father Herdegen Memorial tournament points up the value of a fitting testimonial to a man who leaves his imprint on the game of golf. As we look around we think that Wiltwyck and Twaalfskill clubs both have an opportunity to honor distinguished members who have passed into the great beyond. It would be a popular move, we think, to dedicate the championship flight trophy at Twaalfskill to the memory of the late Roy E. Sutliff and the Wiltwyck trophy to their late, popular treasurer, Dwight McEntee, Sr. Both were identified by brilliant service to their respective clubs. Some of the present day Twaalfskill members may not remember Sutliff as well as the old timers but his contributions to the advancement and enlightenment of Twaalfskill golf are in the record book to stay. Perhaps Dr. Fred Holcomb Jr. and his tournament committee at Wiltwyck and Floyd W. Flint and Lou Smith at Twaalfskill might find these proposals worthy of consideration.

• The Nineteenth Hole:

Things we'd like to see: a women's city or county open championship and a handicap tournament for the B and C distaff divot diggers. And an Ulster county Seniors tournament over the 18-hole distance for all golfers 50 years or older. Such a tournament would create great interest and a dignified medium of expression for established golf oldies who have been gradually engulfed by the youth movement in the club and county championship tournaments. The current and persistent trend toward flashy wardrobes for golfers makes it a nicer game. Gone are the days when it was SOP to play golf in sweaty, dirty old undershirts and underwear and grimy slacks and pants. Today's golfer dresses brightly and cheerfully and makes a beautiful picture when blended against the natural setting of a golf course. Bright, colorful slacks, caps, shirts and gloves make thousands of duffers look like amateur Jimmy Demarets. You don't have to be the best golfer in your club, but it's not hard to be well dressed.

Bill Stifler, the precise New England shotmaker, who comes pretty close to being Woodstock's best all-arcund golfer, claims his home layout is seven-tenths of a stroke "tcugher" than Twaalfskill. This refutes the popular belief that Woodstock is the easiest course in the Herdegen tournament. We did some checking of our own and the results didn't jibe with Bill's claim. For instance the addition of the total strokes used up by the first 17 golfers revealed 1300 swings at Woodstock and 1313 at Twaalfskill. If you accept those figures as conclusive, Twaalfskill is 13/17 of a stroke tougher, but still it will be interesting to see how Stifler arrived at his conclusion. For all four courses the strokage for players who completed their rounds were: Woodstock, 3497 for an 81-plus average; Palenville, 3918 for 45 players, 87 average; Wiltwyck, 37 players, 85-plus average; Twaalfskill, 40 players, 79 average. Fred Allen's current miseries with his new "iron theory" has plunged Woodstock Country Club into deep gloom, but everybody figures Fred will be snapping like a mountain cat by the time the club championship rolls around.

One of Twaalfskill's famous foursomes was on a new course playing a hole alongside which ran a wooded ravine. Three of the players were caught and Jack McCabe and Judge Cashin decided to forfeit the hole rather than run up too many strokes. Jim Dwyer was the lucky guy, but Dr. Larkin disappeared into the ravine to take his chances.

Eagerly awaiting the results, the others finally heard the ball come out of the woods and bounce up onto the green.

"How many strokes?" asked McCabe.

"Three." "But we heard six," insisted the judge.

"That's odd," came Dr. Larkin's reply. "Three of them must have been echoes . . . ."

State Golf Underway

Rochester, N. Y., July 17 (AP)—One hundred and forty-one golfers teed off today for the annual New York State Senior Golf Tournament, run as a medal play event for the first time in its history. John McGinnis of New York city who won the title last year at White Plains, was not on hand to defend. Oak Hill's 6,538-yard, par 71 course, scene of the 1949 National Amateur, was in perfect shape for the event.

Fails in Debut

Westbury, N. Y., July 17 (AP)—Cancanniere, French trotting champion, failed in her American debut last night when she broke stride in the home stretch of the mile and one-half tricolor trot at Roosevelt Raceway and finished seventh. The race was won by Miss Song in 3:18 with Allen Spencer two lengths back in second place and Prince Counting third. Miss Song paid $13.30, $5.60 and $3.80.

Yankee Stadium Still Haunts Pennant Hopes for Cleveland

Double Loss Drops Tribe 4½ Behind

By RALPH RODEN
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

The Yankee Stadium, graveyard of Cleveland pennant drives in the past, is haunting the Indians again.

Cleveland startled the baseball world by winning its first three games in the home of the New York Yankees this year. This almost matched their victory total for the previous two seasons during which they managed to win only five of 17 games in the house that Ruth built.

But Cleveland's dreams of a happy hunting ground in the stadium were rudely shattered yesterday. The Indians missed an opportunity to virtually tie the Yanks for first place by dropping both ends of a double-header, 8-7 in 10 innings and 7-4. They now are 4½ games behind.

The Yanks came from behind to win the opener. Yogi Berra tied the score at 7-7 in the eighth inning with a two-run homer, his 20th of the season, and Hank Bauer broke it up by singling home rookie Kal Segrist in the tenth.

Cleveland hopped on Johnny Sain for five runs in the third inning, two on a homer by pitcher Bob Lemon. Lemon was forced to retire after six innings because of the heat. Mickey Harris, Lou Brissie and Mike Garcia failed to protect his 6-4 lead.

The Yanks won the nightcap with a four-run rally in the seventh against Bob Feller. Gil McDougald's three-run homer was the big blow of the rally.

Red Sox Move Up

Tom Gorman, recalled along with Segrist from Kansas City the other day, was the winning pitcher. Gorman took over in the top of the seventh and doused a rally that netted Cleveland two runs. He bowed out for a pinch-hitter in the eighth and Allie Reynolds sealed it up.

The defeats also endangered Cleveland's grip on second place as the third place Boston Red Sox defeated the Chicago White Sox, 7-3, to move to within a half game of the Tribe.

Lefty Mel Parnell scattered nine Chicago hits as he coasted to his seventh victory. The Red Sox hopped on Joe Dobson for six runs in three innings. Hoot Evers homered with one on in the second and Boston locked it up with four more in the third.

Southpaw Bill Wight pitched the Detroit Tigers to a 9-0 victory over Washington. White held the Senators to four hits while his mates collected 14. Walt Dropo collected two hits in four trips giving him a record of 15 hits in his last 18 trips. A twi-night doubleheader between Philadelphia and St. Louis was rained out.

Brooklyn maintained its five game lead in the National League, downing Cincinnati, 5-3, while the runner-up New York Giants eked out an 8-7 victory over the St. Louis Cardinals in 10 innings. In other games, Philadelphia edged Pittsburgh, 8-7, and Chicago tripped Boston, 3-2, in 13 innings.

Seminick's Errors Make Record

Three first-inning errors by Red catcher Andy Seminick helped the Dodgers score two runs and the Brooks remained in the van for keeps. Seminick's miscues set a league record for most errors in one inning by a catcher. Ben Wade, with help in the ninth from Joe Black, gained credit for the Dodgers' 12th victory in 13 games over Cincinnati.

The Giants almost blew the decision to the Cards. The Red Birds jumped on relief pitcher Hoyt Wilhelm for five runs in the ninth inning to send the game into overtime. Al Dark doubled home Dave Williams with the winning run in the tenth, getting Stan Musial to hit into a game-ending doubleplay.

Connie Ryan pounded out four hits, including a homer, to lead the Phils to victory. Player-manager Phil Cavarretta singled home Tommy Brown from second base to beat the Braves.

Bruning-Torgerson Due To Meet in Women's Golf

Binghamton, July 17 (AP)—The odds today were on defending champion Barbara Bruning and Mrs. Ruth Torgerson, a five-time winner, to stroke their way to the finals of the New York State Women's Amateur golf tourney.

In her second-round match yesterday at the Binghamton Country Club, Miss Bruning, a distance hitter from Armonk, eliminated Miss Jean Davis of Cortland, 2 and 1. Flashing the form that won her the national intercollegiate title last year, Miss Bruning broke a tie with a par on the 16th and ended the match by cupping a 15-foot putt for a birdie on the 408-yard 17th.

Mrs. Torgerson, the medalist from Garden City whose bid last year for a sixth successive title was spoiled by Miss Bruning, easiily eliminated Miss Naomi Venabel of Poughkeepsie, 7 and 6. Her 39 on the first nine was low for the day.

Chicago — Chuck Davey, 147, Detroit, outpointed Carmen Basilio, 145½, Canastota, N. Y., 10.

Fresno, Calif.—Al Arenas, 136, Los Angeles, outpointed Casanova Pacheco, 137½, Mexico City, 10.

Legion to Hold Workout Tonight

Members of the Old Capital Motors, the American Legion Junior baseball team, will hold an important workout tonight at the Athletic Field. All players are requested to be present.

This year's team is being coached by Tommy Maines, Ed Bahl and Andy Murphy 3rd.

The local squad will represent Kingston in the Third District Tournament at Saratoga next weekend.

With more than 2,000 shots fired in three previous Freeman hole-in-one tournaments, the 2-foot, 1/2-inch effort by James A. Dwyer in the 1949 inaugural at Twaalfskill still stands as the all-time record. The odds against a hole-in-one are roughly better than 13,000 to 1 against the golfer. These odds are based on competitions in which the duffer is actually trying to hole out. Under ordinary conditions they must naturally run higher.

• Pitch and Putt:

The tremendous success of the Father Herdegen Memorial tournament points up the value of a fitting testimonial to a man who leaves his imprint on the game of golf. As we look around we think that Wiltwyck and Twaalfskill clubs both have an opportunity to honor distinguished members who have passed into the great beyond. It would be a popular move, we think, to dedicate the championship flight trophy at Twaalfskill to the memory of the late Roy E. Sutliff and the Wiltwyck trophy to their late, popular treasurer, Dwight McEntee, Sr. Both were identified by brilliant service to their respective clubs. Some of the present day Twaalfskill members may not remember Sutliff as well as the old timers but his contributions to the advancement and enlightenment of Twaalfskill golf are in the record book to stay. Perhaps Dr. Fred Holcomb Jr. and his tournament committee at Wiltwyck and Floyd W. Flint and Lou Smith at Twaalfskill might find these proposals worthy of consideration.

• The Nineteenth Hole:

Things we'd like to see: a women's city or county open championship and a handicap tournament for the B and C distaff divot diggers. And an Ulster county Seniors tournament over the 18-hole distance for all golfers 50 years or older. Such a tournament would create great interest and a dignified medium of expression for established golf oldies who have been gradually engulfed by the youth movement in the club and county championship tournaments. The current and persistent trend toward flashy wardrobes for golfers makes it a nicer game. Gone are the days when it was SOP to play golf in sweaty, dirty old undershirts and underwear and grimy slacks and pants. Today's golfer dresses brightly and cheerfully and makes a beautiful picture when blended against the natural setting of a golf course. Bright, colorful slacks, caps, shirts and gloves make thousands of duffers look like amateur Jimmy Demarets. You don't have to be the best golfer in your club, but it's not hard to be well dressed.

Bill Stifler, the precise New England shotmaker, who comes pretty close to being Woodstock's best all-arcund golfer, claims his home layout is seven-tenths of a stroke "tougher" than Twaalfskill. This refutes the popular belief that Woodstock is the easiest course in the Herdegen tournament. We did some checking of our own and the results didn't jibe with Bill's claim. For instance the addition of the total strokes used up by the first 17 golfers revealed 1300 swings at Woodstock and 1313 at Twaalfskill. If you accept those figures as conclusive, Twaalfskill is 13/17 of a stroke tougher, but still it will be interesting to see how Stifler arrived at his conclusion. For all four courses the strokage for players who completed their rounds were: Woodstock, 3497 for an 81-plus average; Palenville, 3918 for 45 players, 87 average; Wiltwyck, 37 players, 85-plus average; Twaalfskill, 40 players, 79 average. Fred Allen's current miseries with his new "iron theory" has plunged Woodstock Country Club into deep gloom, but everybody figures Fred will be snapping like a mountain cat by the time the club championship rolls around.

One of Twaalfskill's famous foursomes was on a new course playing a hole alongside which ran a wooded ravine. Three of the players were caught and Jack McCabe and Judge Cashin decided to forfeit the hole rather than run up too many strokes. Jim Dwyer was the lucky guy, but Dr. Larkin disappeared into the ravine to take his chances.

Eagerly awaiting the results, the others finally heard the ball come out of the woods and bounce up onto the green.

"How many strokes?" asked McCabe.

"Three." "But we heard six," insisted the judge.

State Golf Underway

Rochester, N. Y., July 17 (AP)—One hundred and forty-one golfers teed off today for the annual New York State Senior Golf Tournament, run as a medal play event for the first time in its history. John McGinnis of New York city who won the title last year at White Plains, was not on hand to defend. Oak Hill's 6,538-yard, par 71 course, scene of the 1949 National Amateur, was in perfect shape for the event.

Fails in Debut

Westbury, N. Y., July 17 (AP)—Cancanniere, French trotting champion, failed in her American debut last night when she broke stride in the home stretch of the mile and one-half tricolor trot at Roosevelt Raceway and finished seventh. The race was won by Miss Song in 3:18 with Allen Spencer two lengths back in second place and Prince Counting third. Miss Song paid $13.30, $5.60 and $3.80.

Yankee Stadium Still Haunts Pennant Hopes for Cleveland

By RALPH RODEN
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

The Yankee Stadium, graveyard of Cleveland pennant drives in the past, is haunting the Indians again.

Cleveland startled the baseball world by winning its first three games in the home of the New York Yankees this year. This almost matched their victory total for the previous two seasons during which they managed to win only five of 17 games in the house that Ruth built.

But Cleveland's dreams of a happy hunting ground in the stadium were rudely shattered yesterday. The Indians missed an opportunity to virtually tie the Yanks for first place by dropping both ends of a double-header, 8-7 in 10 innings and 7-4. They now are 4½ games behind.

The Yanks came from behind to win the opener. Yogi Berra tied the score at 7-7 in the eighth inning with a two-run homer, his 20th of the season, and Hank Bauer broke it up by singling home rookie Kal Segrist in the tenth.

Cleveland hopped on Johnny Sain for five runs in the third inning, two on a homer by pitcher Bob Lemon. Lemon was forced to retire after six innings because of the heat. Mickey Harris, Lou Brissie and Mike Garcia failed to protect his 6-4 lead.

The Yanks won the nightcap with a four-run rally in the seventh against Bob Feller. Gil McDougald's three-run homer was the big blow of the rally.

Red Sox Move Up

Tom Gorman, recalled along with Segrist from Kansas City the other day, was the winning pitcher. Gorman took over in the top of the seventh and doused a rally that netted Cleveland two runs. He bowed out for a pinch-hitter in the eighth and Allie Reynolds sealed it up.

The defeats also endangered Cleveland's grip on second place as the third place Boston Red Sox defeated the Chicago White Sox, 7-3, to move to within a half game of the Tribe.

Lefty Mel Parnell scattered nine Chicago hits as he coasted to his seventh victory. The Red Sox hopped on Joe Dobson for six runs in three innings. Hoot Evers homered with one on in the second and Boston locked it up with four more in the third.

Southpaw Bill Wight pitched the Detroit Tigers to a 9-0 victory over Washington. White held the Senators to four hits while his mates collected 14. Walt Dropo collected two hits in four trips giving him a record of 15 hits in his last 18 trips. A twi-night doubleheader between Philadelphia and St. Louis was rained out.

Brooklyn maintained its five game lead in the National League, downing Cincinnati, 5-3, while the runner-up New York Giants eked out an 8-7 victory over the St. Louis Cardinals in 10 innings. In other games, Philadelphia edged Pittsburgh, 8-7, and Chicago tripped Boston, 3-2, in 13 innings.

Seminick's Errors Make Record

Three first-inning errors by Red catcher Andy Seminick helped the Dodgers score two runs and the Brooks remained in the van for keeps. Seminick's miscues set a league record for most errors in one inning by a catcher. Ben Wade, with help in the ninth from Joe Black, gained credit for the Dodgers' 12th victory in 13 games over Cincinnati.

The Giants almost blew the decision to the Cards. The Red Birds jumped on relief pitcher Hoyt Wilhelm for five runs in the ninth inning to send the game into overtime. Al Dark doubled home Dave Williams with the winning run in the tenth, getting Stan Musial to hit into a game-ending doubleplay.

Connie Ryan pounded out four hits, including a homer, to lead the Phils to victory. Player-manager Phil Cavarretta singled home Tommy Brown from second base to beat the Braves.

Bruning-Torgerson Due To Meet in Women's Golf

Binghamton, July 17 (AP)—The odds today were on defending champion Barbara Bruning and Mrs. Ruth Torgerson, a five-time winner, to stroke their way to the finals of the New York State Women's Amateur golf tourney.

Only Mrs. Virginia Allen of Syracuse, the 1941 state champion, was rated a chance to thwart a Bruning-Torgerson showdown in Saturday's 36-hole final.

In her second-round match yesterday at the Binghamton Country Club, Miss Bruning, a distance hitter from Armonk, eliminated Miss Jean Davis of Cortland, 2 and 1. Flashing the form that won her the national intercollegiate title last year, Miss Bruning broke a tie with a par on the 16th and ended the match by cupping a 15-foot putt for a birdie on the 408-yard 17th.

Mrs. Torgerson, the medalist from Garden City whose bid last year for a sixth successive title was spoiled by Miss Bruning, easiily eliminated Miss Naomi Venabel of Poughkeepsie, 7 and 6. Her 39 on the first nine was low for the day.

Chicago — Chuck Davey, 147, Detroit, outpointed Carmen Basilio, 145½, Canastota, N. Y., 10.

Fresno, Calif.—Al Arenas, 136, Los Angeles, outpointed Casanova Pacheco, 137½, Mexico City, 10.

Olympic Program Shakeup Is Forecast Following Election of Avery Brundage

New Head Advocate Of Amateur Sports

Helsinki, July 17 (AP) — A thorough shakeup in the entire Olympic program was forecast today to make sure that everybody taking part is a simon-pure amateur.

The move would be a logical step in view of the elevation yesterday of Avery Brundage of Chicago to the presidency of the International Olympic Committee.

The IOC runs the Olympic program. This has grown from a handful of sports and athletes at Athens in 1896 to the present octopus of 20 sports and 8,000 competitors for the Helsinki games which open Saturday.

Brundage is the world's leading advocate of amateur sports. He has fought the inroads of professionalism at every occasion without regard to his personal popularity.

Both in his position as presideht of the United States Olympic Committee and as a member of the IOC Executive Commission he has opposed any suggestion to liberalize the interpretation of an amateur.

Brundage, a wealthy hotel executive, has devoted his life to promoting amateur athletics. He served four terms as president of the Amateur Athletic Union in the United States and has headed the U. S. Olympic Committee since 1929.

Starts September 1

A tough disciplinarian, Brundage will take over his new, unpaid job on September 1. For the present Olympic games the executive will be the aging J. Sigfrid Edstrom of Sweden, who has headed the organization since the war years.

Although the ruling body made the news yesterday, competition also continued on the athletic fields in field hockey and soccer.

The United States was bounced out of the soccer qualifying competition in a one-sided battle with Italy. The Italians whipped the U. S., 9-0, in the first round at London four years ago. Last night the Americans improved by one goal. They were beaten 8-0.

Two Surprise Defeats

Two surprises were the defeats of Great Britain, home of soccer, and Chile. The British lost, 5-3, to Luxembourg, in overtime and Chile was edged by Egypt, 5-4. Brazil defeated Holland, 5-1.

These matches ended the qualifying rounds. The draw for the regular Olympic tournament will be made today. The teams will be Finland, Norway, Luxembourg, Italy, Brazil, Egypt, Russia, Yugoslavia, Denmark, Poland, Hungary, Sweden, Germany, Turkey, Austria, and the Dutch East Indies.

In field hockey last night Germany defeated Poland, 7-2, and France beat Italy, 5-0. This competition is part of the acutal Olympics — not a qualifying deal as in soccer and basketball.

Field hockey continues with India against Austria and Great Britain against Belgium.

Tennis

Indianapolis — Don Candy of Australia was upset by Grant Golden of Chicago, 6-2, 6-2, in third round of the western tournament.

Racing

New York—Tea-Maker ($18.90) won Fleetwing handicap at Jamaica.

Four Hole-in-One Experts Enter Freeman Tournament at Wiltwyck on August 3rd

Mid-Summer Dance Set at Wiltwyck

The annual mid-summer dance will be held at Wiltwyck Golf Club Saturday, July 19. According to Artie Organtini and Ike Trowbridge, chairmen of the "Organbridge" entertainment committee, the dance begins at the usual time and ends at the usual time. All golfers and friends are invited.

Raichle, Hughes, Terry, Flanagan File Entries

Four qualified hole-in-ace experts, including county amateur champion, Clarence "Dubby" Raichle are among the early entries for the Freeman's 4th annual hole-in-one tournament Sunday, August 3, at Wiltwyck Golf Club.

Entries for the popular feature close Thursday, July 31, and the tournament is open to all bona fide residents of Ulster county.

Raichle, who recently scored a stunning triumph in the Father Herdegen Memorial tournament, scored his on the ninth hole at College Hill in Poughkeepsie.

Carl C. Terry, who is unattached, scored his ace at the Municipal Park course at Portsmouth, Va., in July, 1940. He has been a regular entry in the Freeman's annual competition.

Hughes Enters

George Hughes, 1951 county champion, has an ace to his credit on the second hole at Twaalfskill, as does Al Flanagan, the uptown clothier.

Two members of the undefeated high school varsity have not registered aces but are qualifying their entries with high hope for the future.

Harold Van Aken reports that he "almost" got a hole-in-one once and he is "still trying." Lynn Brooks writes, "I am still trying."

Davey Wins 34th But Takes Brutal Beating in Turn

Chicago, July 17 (AP) — Undefeated Chuck Davey's bid for a shot at Kid Gavilan's welterweight crown today was still intact but blood-smeared and due for a two-month shelving.

Davey took a brutal beating about both eyes last night despite an unanimous 10-round "revenge" decision over rugged Carmen Basilio, a real tough guy from Canastota, N. Y., at the Chicago Stadium.

The two had fought a disputed draw at Syracuse, N. Y., May 29, Davey at first ruled the loser.

This time, the 26-year-old Davey, who holds a master's degree in education from Michigan State, gave a boxing lesson most of the way to Basilio, a lad with a high school education.

But when it was over, the former NCAA champion, looked as if he had been caught in a dark alley by an accurate bat-wielder.

Davey admitted he started too fast, attempting for a knockout. "I ran out of gas in the middle of the fight, that's all," said Davey, who scored his 34th victory in 36 professional bouts without defeat.

It may not have shown on the video screens in the national televising of the bout, but Davey was a gory mess at the finish when Referee Frank Gilmer voted 54-46 and the two judges 55-45 in his favor.

Duke Is One Up

Saratoga Springs, N. Y., July 17 (AP)—The Duke of Lullwater was one up today on Hit Song, his chief rival for top ranking in the $90,000 Hambletonian stake. The Duke scored an eight-length victory last night in the $10,000 Runnymede for 3-year-old trotters, feature of a grand circuit program at Saratoga Raceway. Hit Song finished fifth after breaking stride at the eighth pole. Shaking a field crowded with Hambletonian hopefuls, the brown son of Volomite came home in 2:03 1/5, a fifth of a second off the world's half-mile record for 3-year-olds. Titan Hanover set the mark here in 1945.

Olive League Opens Schedule on July 20

West Shokan Plays At West Hurley

The Olive Memorial Baseball League swings into action Sunday, July 20, when the champion West Hurley Warriors entertain the West Shokan Wildcats at West Hurley.

The other two clubs in the league—the Samsonville Tigers and the High Point Campers—collide Tuesday night at High Point to complete the opening game festivities.

Sunday's opening game promises to be a thriller, league officials presage today. The Wildcats lost last year's crown in a playoff game to West Hurley and Sunday's game affords the West Shokan nine its first revenge since the finish of the 1951 campaign.

Samsonville, which wound up in third place last year, has been playing at a fast clip in pre-season contests this summer and points to a better record this year. Reports from the High Point camp indicate the Campers have another well-drilled aggregation strong enough to give all of the league clubs a tough schedule.

Bill Frankle, Olive Memorial's League president, said today that he has been impressed with reports reaching him concerning the pre-season workouts and games of all the league franchises.

Frankle and Ernie Gardner, the Post's commander, also have affirmed that the Olive Memorial Legion will go all out to sponsor healthful recreation for the youth of the town of Olive.

Frankle pointed out that in addition to the baseball league, the Post sponsors three Boy Scout troops, stages a spring festival for the children, sponsors essay and other patriotic contests for school children and sends a representative to Boy's State every year.

The rest of the league schedule for July follows:

Sunday, July 27—West Hurley at Samsonville.

Tuesday, July 29—High Point at West Shokan.

New Head Advocate Of Amateur Sports

Helsinki, July 17 (AP) — A thorough shakeup in the entire Olympic program was forecast today to make sure that everybody taking part is a simon-pure amateur.

The move would be a logical step in view of the elevation yesterday of Avery Brundage of Chicago to the presidency of the International Olympic Committee.

The IOC runs the Olympic program. This has grown from a handful of sports and athletes at Athens in 1896 to the present octopus of 20 sports and 8,000 competitors for the Helsinki games which open Saturday.

Brundage is the world's leading advocate of amateur sports. He has fought the inroads of professionalism at every occasion without regard to his personal popularity.

Both in his position as president of the United States Olympic Committee and as a member of the IOC Executive Commission he has opposed any suggestion to liberalize the interpretation of an amateur.

Brundage, a wealthy hotel executive, has devoted his life to promoting amateur athletics. He served four terms as president of the Amateur Athletic Union in the United States and has headed the U. S. Olympic Committee since 1929.

Starts September 1

A tough disciplinarian, Brundage will take over his new, unpaid job on September 1. For the present Olympic games the executive will be the aging J. Sigfrid Edstrom of Sweden, who has headed the organization since the war years.

Although the ruling body made the news yesterday, competition also continued on the athletic fields in field hockey and soccer.

The United States was bounced out of the soccer qualifying competition in a one-sided battle with Italy. The Italians whipped the U. S., 9-0, in the first round at London four years ago. Last night the Americans improved by one goal. They were beaten 8-0.

Two Surprise Defeats

Two surprises were the defeats of Great Britain, home of soccer, and Chile. The British lost, 5-3, to Luxembourg, in overtime and Chile was edged by Egypt, 5-4. Brazil defeated Holland, 5-1.

These matches ended the qualifying rounds. The draw for the regular Olympic tournament will be made today. The teams will be Finland, Norway, Luxembourg, Italy, Brazil, Egypt, Russia, Yugoslavia, Denmark, Poland, Hungary, Sweden, Germany, Turkey, Austria, and the Dutch East Indies.

In field hockey last night Germany defeated Poland, 7-2, and France beat Italy, 5-0. This competition is part of the acutal Olympics — not a qualifying deal as in soccer and basketball.

Field hockey continues with India against Austria and Great Britain against Belgium.

Tennis

Indianapolis — Don Candy of Australia was upset by Grant Golden of Chicago, 6-2, 6-2, in third round of the western tournament.

Racing

New York—Tea-Maker ($18.90) won Fleetwing handicap at Jamaica.

Four Hole-in-One Experts Enter Freeman Tournament at Wiltwyck on August 3rd

Mid-Summer Dance Set at Wiltwyck

The annual mid-summer dance will be held at Wiltwyck Golf Club Saturday, July 19. According to Artie Organtini and Ike Trowbridge, chairmen of the "Organbridge" entertainment committee, the dance begins at the usual time and ends at the usual time. All golfers and friends are invited.

Raichle, Hughes, Terry, Flanagan File Entries

Four qualified hole-in-ace experts, including county amateur champion, Clarence "Dubby" Raichle are among the early entries for the Freeman's 4th annual hole-in-one tournament Sunday, August 3, at Wiltwyck Golf Club.

Entries for the popular feature close Thursday, July 31, and the tournament is open to all bona fide residents of Ulster county.

Raichle, who recently scored a stunning triumph in the Father Herdegen Memorial tournament, scored his on the ninth hole at College Hill in Poughkeepsie.

Carl C. Terry, who is unattached, scored his ace at the Municipal Park course at Portsmouth, Va., in July, 1940. He has been a regular entry in the Freeman's annual competition.

Hughes Enters

George Hughes, 1951 county champion, has an ace to his credit on the second hole at Twaalfskill, as does Al Flanagan, the uptown clothier.

Two members of the undefeated high school varsity have not registered aces but are qualifying their entries with high hope for the future.

Harold Van Aken reports that he "almost" got a hole-in-one once and he is "still trying." Lynn Brooks writes, "I am still trying."

Davey Wins 34th But Takes Brutal Beating in Turn

Chicago, July 17 (AP) — Undefeated Chuck Davey's bid for a shot at Kid Gavilan's welterweight crown today was still intact but blood-smeared and due for a two-month shelving.

Davey took a brutal beating about both eyes last night despite an unanimous 10-round "revenge" decision over rugged Carmen Basilio, a real tough guy from Canastota, N. Y., at the Chicago Stadium.

The two had fought a disputed draw at Syracuse, N. Y., May 29, Davey at first ruled the loser.

This time, the 26-year-old Davey, who holds a master's degree in education from Michigan State, gave a boxing lesson most of the way to Basilio, a lad with a high school education.

But when it was over, the former NCAA champion, looked as if he had been caught in a dark alley by an accurate bat-wielder.

Davey admitted he started too fast, attempting for a knockout. "I ran out of gas in the middle of the fight, that's all," said Davey, who scored his 34th victory in 36 professional bouts without defeat.

It may not have shown on the video screens in the national televising of the bout, but Davey was a gory mess at the finish when Referee Frank Gilmer voted 54-46 and the two judges 55-45 in his favor.

Duke Is One Up

Saratoga Springs, N. Y., July 17 (AP)—The Duke of Lullwater was one up today on Hit Song, his chief rival for top ranking in the $90,000 Hambletonian stake. The Duke scored an eight-length victory last night in the $10,000 Runnymede for 3-year-old trotters, feature of a grand circuit program at Saratoga Raceway. Hit Song finished fifth after breaking stride at the eighth pole. Shaking a field crowded with Hambletonian hopefuls, the brown son of Volomite came home in 2:03 1/5, a fifth of a second off the world's half-mile record for 3-year-olds. Titan Hanover set the mark here in 1945.

Olive League Opens Schedule on July 20

West Shokan Plays At West Hurley

The Olive Memorial Baseball League swings into action Sunday, July 20, when the champion West Hurley Warriors entertain the West Shokan Wildcats at West Hurley.

The other two clubs in the league—the Samsonville Tigers and the High Point Campers—collide Tuesday night at High Point to complete the opening game festivities.

Sunday's opening game promises to be a thriller, league officials presage today. The Wildcats lost last year's crown in a playoff game to West Hurley and Sunday's game affords the West Shokan nine its first revenge since the finish of the 1951 campaign.

Samsonville, which wound up in third place last year, has been playing at a fast clip in pre-season contests this summer and points to a better record this year. Reports from the High Point camp indicate the Campers have another well-drilled aggregation strong enough to give all of the league clubs a tough schedule.

Bill Frankle, Olive Memorial's League president, said today that he has been impressed with reports reaching him concerning the pre-season workouts and games of all the league franchises.

Frankle and Ernie Gardner, the Post's commander, also have affirmed that the Olive Memorial Legion will go all out to sponsor healthful recreation for the youth of the town of Olive.

Frankle pointed out that in addition to the baseball league, the Post sponsors three Boy Scout troops, stages a spring festival for the children, sponsors essay and other patriotic contests for school children and sends a representative to Boy's State every year.

The rest of the league schedule for July follows:

Sunday, July 27—West Hurley at Samsonville.

Covered-Wagon Travel

Centralia, Ill. (AP)—It took a Mattoon, Ill. couple back to pioneer days to travel 100 miles in a covered wagon. It also took them four days. Mr. and Mrs. Francis S. Reed had a hunch it would be tough. They hired a truck to take their home furnishings ahead to their new Mt. Carmel, Ill. home. They took the "hard way" because it seemed a good way to take their covered wagon relic and horse with them.

Scientists Shortage Seen

London (AP)—Britain is running short of scientists, the government's advisory council on scientific policy has announced. Warning that there will be more jobs than scientists during the next five years, the council said in a report: "We are already beginning to lose some of our good scientific men to American industry." The report called for increased scientific educational facilities in Britain, both for the needs of government and industry.

Cleopatra was the last queen of Egypt.

American Film Banned

Singapore (AP) — The American film "An Ace in the Hole," banned in the Federation of Malaya will be shown here. It will be known as "The Great Carnival." It was banned in the Federation because the official censor thought it portrayed a facet of American life "that might not be understood." The story deals with the case of a man who is trapped by a rockfall and the newspaper reporter who delays the man's rescue in order to get a hot story.

At Delaware Park's recently concluded 33-day meeting 111 different trainers shared in winning the 264 races.

Film Catalog Published

Washington (AP) — The Library of Congress has just issued "Motion Pictures, 1912-1939," a 1,256-page catalog that lists more than 50,000 motion pictures registered in the Copyright Office. The catalog brings together information that had been available previously only after prolonged research in Copyright Office files. The information given about each film includes, where possible, the title, date, producing company, sponsor, information about the published work on which the film was based, physical description, credits, claimant and date of copyright, and the film story author. There is also a 268-page index which lists the individuals and organizations associated with each motion picture. The catalog is the first publication in the cumulative series of the Catalog of Cumulative Entries.

Covered-Wagon Travel

Centralia, Ill. (AP)—It took a Mattoon, Ill. couple back to pioneer days to travel 100 miles in a covered wagon. It also took them four days. Mr. and Mrs. Francis S. Reed had a hunch it would be tough. They hired a truck to take their home furnishings ahead to their new Mt. Carmel, Ill. home. They took the "hard way" because it seemed a good way to take their covered wagon relic and horse with them.

Scientists Shortage Seen

London (AP)—Britain is running short of scientists, the government's advisory council on scientific policy has announced. Warning that there will be more jobs than scientists during the next five years, the council said in a report: "We are already beginning to lose some of our good scientific men to American industry." The report called for increased scientific educational facilities in Britain, both for the needs of government and industry.

Cleopatra was the last queen of Egypt.

American Film Banned

Singapore (AP) — The American film "An Ace in the Hole," banned in the Federation of Malaya will be shown here. It will be known as "The Great Carnival." It was banned in the Federation because the official censor thought it portrayed a facet of American life "that might not be understood." The story deals with the case of a man who is trapped by a rockfall and the newspaper reporter who delays the man's rescue in order to get a hot story.

At Delaware Park's recently concluded 33-day meeting 111 different trainers shared in winning the 264 races.

The Weather

THURSDAY, JULY 17, 1952

Sun rises at 4:22 a. m.; sun sets at 7:19 p. m., EST.

Weather, clear.

The Temperature

The lowest temperature recorded on The Freeman thermometer during the night was 70 degrees. The highest figure recorded up to noon today was 82 degrees.

New York city and vicinity—Early morning thundershowers ending and becoming mostly fair and continued warm today, high near 90. Mostly fair tonight, low 70 to 73. Mostly fair and continued warm, becoming more humid again Friday, high Friday around 90.

Eastern New York — Partly cloudy today, highest temperature 80 to 85 degrees. Some cloudiness tonight, low 60 to 65 degrees. Friday some cloudiness and a little warmer.

The city engineer's weather records today showed a temperature of 83 degrees at 10 a. m., a barometric pressure of 30.24 inches, a humidity of 85 per cent and an east wind with a velocity of three miles an hour. The high temperature yesterday was 91 degrees at 3 p. m., and the low 75 at 11:30 p. m. The mean temperature was 83 and the normal is 76. The humidity was 97 at 5 a. m., and 75 at 4 p. m. The barometric pressure was 30.18 at 10 p. m., and 30.05 at 3 a. m. The velocity of a northeast wind was 10 miles an hour.

BPW Talks Over Improvements for New Housing Area

The Board of Public Works yesterday considered street, sewer and sidewalk work for the Hillcrest Gardens development in the Miller's Lane area, approved a new light for the center of the Broadway underpass as well as replacement of seven others, and favored three promotions in the engineering department.

A petition for sewer work, curbs, pavement and sidewalks for Hillcrest Gardens, a development that will accommodate 74 families, was referred to City Engineer Arthur F. Hallinan and Corporation Counsel James G. Connelly.

The development will be a virtual extension of Fairmont avenue. It will be completed on the same municipal development plan as nearby Browning Terrace, with the property owners paying 75 and the city 25 per cent of the cost.

Shaft Work Ended

The order for lighting the Broadway underpass by the Central Hudson Gas & Electric Corp., includes the replacement of seven 1,500 candle power lights that were formerly on that area of Broadway and the installation of another 1,500 candle power light in the center of the underpass between the two bridges.

City Engineer Hallinan said shaft work for the Washington avenue-Elizabeth street sewer project had been completed, that tunnel work was about to start and he expected that the project would be completed in October.

The project will make use of a large sewer tunnel, 90 feet below surface, which was dug many years ago for the city in exchange for local considerations during construction of New York city's Ashokan reservoir project.

Tunnel work will take about two months and a grit chamber will be built on Washington avenue before the project is completed, Hallinan said. The board approved a payment of $5,225.74 to James Barardi for work done on the project to date. They also approved a final payment of $4,496.92 for work on the Cornell and Grand street projects.

Promotions Recommended

The city engineer said he was recommending the promotion of three men in his department because of losses in personnel since January 1. It is important to hold the qualified men in the department, he said, and it has become necessary to reorganize the department and make reclassifications.

He proposed that Harry T. Sweeney and Louis M. Straley, who are now engineers, grade 1, be made engineers, grade 2, and that Donald C. Snyder, engineer's aide, grade 1, be advanced to engineer's aide, grade 2. The board approved, subject to civil service approval. Sweeney, Hallinan said, has not been reclassified since 1915.

Asks Flood Data

Mayor Oscar V. Newkirk said he had asked the city engineer to obtain data on the flooding of the Broadway underpass during heavy rains. It was thought advisable to do this, he said, since the low part of the underpass flooded twice since it has been opened for traffic.

The city engineer said a check made two years ago indicated that a 30-inch storm sewer was adequate to carry underpass drainage. The mayor said he suggested obtaining the data because the underpass will be a city problem after the contractor leaves.

The board referred for consideration by the city planning board an offer by the C. B. O'Reilly estate to deed to the city a road leading from the Andrew street and Mary's avenue area toward Montrepose cemetery. It was suggested that if this is to be developed as a street, it should be done in compliance with city charter provisions with the property owners paying 75 and the city 25 per cent of the cost.

Petition Is Read

A petition by residents of Madison avenue and Colfax Place for a seepage type drain basin there was referred to the city engineer and corporation counsel.

The board approved the temporary appointment of Douglas A. Buddenhagen, of 9 Jefferson place as an engineer's aide, grade 1.

A resolution by Alderman William Parmalee, 13th ward, asking for repair of Abeel and South Wall streets, and Wilbur avenue, was filed for consideration.

Commissioner Raymond L. Whitbeck of the light committee said that after investigation it was found that no lights were needed at the end of Pearl street and in front of the Coach House on Augusta street, as requested.

Award Is Announced

New York, July 17 (AP)—Advancing the completion of the East Bronx Municipal Hospital Center, Public Works Commissioner Frederick H. Zurmuhlen announced yesterday the award of contracts totaling $16,142,163 for construction of the general hospital unit at Pelham Parkway South and Wilson avenue, the Bronx. The tuberculosis hospital and auxiliary buildings occupying part of the 58-acre site of the center are nearing completion, the commissioner said.

Idaho's state capitol building, at Boise, has its own water supply from three artesian wells.
